ENROLLMENT SHOWS LARGE POSTWAR INCREASE

Seven States And Two Foreign Countries Are Represented

With war veterans returning in increasing numbers, the fall quarter college enrollment has reached the total of 453, according to the latest figures from the Registrar's office. The entrance of discharged veterans, in keeping with the nationwide practice of the major colleges and universities, is permitted at any time, and additional registrations are coming in. It is expected that a return to the pre-war level of more than 600 students will be possible in the near future. The administration, in its building program, contemplates preparing for an even larger dormitory capacity within a few years.

Columbia and Peru are the foreign countries represented. Next to North Carolina, with its 317 registrants, Virginia contributes most to the total, thirty-four students coming from the Cavalier State. Other states represented are South Carolina, Alabama, New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Ohio.

Alamance county, with 147 students, is responsible for the largest community group from any part of North Carolina. Other counties with large representations are Guilford, 18; Randolph, 13; Beaufort, 13; Caswell, 11; Gates, 9; and Moore, 9. There are fifty-one North Carolina counties represented.

The women students now occupy four dormitories—West, East, Ladies' Hall, and Oak Lodge, the additional enrollment making it necessary to open the fourth building recently. North houses all the dormitory men. Despite the return of a large number of veterans, women still outnumber the men more than two to one.

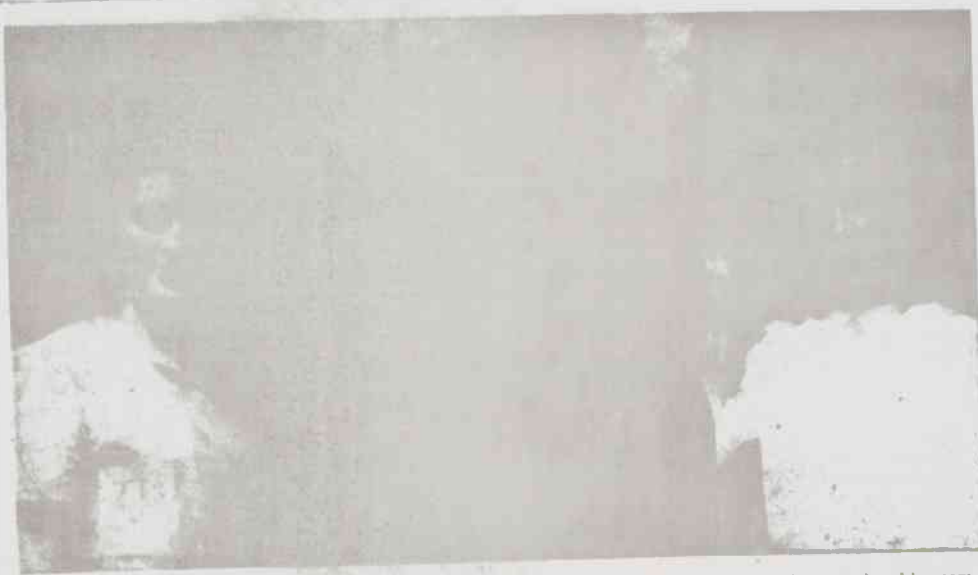

A return to pre-war athletic schedules within the collegiate conference is being contemplated. The Athletic committee will continue to sponsor a large intramural program of sports, but expects good basketball and baseball teams during 1945-46, and a return to collegiate football next fall.

LUCILLE MORGAN TO HEAD CHOIR

The "Elon Singers," who are off to a good start with sixty members, recently elected Lucille Morgan president. Al Burlingame is vice-president, Archie Braxton is secretary-treasurer, and Jane McCauley and Sara Brewer acting as librarians are to be in charge of the music.

For the convenience of the students, practice nights have been changed to Monday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock, and a new spirit of cooperation prevails among members.

The addition of a number of male voices has brought about a noticeable change in this year's choir, and it is evident that the choir will have an unusually successful year.

NOMINATIONS FOR VACANT OFFICES TO BE MADE MONDAY

Nominations will be made Monday morning during the regular student assembly for the offices left vacant by students who did not return to college this fall. The vacant offices are secretary of the student body, vice-president of the Senate, and secretary of the Senate. Nominations for the office vacancies in the respective classes will also be made at this time.

