

Fall Semester Exams To Be Abolished Beginning Next Year

Edu. Milestone For Golden Year

THREE HOUR EXAMINATIONS OPTIONAL WITH PROFS

Hour Quizzes To Take Place Of Three Hour Examinations

Flash! At a faculty meeting last week, the Curriculum Committee proposed that the college give no more three-hour examinations for the fall semester. Instead, they decided to do the following:

1. That no special period be set aside for all semester examinations as such, but that when examinations are given at class time, that they be held at regular class hours.

2. If a professor wishes to use more than one hour for any given examination, he is permitted to use as many class periods, as he may deem necessary. This of course would necessitate the giving of that particular examination in parts.

3. Except for the periods of the examinations class work shall be in progress through the last day of fall semester.

4. If more than one class hour becomes desirable for an examination, the professor in charge shall register the preferred time for the administration of the examination with the Dean, who in turn will work out probable conflicts.

5. Registration is to be held in the afternoon of the last week of the fall semester, and class work is to begin the first day of the spring semester, thereby eliminating the necessity of any break.

In this way there is no break in the spring and fall semester. This may mean that the professors will give more tests during the semester, but it will not mean that the students will have to worry and sit up all night studying for a three-hour examination.

One Shrub Remains On The Campus Untouched By The Pruning Hook.

The Sweet Aroma, Breath of Spring is Dear To Our Hearts

Just some more dope on the pruning of the campus flora. This is rather a new angle on it.

Incidentally there is one piece of shrubbery left which is now in bloom. Why it was left, none of us know. We assume that as it was in bloom it was left to beautify the blankness which the absence of the others are causing.

This undoubtedly important bush at the present is standing at the corner of the Maroon and Gold press room.

In case anyone desires, he or she can inhale the aroma from this bush. The blooms really have a delightful effect on the olfactory sensitivity — that is, if you don't have a cold.

Maybe you've noticed wood being cut up all around the campus. We think this wood is only coming from a few of the dead oaks which prevail here and there in the college environment. Looks like it's being cut up in regular cord wood — maybe some farmer will cure tobacco with it.

Saturday afternoon is bath-time at the University of Alabama: students there use more gallons of water from 2 to 6 p. m. Saturday than any other time of the week.

Pi Kappa Tau Sorority Reorganized With 13 Member Quorum

Sister Sorority of Alpha Pi Delta Fraternity

The reorganization of the Pi Kappa Tau sorority, which discontinued in 1933, has been carried through by thirteen of the girls of the freshman and sophomore classes, backed by the Alpha Pi Delta fraternity. This fraternity is helping their new sister sorority financially, in order that they may get a good start. Miss Lida Muse has been chosen as sponsor for the Pi Kappa Tau. The charter members of this reorganized organization are Virginia Neal, Sara Corbitt, Angie Henry, Joy Belle Quackenbush, Gladys Wright, Pansy Miller, Elmer Williams, Lucille Somers, Mary Hiatt, Shirley Powell, Edna Bell, Frances Frazier and Anne Eshelman. These girls took part in all the activities of Bid Night.

Sigma Phi and Delta U's Open New Social Season With Party

Given For Entire Student Body and Held in College Gym.

The college opened up its new season of parties last Saturday night when Sigma Phi Beta Fraternity and Delta Upsilon Kappa Sorority entertained at a semi-formal party given in honor of the whole student body.

The college gymnasium was elaborately decorated with the colors of the sorority and fraternity with lighting effects to match. The party started promptly at eight with the music being furnished by Charlie Hamrick and his Swing Elonians.

The students seemed to have developed a fervor for parties and swing from the way they turned out "en masse" after the storm, the examinations, and as usual, showed a reluctance to leave.

Boys Lit. Society Elect New Officers

At the last meeting of the Dr. Johnson Literary Society, new officers were elected for the spring semester. Tom Perry, a senior, was again elected as president. Horace Penn was called on to succeed James Parker as vice-president. Parks Hackney was retained as official minutes scribbler and roll caller. Nathan Cooper was elected as the new treasurer, taking Jordan Sloan's place. President Tom Perry urges that all members be present at the next meeting Wednesday night, February 8.

Traveling Dinner Dished Up By Tau Zeta Phi Sorority

The Tau Zeta Phi Sorority entertained at a progressive dinner on January 26. The party went first to the home of Florine Ray for cocktails and from there to Edith Brannocks for the main course. The dessert was served at Irene Hooks, and coffee served in the college Y. W. C. A.

Guests for the occasion were Dean Julia Mae Oxford, Mrs. Oma Johnson, Misses Mary Ruth McDade, Lib Armfield, Margaret Felton, Patty Belle Faulk, Mary Jenette, Mildred Harrington, Frances Seymore, Hazel McIntyre, Helen Boone, Joyce Black, Minnie Mae Franklin, and Elizabeth Newton.

Social Organization Banquet Dates Decided Recently

With spring just around the corner, the Fraternities and Sororities are busy making plans for the annual banquets.

Unfortunately our campus does not afford a place that is entirely suitable for these affairs and because of this these affairs will be held off the campus. Greensboro, in the past, has been the favorite banquet city and will, more than likely, prove so this spring.

The following dates have been chosen by the different organizations:

April 1 — Delta Upsilon Kappa
April 8 — Sigma Phi Beta
April 15 — Alpha Pi Delta
April 22 — Kappa Psi Nu and Iota Tau Kappa
April 28 — Tau Zeta Phi
May 6 — Beta Omicron Beta

Roland Longest, Assistant Sports Ed., Improving Slowly

Roland Longest, Elon Junior, has been confined to his home due to a serious illness that required a complete rest. "Gourd-head" will return to the campus about March first. We all hope that he will recuperate quickly, and return to his duties as soon as possible.

