

Elon Cagers To Face Panthers

Whistle Blows At 8 In High Point

Capacity Crowd Expected

What is generally considered a classic battle in North Carolina basketball circles will take place tonight at 8 o'clock in the gymnasium of High Point College, when our cannonading Christians invade the campus of the High Point Panthers. Both teams have faced each other once this season in a thrill-a-second game on our own court. A capacity crowd packed our gymnasium that night long before game time, and a similar situation is expected tonight. Elon and High Point are co-favorites to capture the North State Conference title, and a lot will depend upon the outcome of this game.

The Panthers have many reasons to exert themselves to the utmost to gain a victory in tonight's encounter, and likewise Elon has as many reasons not to let them gain their objective. First of all, High Point would like very much to avenge last year's defeats which kept them from winning the championship. Secondly, this season's setback is still fresh in their memory, and they would like nothing better than to make up for that. Thirdly the individual performances of some of our players have Panthers plenty worried. This is especially true of Lloyd Whitley, a native of High Point, who usually runs wild against his home townsmen. Last year, he practically won this game single handed. Captain Hal Bradley will be watched very closely too, for he is the hottest player in the Conference at present, and high scorer in the last meeting of the two clubs, despite the fact he was guarded by the brilliant Hampton, High Point's giant center. Ike Fesmire usually gets very emotionally aroused by the sight of Panthers too, and much will be expected from him. Jim Abbitt is in the groove at present, and is not only a floor man, but a scoring threat as well. Red Cromlish, who threw a scare into all of us a short while ago with an attack of appendicitis, will round out the starting line up. Dick's colorful playing and in-the-pinch ability will be enjoyed by all. Ben Lillen, John Henry Pierce, and several others are bound to see some action. One of the finest games of the year is expected, so leave early and be ready for something really worth seeing.

Dr. Brown To Speak At College Church

Dr. Robert Brown of Oberlin University, Oberlin, Ohio will be the guest speaker at the College Church tomorrow. His subject will be, "The Living Church". Dr. Brown is associated with the Department of Religion and Theology at Oberlin, and is also a member of the executive committee of the national council of the Christian-Congregational Church. He is to be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Smith from Thursday of this week through Sunday.

Mrs. Lucas In Fine Recital Last Week

Mrs. Cora Cox Lucas of Greensboro gave an excellent piano recital Monday evening, January 24, before an appreciative audience in Whitley Memorial Auditorium. Mrs. Lucas chose a very interesting program from the classic, romantic, and modern schools. Her remarks concerning the composers represented on the program added much to the enjoyment and appreciation of the recital. Her playing proved her artistic and technical mastery at the keyboard.

In the first group Mrs. Lucas played "The Nun" by Couperin, and "Gavotte" by Gluck-Brahms. In the second group she played the "Romance" in F sharp major by Schumann, the A-flat Impromptu by Schubert, and three Chopin numbers—two Preludes and A flat Waltz. Sibelius' "Romance" and the Albeniz "Tango" concluded the first half of the recital.

Professor Stuart Pratt began the second part of the program with two organ numbers, "Ich ruf zu dir" by Bach, and the Allegro Maestoso from Guillemant's Sonata in C minor.

As the concluding number Mrs. Lucas gave a brilliant performance of the Mendelssohn Concerto in G minor. Professor Pratt played the orchestral accompaniment to the concerto on the organ.

Pan-Hellenic Council Throws A Party

On Thursday, January 27, at eight o'clock, the Pan-Hellenic Council sponsored a party for the student body. This organization, composed of representatives from all the social clubs on the campus governs the activities of the clubs, and provides a means whereby all the groups may be in accord with each other.

The party Thursday evening was held in the Society Hall, third floor Alameda Building, decorated with the colors of the fraternities and sororities.

Members of the Pan-Hellenic Council are: Delta Upsilon Kappa, Margaret Galloway; Tau Zeta Phi, Beatrice Wilkins; Beta Omicron Beta, Nell Loy; Sigma Phi Beta, Joe Hilgreen; Kappa Psi Nu, LeGrand Moody; Iota Tau Kappa, J. Milton Cheshire; and Alpha Pi. Delta, Jordan Sloan.