The names of upperclassmen who are eligible for the respective offices have been posted on the bulletin boards at each end of Alamance Hall. The general election will be held next Thursday and there will not be a second election unless some of the plurality winners do not receive a majority vote. Freshmen will not be eligible to vote in this election.

The election will be under the supervision of the temporary electoral committee consisting of Emerson Whatley, Elizabeth Parker, and Junius Peedin—the leaders of the Student Government Association.

FRESHMEN TO ELECT OFFICERS

The Freshman class will elect its officers for the college year on the first Tuesday in October. The exact time and place will be announced later.

The rule of the eligibility to hold office is the same as for other student offices—an academic average of "C" or better on the last year's work is required. Students whose high school transcripts have not yet been received by the Registrar's office should attend to this immediately.

"MAROON AND GOLD IS HEAD ON THE RHINE WITH FLASHLIGHT

Staff Sergeant Larry Hagood, of the Alabama National Guard, new home on leave, reports that a copy of the Maroon and Gold was sent him on a mail delivery. The package was sent to him by a student who had reached the Rhine. Knowing that they were to jump off again next day, Sergeant Hagood whistled away the tense hours of waiting with snatches of sleep and the reading of the Maroon and Gold under cover with the aid of a flashlight.

Sergeant Hagood, of Burlington and Graham, was an upperclassman when he left to enter the service two years ago. He was a Golden Gloves champ, and a splendid all-around athlete.

After all the pains Ed Daniel took to get out the Maroon and Gold service mailing list, never knowing for certain that the paper would reach our far-travelers, it is certainly good to know that many of the issues did reach their destination. This little sheet has now visited a good many corners of Europe and Asia. Many a soldier and sailor, and many women in the service, have sent us reports. They all say that nothing—unless it was a letter from home—did more to lift their hearts than this reminder of their Alma Mater.

WOMEN'S RESIDENCE COUNCIL FORMED

When the women residence students met recently to put into effect the Residence Council, an organization set up this year through revision of the student handbook, Margaret Rawls, West Dormitory; Bettie Sue Lloyd, Ladies' Hall; Martha McDaniel, East Dormitory; and Sara Brewer, Oak Lodge, were named house presidents of their respective dormitories.

Under this new system being set into force for the first time, there is to be a Residence Council for each dormitory, composed of the president and four other residents of that dormitory with the house director as adviser. These new house presidents are to appoint the remaining members of the hall council and they shall assist in administering dormitory regulations and settle cases of hall discipline. Unlike the Women's Council, this is not a judicial body and is not permitted to try a case or inflict penalties.

The house presidents are to be members of the Women's Council, but the other members of the hall council are not.

SEVEN NEW MEMBERS ADDED TO FACULTY

Elon College opened its fifty-sixth year by welcoming a number of new faculty members. These appointments bring to the campus some outstanding instructors.

Miss Ida M. Greenfield has been appointed Dean of Women. She arrived during the summer and at once took over her duties. Working in conjunction with Dr. Bowden and a student committee she revised the section in the Student Handbook regarding regulations for the women students, and has put into force new rules regarding privileges, discipline, and student government. A graduate of Union University, Jackson, Tenn., Miss Greenfield completed work for the Master of Arts degree at George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. She is a member of the American Association of University Women and has served as public chairman and editor of the bulletin for its Nashville Branch. She has had extensive contact with young people, having served as director of young peoples' activities in both Arkansas and Tennessee, as a teacher, and as a member of the administrative staff of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn. In addition to her work as dean of women, she is serving as instructor in the English Department.

Dr. S. C. Deskins, formerly principal of Summer school, near Greensboro, has joined the faculty as head of the Department of Education. He received his undergraduate training at Emory and Henry College in Virginia, and at Elon, graduating from here with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He was awarded his Master of Arts and Ph. D. degrees at the University of North Carolina. He has done graduate work at Vanderbilt and Chicago universities.

