Day Student Socially Sketch-Book Speaking

By ANN RADER

DAY BY DAY WITH THE DAY STUDENTS

If you know what I mean, Billy Smith of Wake Forest (future preacher) bid hearts, and leads with a diamond. His partner is Virginia Boyd. It's beautiful, Virginia—and being a preacher's wife is nice too. Will you tell us how soon.

The two Libs went a-dancing, meaning Lib Brady and Lib Apple. Place—Greensboro; time—this past week.

Doris King has been elevated to the Day Student Intramural Council. Also heavily draped with the weighty and dignified mantle of responsibility is that serious sober, senior, "Simple" Simpson, who is now the team manager for Day Students.

The attractive visitor who returned to tread the campus and view again the background of many a pleasant memory was Mrs. Wallie (Nellie) Snyder. Anytime, Nellie, anytime, you're always welcome.

Poor old Jack Foster. He claims he lives just eight miles the other side of nowhere, at Altamahaw-Ossipee. Now Jack, if you will just organize a small party (or large) and include a big bonfire and Weiner roast, so we can sit around and eat, and sing, and harmonize generally, you'll find out that eight miles from nowhere is just the right distance.

Speaking of boys—and who around here doesn't—have you looked over Bill Love and Clarence Brown yet? We don't feel like saying they are "cute," but we will say that the boys have something—just a touch of Van Johnson.

Extra! Duke loses to Elon! No, it wasn't at football, or baseball, or tennis, or ping pong! But, nevertheless Duke lost to Elon; that's our contention and we stand by it. So, you want proof. Alright, here it is, Helen Kingsland, formerly of Duke is now on the Elon campus—Q. E. D.

Dear old "Glamour-voice" McCollough of radio station WBBB wants to know who has a waffle. Not necessarily a cream-waffle of Toodle-Home farm, or a cheese waffle, but just a plain, simple, old-fashioned waffle. If Elon only had some plain, simple, old-fashioned girl, who would cook this plain, simple, old-fashioned waffle, we think it would touch his plain, simple old-fashioned heart.

I don't know how Bill Shakespeare would have written it or how Jimmy Fiddler would put it—Walter Winchell would say that "they are that wa about each other" or "planning a merger," or "he is contracting for a lot of her time." But not being any of these guys, all we can say is that the new twosome on the campus is composed of Jean Terrell and Jack Storey.

The S. C. A. is planning a Halloween Carnival for October 27. The rumors of bon-fires, food, and stuff sound super.

The Tau Zeta Phi sorority got into the swing again with a hamburger supper at Kivette's Cabin Saturday evening, September 29. Kappi Psi's present boosted the morale.

The girls in all dormitories will hold open house soon, so get your pin-ups censored and dusted.

The B. O. B. sorority had an outdoor supper last night, October 5, at the home of Faye Rickard, on the Greensboro road. Rushes and their date enjoyed the food 'n trimmings.

East dormitory girls cater to Miss Kendrick's informal get-togethers. The fun and fellowship are good for what ails you.

The day students are glad to see Alamance Parlor open all day. Ping-pong tables will be set up soon.

The Delta U's gathered in the reception hall of West Thursday, September 27, from 9:30 till 11.

Ladies' Hall, under the leadership of Betty Sue Lloyd, house president, and Christina Hardy, hall sponsor, had a social Thursday night at 10.

The Pi Kappa Tau sorority had a rush part from 5 to 8 o'clock Tuesday evening.

FRANK HAYES WRITES VICTORY LETTER FROM TOKYO BAY

This is a copy of a form letter printed by the government for Navy men who were in Tokyo Bay on official V-J Day to send to their friends and families.

Anchored at Tokyo Bay, Japan September 2, 1945.
Dear Dr. Bowden,
Greeting you from the land of the Rising Sun!

The war is officially over for us today with the signing of the peace treaty. Now we are looking forward to the day when we will be home for good!

Today we are making history and are proud of this distinction of transporting the first water-borne occupational troops to the homeland of the Japanese. On this occasion we have on board correspondents assigned by the Navy to get pictures and stories for the local newspapers and magazines on board. Keep a weather eye open for pictures in your paper.

What do you think of the cancellation of the air mail stamp on the envelope. We think that it would make a good souvenir. Maybe you would like to keep it in remembrance of the signing of the Peace treaty.

Let me hear from you soon.
Sincerely yours,
FRANK.

Campus Personality

Our personality spotlight this week falls on a senior girl whose happy smile everyone has seen around campus, and especially in Professor Hook's office. It is hinted that there she computes our grades, and it might be a good idea to make her your friend.

Jessie Thurecht hails from Elizabeth City, North Carolina. She is a senior, majoring in biology, and will graduate in November. After graduation, she plans to spend a few more months at Elon taking special courses. Later she plans to attend Emory University at Emory, Ga.

During her years at Elon, Jessie has taken an active part in all campus activities. Last year she was junior attendant in the May Court and vice president of the student body. She is a member of the Delta Upsilon Kappa Sorority, listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, and is a member of the Pi Gamma Mu National Science fraternity.

It seems that Jessie has quite a few more likes than dislikes. Elon College and all that goes with it (that includes a lot) heads her list of likes. Good food and times run a close second, followed by boy-break dances with oodles of good-looking men. (Remember when the cadets were here? That's how she likes dances.) And, of course Jessie didn't mention it, but we think flower gardens and sailors should come in here someplace. For more information on that subject, see Jessie.