Harper To Represent Elon At Vanderbilt

Dr. W. Alvin Harper, former president of Elon College, has been selected by Dr. L. E. Smith to represent Elon College at Nashville, Tennessee, during the inauguration of Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael as chancellor of Vanderbilt University. Dr. Smith was one of 400 representatives of American and foreign colleges and universities invited to attend the formal inauguration of Dr. Carmichael as chancellor of Vanderbilt University today.

Delegates to the inauguration will take part in a symposium on higher education in the South, in which sessions will be devoted to liberal arts, medicine, engineering, law, theology, nursing and graduate education. The symposium will cover two days preceding the inauguration date.

During sixty-two years of its existence Vanderbilt University has had only two chancellors. The inauguration of Dr. Carmichael as the third will stand as a milestone in higher education in the South. Dr. Carmichael was elected early in 1937 and took over the duties July 1 relieving Chancellor James H. Kirkland, dean of American university heads, who is now serving as chancellor emeritus.

Professor McAllister To Leave Elon Soon

Professor McAllister, newly acquired and much appreciated math teacher, will not teach here the next semester. His plans, although indefinite, are to resume work on his Ph. D. at Duke University. We sincerely regret his leaving, and hope he will return in the near future. Mrs. McAllister remains and will continue to teach her classes in Physical Education. Dr. Wicker, who has not been teaching on account of illness, replaces Professor McAllister.

Return of The Natives

Beaty Wilkins is back. Clarence Powell is back. A little subdued, and not a little weak in the knee, perhaps, but they're here at Elon again. Richard Cromlish continues his success on the basketball court, and Mary Nell Eaves has resumed her activities on the campus.

Who opened the window and let all this appendicitis in, eh? We object! But we're glad all the "invalids" are back at school; we trust there'll be no more of this appendectomy business, and ol' Elon can keep on going, no hits, no runs, no errors.

General Education Board Honors Elon

The General Education Board of New York City has made a grant-in-aid of money to be used to supplement extension work now being carried on in Alamance County by Elon College under the direction and guidance of Prof. Beecher of Elon's faculty. The Extension Department of Elon is working with Mr. Yount who is Superintendent of the public schools of Alamance County.

The College can feel justly proud of this recognition by General Education Board as this is the first time a grant of this kind has been made for this type of work in this section. The Extension Department of Elon is in its incipient stage at this time, having been started last fall, but it is readily seen that commendable progress has been made in that the work of this department has made possible this grant of money to further its work in the County.

Inasmuch as rural high school students come in direct contact with nature, it is the purpose of this grant that through the work of the Extension Department, new materials for the teaching of science may be arranged that will be better suited for the teaching of science in the rural high schools.

This grant from the General Education Board was secured through the splendid cooperation of The State Public School System of North Carolina, Mr. Yount, Superintendent of public schools in Alamance County, and Elon College represented by Prof. Beecher.

Campus Writers To Meet Next Wednesday

All those who are interested in writing for the next issue of the college literary magazine, ELON COLONNADES, and those who have manuscripts to submit for this issue, will meet in the Printing Room in the Science Building next Wednesday, February 9, at 2 p. m. Those who have never before submitted poems, stories, or essays are especially urged to attend.

Commercial Club Announces Plans For An Interesting Spring Semester

With Spring just around the corner, the Elon College Commercial Club, emerged from its winter cocoon to enthusiastically announce its plans for an interesting spring semester for the young business men and women of tomorrow.

With a group of capable officers at the helm, a successful year is assured. The Club, which will meet the first Tuesday of every month, elected the following: President, Elizabeth Gray; Vice-President, Nancy Hoylman; Secretary, Ruby Lee Foster; Treasurer, Marie Mangum; and Reporter, Betty Gehm.

Two social affairs are planned to give the Club members an opportunity to meet each other in an atmosphere of sociality, free from any business atmosphere. In this way the competent young

B. O. B. ENTERTAINS

Tuesday evening, January 18, the Beta Omicron Beta sorority entertained at a Chinese party in Ladies' Hall. Guests included Misses Annetta Smith, Mildred Craven, Lucy Mae Wright, Helen Scales, Helen Harrington, Martha Stokes, Virginia Walker, Helen Boone, Margaret Pennington, Pluto Paris, Mary Walker, Evelyn Holmes, Mary Clayton and Estelle Freeland.