Paul Sigman Reddish, Durham, N. C., has taken over his duties as head of the Department of Biology. Mr. Reddish attended Duke University, where he did undergraduate work in zoology and chemistry, and has done graduate work in zoology and botany. For a number of years he taught sciences in the public schools of North Carolina and acted as a research assistant in the department of zoology and entomology at North Carolina State College. He has also taught photography at the University of North Carolina and physics at North Carolina State College, and has acted as assistant investigator in the Office of Production and Research Development; and more recently he acted as associate in the culture department of the Carolina Biological Company.

Another new department head is Miss Christina Hardy, Fort Smith, Arkansas, who is in the Business Department. Miss Hardy received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, Ark., and her Master of Arts degree from Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn. She has done work at the Fort Smith Junior College, Fort Smith, Ark., and has had teaching experience in the public schools of Arkansas and the Fort Smith Junior College. Aside from her work in the commercial department, Miss Hardy is acting as house director of Ladies' Hall.

Miss Christine Honeck, Malinta, Ohio, of the Department of Music, attended Bowling Green State University at Bowling Green, Ohio, where she received her Bachelor of Science degree in music, and the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, Michigan, where she received her Master of Arts degree. She has taught music in the public schools of Ohio and at Defiance College, Defiance, Ohio. Miss

The annual membership drive of the Student Christian Association will begin Wednesday and last throughout the week, Jack Sunburn, president of the organization, recently announced. The plans of the drive will be presented to the Senior Cabinet of the S. C. A. at its regular meeting Tuesday night at 8:00 and the drive will officially be inaugurated at the Wednesday morning chapel service.

There will be a desk in the rotunda of Alamance Hall, where students may sign pledge cards, on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday mornings of next week. Martha McDaniel, vice-president of the S. C. A., Anne Griffin, secretary-treasurer, or various members of the Senior cabinet will be at the desk. The slogan of the drive is "Every Student a Member" and the officers of the organization are anxious to attain this goal. It is hoped that the S. C. A. membership insignia cards may be obtained.

The Senior Cabinet of the Student Christian Association, which is composed of the officers and the committees that carry out the work of the organization, meets every Tuesday night, and the entire membership meets monthly. The Freshmen who join the S. C. A. will elect officers and organize a group of their own. This group will be under the auspices of the Senior Cabinet, and will be a fellowship and social forum for the members of the Freshman class. The advisors to the Freshman S. C. A. will be Fred Register, W. D. Little, Tom Horner, and Vivian Walker.

Professor A. L. Hook was chosen sponsor of the organization at a recent meeting of the Senior Cabinet. He has accepted the position and with his help the officers are assured of a successful year ahead.

TALENT IS REVEALED IN FRESHMAN PROGRAM

At the Freshman Talent Program held recently in Whitley Auditorium several performers of outstanding ability were found among the new students. Earl Danieley was the master of ceremonies for the program.

Charlotte Ciprianni, who played boogie-woogie, was the first on the program. Kat Saunders played several popular numbers on the piano. Bill Williams, baritone, sang two modern songs; he was followed by Harry "Cub" Thombs, who rendered several humorous melodies. Then Elinor Mack Paul sang several new popular songs. All of the vocalists were accompanied by Kat Saunders. Orville "B. O." Robinson conducted a quiz program, with the assistance of Jean West and Dorothy Shackelford. We hope to see more of these brilliant novices in the future.

After the talent program, Elon movies of the 1945 May Day were shown.

Honeck has traveled widely throughout the United States, England, Germany, Holland, and Belgium.

Miss Mildred Widder of Boston, Mass., is doing new work in the Department of Religion, and more facts concerning her work will be carried in a later issue of the MAROON AND GOLD.

Another faculty appointment is that of E. Z. Jones, Burlington, who is to teach a course in Radio Broadcasting beginning during the winter quarter. Mr. Jones is director of WBBB, Burlington's first radio corporation.

Space is lacking for complete presentation of the pictures and abstracts of record of other new faculty members. The next issue of the Maroon and Gold will carry additional announcements concerning appointments.

MISS CHRISTINA HARDY, Head of the Department of Business Administration.

PAUL S. REDDISH, Head of the Department of Biology.

MISS IDA M. GREENFIELD, Dean of Women.
