BAND

It seems on this campus when any one organization begins to pull itself toward the top that it is up to the students to begin knocking it and making fun of it. It has been said that the bigger the obstacles in the path to success the more appreciated the success: but why can't the students of Elon campus lend their support and aid to a group is working for the good of Elon? Our band is an organization to be proud of and it is up to us to push them onward. They are beginning a drive now for uniforms and they cannot succeed unless the student body supports them. Think of the splendor of the sight of Elon College's band marching in formation, a veritable blanket of Maroon and Gold finally ending in the middle of the gridiron to send for the swelling strains of our Alma Mater.

There has been quite a bit said about "The Elon Spirit" both good and bad and now is the time to redeem the bad and enhance the good. We can't expect our band to continue without our support and it is easy to see that the "spirit" at a game is better, due to the presence of the band. So let every student support the band in its drive in every way possible.

THE CAMPUS

Have you ever paused for a few minutes and conscientiously gazed at the campus at Elon? If you haven't, do so!

Elon's campus is indeed a beautiful sight—whether it be in winter or summer. Elon can boast of having one of the most attractive campuses of any school its size.

To view it from the south side is indeed a treat. As passengers on the train see Elon for the first time, they must be struck by the beauty of a college set in the midst of stately oaks. The five administrative buildings are symmetrically arranged, and the situation of the dormitories in no way destroys the harmony of the picture.

To enhance the majesty of the oaks, from which Elon takes its name, there is an abundance of shrubbery and smaller trees. Mingled with the oaks and rearing their tall silhouettes against the red brick buildings are many murmuring pines.

On the west side the arbor when covered with roses inspires even the coldest heart with thoughts of romance. To complete the picture of an ideal campus, stands the imposing granite monument to O'Kelly.

Stop today and see your campus, not as a matter-of-fact place, but as a thing of beauty which nature is daily making lovelier.

Talking about "high-school stuff" what could be more juvenile than college students who are supposedly grown up, who deface the notices placed on the bulletin board in Alamance hall with their weak attempts at humor.

A notice was placed on the bulletin board Monday, asking that all students who were interested in joining a study groups to discuss questions centering around world peace, please sign their names. It was a serious notice, yet by noon time, ambitious students had listed ten names of characters from Adolph Hitler to Alfred III.

The bulletin board is the only way that students can be given daily notice of things that must be announced, and since it has a serious, definite purpose, students should not use it to demonstrate their wit. If you have to be funny, send examples of your humor home to mother. She may appreciate it because you are her darling.

*Students: This column is for you. Any comments you wish to make will be appreciated.

Dear Ed:

Since when did all the boys of Elon College become CHEAP? It has been stated by one of authority at this noble institution of learning that all boys with whom the fairer sex associates, are without a doubt "cheap."

We wonder what a boy must do in order to qualify as a gentleman of noble character? It seems according to the person of authority, that there are no gentlemen on this campus. Boys what is the trouble? Can we not impress upon this noble person's mind that we are gentlemen?

How are we to impress?

Boys get your powder, your lipstick, your rouge and above all don't forget your skirts and lets be gentlemen of the old school.

It has also been stated that the boys do not associate with the right type of women (girls). Suppose we go out and find more women with Aphradatical proportions, and list them along with our own Elon co-eds.

As A Knave Sees It

Ramblings: Everybody should read "The Way of All Flesh". I have a fifteen cent copy I'll gladly lend. "It is far safer to know too little than too much." The seasons have no effect on Tom and Peggy. I'm willing to help donate toward the license. "Buggs" has suddenly turned into a social outcast. These days make me think of Millay's "God World." Did you know that Grant was almost dismissed from the Federal Army for drinking? I recommend Hervey Allen's biography of Poe. It is very readable. I wonder if John Keats' refusal to visit Shelley and Byron in Italy was really because of their reputation. I gotta cease I'm starving.

LETTER TAG

Dear "Beaty" Wilkins:

Another fan letter for the Girls' Basketball team! I think you girls of the various teams should know just how we feel about it. We think it is a fine thing. It is the beginning of the much needed organization of sports for girls. You know the beginning is always difficult, yet you made a good start. Mrs. Cobb worked industriously and was quite successful in obtaining the Boy's Gym from Coach Walker (no easy task, you'll admit), the girls cooperated cheerfully with her and played well; and not only the girls but also the boys gave the teams a rousing good backing. We congratulate you on your successful season, and we are now anticipating a baseball league for the girls—Here's to you.