Michigan Group To Give Concert

The fourth and fifth concerts on the Elon Concert Series will be presented Monday evening, February 14, and Wednesday evening, February 16, in Whitley Memorial Auditorium.

With Thor Johnson conducting, the University of Michigan Little Symphony, composed of fourteen assistants in instrumental instruction at the School of Music, will appear February 14 in a program of varied compositions chosen from the rich chamber orchestra repertory. The Little Symphony, with its talented young American conductor, is making its third tour of the Southern States. It has appeared at Elon on the two previous tours. The Lyceum committee feels especially fortunate to be able to offer this concert to Elon College. The program will be of interest to every student, and it is hoped that the entire student body will avail itself of the unusual opportunity of hearing this nationally famous organization.

On February 16 Jerid Frederic, pianist, will appear in recital. This young pianist appeared last year in the Elon Concert Series and has been engaged for a return appearance at the request of many students who enjoyed his performance so much last year. Mr. Frederic is an unusually dynamic pianist, and his recital is anticipated with great interest.

Revised Catalogue To Appear Soon

Copy for the new college catalogue was sent to the printers last week, and will appear sometime in the near future. The catalogue was revised by Dr. Smith and a faculty curriculum committee composed of Dean Messick, Dr. Collins, Dr. Bowen; Professor Bucher, Dr. French, and Professor Hook. The contents will roughly parallel those of former years with certain expansions and omissions. A great improvement has been made in the type face to be used. The new catalogue will also contain an interesting account of the history of the college.

DELTA UPSILON KAPPA

On Thursday evening January 27, the Delta Upsilon Kappa Sorority entertained at a buffet supper, in the Y. W. C. A. The guests of the sorority were Misses Dorothy Edwards, Ruth Walters, Evelyn Holmes, Polly Stephens, Helen Scales, Mary Clayton, Mary Walker, Essie Johnson, Frances Lee and Frances Bean. Former

Ruth Seabury To Visit Here

Famed Leader To Speak Feb. 14 - 21

Meetings Of Inspiration

Miss Ruth Seabury, of Boston, Massachusetts, Field Secretary of the Mission Board of the Christian-Congregational Church, will be the special speaker during Religious Emphasis week to be observed at Elon College from February 14 to 21.

Miss Seabury will be on the campus for the entire week, and will speak in the College church both morning and evening during that time. The speaker is a remarkable woman with a wealth of information gleaned from her extensive travels in her visits to all the principal mission stations of the world. She is an unusual speaker and will have a message of appeal to all.

The last day of the convocation, February 21, will be given over to a Day of Missions called "Mission Study," which is an annual event. This day's program is under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of the North Carolina Conference of The Christian-Congregational Church, and is designed to intensify the missionary effort of

WHAT ARE YOU IN COLLEGE FOR

The Maroon and Gold, in order to create more interest among its readers, plans to run a series of questionnaires such as this one, with the questions in one issue and the results in the issue which will follow it. We ask each and everyone of you to tear off this little stub, and list, in order of their importance to you, three reasons for your attending college. The three reasons you choose must be selected from the list below. We sincerely hope everyone will cooperate, and place his or her stub in the box which has been placed in the Alameda Building for this purpose. Whether or not more questionnaires of this type will be tried will depend mainly upon the response given to this one.

The reasons, of which you are to check three, "1" for the most important, "2" for second most important, and "3" for third most important, are as follows:

1. Because college graduates do better in business. _____
2. For a social good time. _____
3. To find out what life is all about. _____
4. Because it's the "thing to do." _____
5. To get away from home. _____
6. To settle on a vocation. _____
7. To avoid having to go to work for four years more. _____
8. To become sophisticated. _____
9. To prepare for a specific profession. _____
10. Because my high school chums decided to go to college. _____
11. To find "the higher learning." _____
12. To have business contacts for later use. _____
13. Because my family thought I should. _____
14. To play on varsity athletic teams. _____
15. Because my father did not do it for college. _____
16. To become a more useful citizen of the world. _____
