What's In A Name? The Walker Clan Leads

Last year the Parker clan had a majority of members above all other family names on the campus. This year the Walker clan has usurped this position. Seven of the students answer to the name of Walker. These include Galloway, John, two Marys, Virginia, W. L., and Nestor. Oh, yeah, we still have four Parkers. Smith is usually the leading name to be found on any college campus, but this year we have only four Smiths enrolled.

We also have four Barneys, five Cobles, three Apples, three Johnsons, and three Bells.

Every year we have a new batch of tongue-twisters, and this year is no exception. Huffsteller and Palantonio seem to be the names which are bothering everyone now. Of course Anshelewitz is still bothering the upper classmen. Poerschke will probably provide some more trouble in pronunciation.

The unfamiliarity of the majority of the students with names such as these is what makes them so obvious now but before the year is over these names will be accepted as usual along with the Walkers, Parkers, and Smiths.

voice teacher this year. He is a native of Ohio and a graduate of Oberlin College Conservatory of Music. For three years he was tenor soloist with the Oberlin Glee Club, which makes an annual tour of approximately two thousand miles. This past June he won the tenor divising of the annual Eistefford (well-singing) contest. In regard to Elon he says that he was surprised at the number of buildings and equipment.

Mr. Edwards is pretty much of a baseball fan and favors the Cincinnati Reds. When asked about his views on swing music, he said, "Well, I'm not particularly bothered by it, although I did go 150 miles one night to hear Benny Goodman."

Campus Visitors

The prominent people who have visited the campus since school has started this year include Mr. and Mrs. Felton from Irvington, N. J. They came down with their daughter, Margaret, who is a freshman here this year. Also visiting the campus was Dr. W. M. Joy, pastor of the First Christian Church at Winston-Salem, N. C. Dr. James H. Lightbourne, pastor of the First Christian Church at Burlington, N. C., came with his son, J. H. Lightbourne, Jr., who is a freshman here this year. Dr. S. C. Harrell who is a member of the Board of Trustees of Elon College and president of The Southern Christian Convention stopped in. Mr. A. C. Holland arrived from Trenton, N. C. where he is Superintendent of Jones County schools. His son is a junior here.

B. O. B. Entertains

On Monday evening, from seven-thirty until eight-thirty, the Beta Omicron Beta Sorority entertained at an after-dinner coffee for the girls in the Y. W. C. A. The Y was very attractively decorated with flowers and blue and white candles, and music was furnished by Charlie Hamrick. Miss Julia Mae Oxford and Mrs. George D. Colclough poured.

The members of the sorority who served were Lucy Mae Wright, Beatrice Mashburn, Geraldine Deaver, Maxine Hudgins, Estelle Freeland, and Mary Frances Walker.

able type-faces ever designed, and one of the most popular for newspaper use. As last year, the linotype material is being furnished by The Caswell Messenger at Yanceyville, North Carolina.

Joins Music Faculty

Ralph Morgan

Robert Morgan Subs For Prof. Moore

Mr. Robert Morgan, piano and organ instructor of Scranton, Pa., who is with us this year while Professor Moore is away, has an opinion of Elon which everyone undertaking her environment should have. He sees Elon as an alert, intelligent college. Mr. Morgan, a graduate of Syracuse University, has devoted his life to music. Since the age of seven he has been taking lessons so as to enable others to enjoy and to see the importance of it. His work is music, his love is music, and his hobby is music. "For," says Mr. Morgan, "When one undertakes to study and teach music he has time for no other hobby."

When questioned as to swing and its popular standing he has the opinion that it is all right in its place, but that it will never over-rule classical or serious music, as he terms it.

In his estimation Elon has many good opportunities to offer, especially in the music department and its well-equipped music rooms.

It is a great pleasure and honor to have Mr. Morgan with us this year.

Lida Muse

Lida Muse Is New Home Econ. Professor

There hasn't been much said about the Home Economics Department. But Elon's aware that it is a very important department of the college, and more and more girls are realizing what excellent courses are being offered.

It is Miss Lida Muse's first year at Elon College. She comes to us with a wealth of experience in home economics. She received her B. S. degree from the University of Tennessee, and her M. A. from Columbia University. Miss Muse has had ten years' experience in college teaching, which has included both Junior and Senior work. She has served as the head of the Home Economics Department at Centenary College, Shreveport, Louisiana. Prior to that she was head of the Department at State Teachers College at Murry, Kentucky, and State Teachers College at Memphis, Tennessee.