Roland is a member of the Maroon and Gold staff and is the ace hurler of the Christian baseball team.

Home Economics Dept. Shows Consistent And Marked Improvements

Three Seniors Majoring in That Field This Year

Did you ever wonder what went on in that set of rooms on the top floor of the Alamance Building called the Home Economics Department?

What a swell time the girls must have there! Courses in cooking and sewing are offered the first year. With these the girls make themselves useful. The freshman sewing class capably made the curtain for the stage in the Little Chapel.

The cooking class has served several delightful meals to the faculty and trustees.

With one course as a background the girls become eligible for the Home Economics Club. Membership is voluntary. The club holds monthly meetings of its 20 members.

The group this year elected as officers Lucy Mae Wright, president; Annetta Smith, vice-president; Melvin James, secretary and treasurer. Edith Brannock is chairman of the program committee, and Miss Lida Muse, head of the department, is sponsor for the club.

This club is very active, helping in welfare work, preparing the banquet for the Literary Society, and other activities.

For one of their programs this month the girls are planning a real colonial tea. A few students and townspeople who have shown an interest in the department will be invited.

After the basic courses in sewing and cooking the girls start feeding rats. That is, they study Dietetics, the effects of different foods on our health, by studying these effects on the rats.

They even start designing, modeling, and making their own clothes, through courses in advanced clothing, costuming, and designing. They design the clothes to fit the personality.

They study furniture, home plans and the different types of architecture, mostly through field

Elon Play Wins In Carolina Original Play Contest

'Mill Village' Tops Field In Senior College Classification.

Word has just been received here that an Elon play, Isaiah Sears' "Mill Village", is a winner in the original play contest of the Carolina Dramatic Association.

Othe senior colleges entered in the contest were Lenoir Rhyne, Black Mountain, and Catawba. A play from Lenoir Rhyne shared honors with Elon's "Mill Village", which was written in the college course in dramatic literature last year. Both plays will be produced at the 1939 Tournament in Chapel Hill in March.

Get Your Informal Snapshots In To The PhipsiCli Immediately

Frank Donovan, editor of this year's Phi Psi Cli, announced recently that those wishing to have informal snapshots put in the PhipsiCli must have them in his hands within the next week. This is absolutely the last chance, for all pictures have to be sent off at a very early date.

Please cooperate with the annual and send in all of your "cute" and unusual pictures.

If all organizations have not turned in money for their group pictures, this matter should be attended to at once.

113 Students Make Honor Roll On Grades Released Recently

Two Elon Professors To Go West Soon After Commencement

It sure looks like part of the Elon faculty are going places. Dr. Fletcher Collins, head of the English Department, and professor Beecher, of the Education Department, are to journey northwest across the states to Portland, Oregon, immediately after commencement this spring. They are to be members of the staff of the summer work shop of Reed College, sponsored by the Progressive Education Association. The purpose of this term is to aid the teachers in the north western United States in carrying on school work.

To be there for the six weeks term beginning June 12 means that they will have to move in a hurry around school closing time, which comes the last week in May. Both are planning to go by automobile.

Prof. Beecher Repairs Unused Woodworking Workshop

Being Used Now By Press And Dramatics Technicians

Students of Elon College will have the opportunity to get practical experience in woodwork from now on.

The workshop, which belongs to the school and is located in the basement of the Christian Education building, has been out of use for several years.

Professor Beecher, who is interested in this type of work, has fixed the shop so that it is usable and worth while to the college. The equipment was in a sad state of disrepair, but after long hours of repair work the lathe machine, the band saw, and the other power tools were put into good condition.

There is a possibility that a course in this type of work will be offered to the students," Professor Beecher said. He also pointed out that there is a demand for such a course, but that this demand should be larger before such a course can be put on the curriculum.

The Dramatics students and the Elon Press have already used the shop to good advantage. Professor Beecher said that any student, who is interested, has the privilege of inspecting the shop and may use it for certain types of work.

A. P. D.'s Give Good Party At Cabin

Wednesday of last week a most delightful party was given at Kivette's Cabin by the Alpha Pi Delta fraternity.

The gang left school for the cabin at 4:30 p. m. and returned at 7:30 p. m.

The party consisted of many games of different types. This was followed by the serving of sandwiches, with refreshments which were enjoyed by all.

Until time for departure transcribed music prevailed throughout the cabin.

In one of the cars in which three couples were supposed to return Satterfield was thrown in the front seat and his date in the back seat. This, as we all know, is very provoking. Charlie Blue had the pleasure of holding "Red's" date plus caring for his own. Poor Red always has tough luck along such lines.

Largest Group In Freshman Class

MAYBE THE STUDENTS ARE GETTING SMARTER

About 20 Percent of Students Receive This Distinction

A large number of students were able to make the Honor Roll here last semester by legging their professors or by burning the mid-night oil a good deal. It could be, that those who made the good grades were bright.

The students making the Honor Roll by legging, studying, or any other known way are by class as follows:

Senior Class

Edith Brannock, Cleveland Campbell, Ruth Page Clarke, Frank Donovan, Tom Furness, Jr., James W. Gillespie, Jessie W. Harrington, George Thomas Holmes, Christine Holt, Archie Israel, Melvin James, Vincent Kazlow, Elizabeth Markham, Wilma Beatrice Mashburn, Jack H. Neese, James Wesley Parker, Tom Perry, Ruby E.
