"The Prodigal Son"

To Be Presented by Chamber Opera Group

The Chamber Opera Company will present "The Prodigal Son", a one act opera, Monday night, March 14, at 8:15 in the Whitley Memorial auditorium. This is the last number on the Lyceum program and is expected to be one of the best.

"The Prodigal Son", written by Claude Debussy, is based on one of the most familiar Biblical stories. It is performed by three American artists of wide experience and native talent. Maria Matyas, brilliant mezzo-soprano, has a voice of great beauty and a rare ability to interpret songs. Robert King, tenor, has appeared with the Chicago Opera Company in a number of operas. He is widely known for his concert and radio work. Raymond Koch, baritone, is noted for his exceptional dramatic ability. He portrays a definite character in each song and brings it vividly to life before his audience.

Elon Debaters See Forensic Action

The debating team of High Point College met the Elon debaters in a non-decision debate in Society Hall here Monday, Feb. 21. Those on the affirmative side from High Point were the Lovelace brothers, and on the High Point negative side were Messrs. Johnson and Holt. Isaiah Sears and Emerson Sanderson represented Elon on the affirmative side of the question, and the negative side was taken care of by LeGrand Moody and Emmanuel Hedgebeth. The subject of the debate was, "Resolved that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce compulsory arbitration of all labor disputes."

Emerson Sanderson, Isaiah Sears, LeGrand Moody and Emmanuel Hedgebeth are representing Elon in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament which is being held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at High Point College. Last year the Elon debaters ranked well in this tournament, which was held in Rock Hill, S. C., and they are expected to do even better this year. The tournament is open to all colleges of the nation, but is largely a representation of Southern colleges.

The Dr. Johnson Literary Society held its annual banquet in the rooms of the Home Economics Department on the third floor of the Alamance building Friday, Feb. 25. Twenty-five couples attended the banquet which was prepared by Home Economics class.

LeGrand Moody gave the address of welcome and Miss Ina Futrell responded. The toast to the girls was given by Sidney Taylor with response by Miss Florine Ray. Milton Cheshire gave a short address and introduced the officers of the society to those at the banquet. Each officer made a short talk. James L. Parker responded to the toast given to the new members by Emmanuel Hedgebeth. Miss Lucy Mae Wright responded in behalf of the Home Economics club to the toast given by Tom Perry.

The tables were decorated with red, white, and blue candles set on a miniature shield of the same colors. The place cards were small blue and red hatchets placed in cups of red and white mints. A small cherry tree decorated with candy cherries was in the center of the toastmaster's table.

CONTEST IN SUPERLATIVES

Well, folks, here it is! A chance to crown our kings and queens with the superlatives they so well deserve. A contest such as this has not been held around here in a long time, and now is the time to do something about it. Let's you and me and everybody fill out the mimeographed ballot that accompanies this paper, and do some real voting.

As it stands now, no one knows just who is the most popular or best-looking person on the campus, but everybody has his own ideas, and the composite of these ideas is sure to bring some highly interesting results.

We ask everyone to be fair and plan his votes carefully. No one is to take offense at the title he or she is given, but to accept it in the good natured way it was intended.

So what say, gang? Let's cooperate and have fine time. Do your own voting and place the ballots in the box which has been placed for this purpose on the bulletin board in Alamance Building. The Maroon and Gold will publish the results in its next issue.

Elon Scrapper Wins Golden Gloves Matches; Joe Golombek Knocks 'Em Cold in Greensboro

Bruiser Golombek

Terrible Joe Golombek, carrying a handful of dynamite in each glove, put Carol Conrad, State College grid star, on the verge of a coma in two minutes and 37 seconds of the second round of a scheduled three round scrap that was to divide the Golden Glove heavyweight championship of the Piedmont section last Monday night at the Sportrena in Greensboro.

Joe reached the finals by defeating Ralph Henderson last Saturday night in another encounter that failed to last two full rounds. In both fights Referee Bob O'Neil had to call things to a halt and award Joe a technical knockout.

Fighting in the form of Max Baer, Joe failed to let either of his opponents land a solid blow, and laughed each time his adversary attempted to do any damage. Archie "Yussel the Goniff" Israel, who did a fine job of Managing Joe, failed to keep cool and quiet, and Joe had constantly to shout down from the ring at him not to get excited. Outside of that, things moved along smoothly, and neither Archie nor Joe received any scars of battle.