Elon College is proud of its Home Economics Department. Miss Muse is extended a hearty welcome and an assurance of full cooperation.

In addition to the Home Economics curriculum, there is a club, composed of those girls who are taking courses in the Department. This group, under the sponsorship of Miss Muse, has extensive plans for the year. The President of the Home Economics Club is Lucy Mae Wright; Vice-President, Annetta Smith; Secretary-Treasurer, Melvin James; Program Chairman, Geraldine Deaver; Chairman Social Committee, Edith Brannock; and Reporter, Ida Mae Piland.

Neese was in charge, and reports regarding the several committees were made.

For the initial social event of the year, the Association will sponsor a party in the Y. W. C. A. tonight, at 8 o'clock. There will be games and music. Refreshments will be served. All are invited.

The Student Christian Association committees are as follows: Vespers: Ruth Page Clark, Chairman, June Leath; Social Service: Edith Brannock, Chairman, Irene Hook, Sam Foushee; Membership, Juanita Waugh, Chairman, Jimmie McDade; Morning Watch, Roberta Martin, James Rogers; Deputations: Nathan Cooper, Chairman, Mary Walker; Junior Deacons: James W. Parker, Chairman; Social Committee: Tom Perry, Chairman, Dorothy Edwards, Evelyn Holmes; World Fellowship: Harris Hendricks, Chairman, Hall Brooks; Freshman Cabinet: Jordan Sloan, Chairman; Publicity, Gwen Tillmanns.

The officers of the Association are President, Jack Neese, Vice-President, James L. Parker; and Secretary-Treasurer, Florine Ray.

The Association has made a very auspicious beginning for this year, and with the help of all the students, it hopes to have a most successful year. A membership drive will soon be started, and it is hoped that all new students will become a part of the Christian Association. It has a very real influence on the campus, and one of its tasks is to sponsor parties and other social events. Tonight the Association's ability to stage good parties will be put into action. Everybody come and help the Association give you a good time!

T. Z. P. Has Open House

The Tau Zeta Phi sorority held Open House on Thursday, September 8, from 7 to 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. A large number of the Elon girls, both old and new, were present. Punch was served from a green and yellow pointed table by Miss Mattie Pickett. The Y. W. C. A. was attractively decorated with ivy and yellow cosmos.

Members of the sorority present were Mary Walker, Ethelne Reynolds, Edith Brannock, Christine Eaves, Roberta Martin, Edna Fitch, Florine Ray, Juanita Waugh, Helen Dailey, Irene Hook, Mary Lou Hayes, Margaret Pennington, and Louise Pender.

older players some heavy competition for the first string. At this time there are approximately fifty members on the squad with nineteen of them being students who have played on the squad last year.

Last year Shelton, the same one who is in the backfield this year, was flinging the passes which helped defeat V. M. I., 12 to 6. Of course Abbott and Bradley are not here to be on the receiving end of these passes. There are several boys on the team who were in the last V. M. I. game and who have learned something of the Keydets' style of football. The Militarists weren't expecting much opposition from 'Little Elon' last year, but this year it is reported they have all their big guns loaded for 'Christians'.

Sampling The Summer

When some of the upperclassmen were asked what they did this summer here are some of the answers received. (Some of them were not printable).

Archie Israel: "I had a cool summer; I worked on an ice wagon in Connecticut".

Frank Donovan: "I had a job but didn't work."

"Red" Noon: "I lounged around and played golf with the Vanderbilts".

Wesley Holland: "I worked like heck five days a week and played like heck the other two."

Louis Hubbard: "I jerked sodas at Virginia Beach and just played around."

George Colclough: "I have been scouting around to fine good looking girls with good minds to meet the requirements of the fine young men we already have."

Ben Hurst: "I bummed around for two weeks, then caught a Norwegian ship and went to Canada and the West Indies."

Floyd West: "I hit 500 at Enfield this summer where I was playing. Oh, yeah, I pitched three games and won them, too."

Finley Lee: "I have been working like heck in an ice plant all summer so I could come back to school."