Her dislikes, which are few, run along the line of food and people. She simply can not stand lamb chops, stewed tomatoes, and catty people. Just one warning—be sure to spell her last name correctly at all times.

Jessie, no matter where you go—make the best of everything you wish you.

HOUSEHOLD ARTS CLUB ENTERTAINS STUDENTS

The Household Arts Club entertained home economics students on September 26 at a spaghetti supper.

All the new members of the home economics department were invited to an informal get-together which was to familiarize them with some of the work of the club. The old members prepared and served the meal and acted as hostesses.

At the end of the meal everyone stood up and told their names, where they were from and why they came to Elon.

The officers of the club this year are Mary Lib Simpson, president; Mary Griffin, vice president; and Maxine Cole, secretary-treasurer. The program committee consists of Marian Griffin, Margaret Rice, and Doris King. Miss Lida Muse is faculty advisor to the club.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Girls! Girls! Come one, come all and listen carefully. Some of the campus romeos have informed me of what they noticed first about a girl and I'm just passing it on to you. So, if you have a secret heart-throb just take some of these hints and see what happens.

Question: What do you notice first about a girl?

Earl Daniley: Her general appearance and her actions.

Homer Euliss: I notice whether she's male or female, then blond or brunette (I always get in trouble with blonds), shape, whether she is pretty or whether she's "ain't", and then if she'll have anything to do with me.

P. S.: You good looking girls, Frosh Thomas wants to know if you like tall, good-looking, blue-eyed sailors? ... I wonder who he could mean?

Tommy Horner: Character—then appearance.

Leon Hinton: Her general appearance.

Bill Love: Her appearance, the way she meets people, the way she dresses, walks and her pronunciation of words.

Harold Walton: Her personality, looks, friendliness, eyes and hair.

Clarence Brown: Her personality, legs, and hair.

Jack Foster: If she's a likeable person and if her conversation is interesting.

Jack Burch: (We decided not to ask him!)

Al Burlingame: Her smile and her general formation.

Lem Allen: Whether the seams of her stockings are straight or not.

Emerson Whatley: Whether her legs are straight or not.

Bob Dyer: Legs!

Perry Asycue: Personality.

HILDA NEESE TO HEAD PANVIO LITERARY SOCIETY

Hilda Neese was elected president of the Panvio Literary Society for this year at the last meeting held in Society Hall September 26th at 8 o'clock. She is to take the place of Ruth Webster who did not return this year. The other officers are as follows: Vice president, Dale Burkhead; secretary, Lib Johnson; treasurer, Sarah Brewer. Miss Ann McCleny is acting as sponsor of the group. New members will be taken in in the near future.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS OCTOBER 1-8 AS NEWSPAPER WEEK

Governor Cherry has proclaimed this week as "Newspaper Week," and pointed out that the "perpetuation of the peace we have so recently won is in large measure the responsibility of the press."

The governor expressed the hope that his proclamation will "revive the thinking of the public concerning this institution—the free press of our State and Nation—which is the product of the Constitution and the servant of the public."

WHO'S WHO STUDENTS NAME FAVORITE ARTISTS

To prove that the outstanding college students of America have good taste in their choice of favorite artists and celebrities, we present here a few of the facts revealed in the 1944-45 issue of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. The opinions of fourteen ELON students of last year are included in the consensus.

Lloyd C. Douglas was proclaimed the favorite present-day author; and receiving almost as many votes was Ernest Hemingway, the favorite of last year. Shakespeare was again selected by a tremendous majority as the best author of all time. The choice books to be read during a year alone on an uninhabited island remained the same as in other years—the BIBLE, Shakespeare's works, and some volume of poetry. Frequent choices were GONE WITH THE WIND, WAR AND PEACE, ROBINSON CRUSOE, THE MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION, the Boy Scout Manual, and the dictionary. THE READER'S DIGEST, LIFE, TIME, and THE SATURDAY EVENING POST were the most popular magazines.

In accordance with the students' interest in literature about the war, they selected H. V. Kaltenborn as the most popular radio commentator. It was the second year for him to surpass Lowell Thomas. Walter Winchell received third place.

The New York Philharmonic Concert on Sunday afternoon was the favorite radio program. "Information, Please" was the program selected for second place. Bob Hope's program, "The Hour of Charm," "American Album of Familiar Music," "Hit Parade," and "Take it or Leave It," were general favorites.

Beethoven was this year selected as the favorite composer. Second place went to Tchaikowsky and George Gershwin. Debussy, Chopin, Strauss, Irving Berlin and Victor Herbert were often listed as favorite composers.

The orchestras most often selected were the New York Philharmonic and Andre Kostelanetz'. Receiving an almost equal number of votes were the Boston Symphony, Harry James, Tommy Dorsey, and Glenn Miller.

Sports, reading, and dancing were listed as the most popular pastimes. According to these students the top-ranking screen actors and actresses, in consecutive order are, Spencer Tracy and Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon and Bette Davis, and Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman.

Franklin Roosevelt was selected as the most popular individual in the world at the time, and the Christ as the most popular figure of the past. Winston Churchill held second place for today's popularity and Abraham Lincoln for the past time.

SENIOR ESSAY TOPICS DUE BEFORE OCTOBER 16

Seniors who have received permission from their major professor to write an essay in lieu of a comprehensive examination are expected to turn in their essay topics to their major professor on or before October 16. Those who are not going to write an essay are required to take their comprehensive examination before December 1. Details concerning this may be found on pages 45 and 46 of the College Catalogue.