So it's hats off to Joe, king of the Piedmont section, and a bicarbonate to Archie, who "wuzn't robbed and who shouldn't stand in bed".

Al Mastro Is Artist For New Phippsicli

Proofs of the art work to be used in this year's Phippsicli have returned from the engravers. The art sections are being done by our local artist, Al Mastro and they promise to add immeasurably to the beauty of the book. Mr. Mastro has submitted some very nicely handled dry-brush sketches which have met with the approval of several critics.

Work on the annual is progressing nicely and it should be issued May 10, as per schedule.

The Phippsicli staff held a meeting in the Phippsicli office last Tuesday night. The staff worked on copy material which is being prepared for the press. Snap-shot editors began assorting their rather large and interesting collection of campus candid shots. According to present indications the book should be out in record time, May 10.

Mr. Wallace Fridy Gives Stimulating Chapel Message

On Wednesday, Feb. 24, Mr. Wallace Fridy, who is the assistant pastor of the Westley Memorial Church at High Point, presented a very interesting talk to the student body in the Whitley Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Fridy is a friend of Dr. Bowden, and graduated with Dr. Bowden at the Yale University. The subject of which Mr. Fridy spoke was "The Importance of Being Good for Something". Mr. Fridy stated that many people are good, but in a negative way. That is to say that people are good, but they do nothing with the goodness. He presented the challenge that one do something with the goodness which he possesses.

On the following Friday, Mr. Fridy spoke on the subject of "Handicaps". "Use what you have," said Mr. Fridy, "and don't worry about your handicaps." The main theme was based upon the following expression "Put down your bucket where it is." The person about whom Mr. Fridy spoke at that time was Dr. Carver. Dr. Carver is a very famous scientist and a member of Tuskegee.

The Business Administration Club met last Monday morning in Society Hall. During the business session Sid Taylor was elected president of the organization.

Mr. W. H. Gehm, general manager of the White Furniture Company of Mebane, spoke to the club on the subject of "The Need For Personal Efficiency in Business." Mr. Gehm stated that success in the modern business world lies in having an alert, creative, and active mind. He also emphasized that, to be successful, one must develop an ambition to achieve.

The club is asking all Business Administration majors to become active members, and to help make it one of the most useful organizations on the campus. ## Three Elon Cagers Are Placed On All-N. S. Conference Team

Not being satisfied with winning the North State Conference Title, the Elon Cannonade proceeded to look for more honor, and placed three men on the All-North State Conference team. Captain Hal "Hunk" Bradley, the greatest player in or around these parts was a unanimous choice of the judges. Lloyd Whitley and Dick Cromlish were also placed on the first five, and Ike Fémire capped a forward berth on the second team.

The judges voted five places and one second for Bradley, and four firsts and two seconds for Whitley. Emulating the 1937 football team, the Elon basketekers almost completely dominated the voting.

This honor marked the second time this season that Hunk Bradley's athletic ability has been recognized. Hunk was recently chosen the most valuable member of the team and has a beautiful white tweater with a large black "E", donated by two Elon fans, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. of Burlington, to show for it. Hunk deserves every word of praise said about him, and the only regret is that Hunk, All-Conference center in basketball; has finished his athletic career at Elon and will be greatly missed upon graduation this June.

The All-Conference teams is as follows:

Lloyd Whitley, Elon—Forward.
"Rip" McSwain, Lenoir-Rhyne—Forward.

Hal Bradley, Elon — Center.
"Ace" Hudson, Appalachian — Guard.

Richard Cromlish, Elon—Guard.
Coaches voting on team were Virgil Yaw, High Point; A. D. (Bud) Rose, Atlantic Christian; Horace Hendrickson, Elon; Tom Brown, Oatawba; "Pat" Shores, Lenoir-Rhyne; and "Flucie" Stewart, Appalachian.

Correction

In addition to the seven members pledged to Sigma Phi Beta Fraternity, as listed in the last issue of MAROON AND GOLD, Bob Hamilton, of Gastonia, N. C., was also pledged to the fraternity.

Through error, the name of Woodrow Wilson, of Prospect Hill, N. C., was omitted from the list of new members of the Iota Tau Kappa Fraternity. We apologize for these omissions and hasten to make corrections.
