HALLOWEEN PARTY IN GYM TONIGHT PLAYERS TO GIVE "JUNIOR MISS" NOV. 13-14

Maxie Graham Stars With Nash And Campbell

The Elon Players will present their first production of the season in Whitley Auditorium on November 13 and 14—Sally Benson's delightfully humorous play "Junior Miss." The following two nights the cast will give performances in Burlington. Starred are Maxie Graham, of Trollinwood, who plays the part of Judy Graves, around whom the story revolves; Amy Campbell, of Montclair, N. J., who portray's Judy's mother; and Ed Nash, of Durham, as Mr. Graves.

Miss Graham won the role of Judy in a contest held in Burlington. Two other "teen-agers" who competed for the part were awarded supporting roles: June Matkins, a junior at Elon high school, and Carole Overman, of Burlington high school and they will appear as Lois Graves, Judy's sister, and Fluffy, Judy's "closest and dearest friend," respectively.

Other well-filled supporting roles have been taken by Ray Day, as [Isak-kell Cummings, Kathy Young as Hilda, the maid; Earl Danieley, as J. B. Curtis; and Bob Furr, as "Uncle Willis" Reynolds. The minor parts are ably performed by Arthur Dickson, Brantley Waugh, Kermit Inman, Bill Thompson, Andre Saltoun, and George McCaughrean.

"Junior Miss" is being produced under the capable direction of Mrs. Elizabeth R. Smith, director of the Department of Dramatics, and rehearsals are being held three times weekly in Mooney Chapel.

Season tickets, which sell for $1.23, will admit purchaser to this and the two other plays to be given by the Players this season, "Night Must Fall," and "Ah Wilderness."

Jack Freeman Elected To Head Student Senate

Jack Freeman, a junior from Forest City, N. C., was elected to one of the most important posts in the Student Government Association at Elon, the presidency of the Student Senate, during fall elections at student chapel on Monday, October 28. He succeeds Joe Golombek, Portsmouth, Va., senior, who recently resigned to devote more time to his studies and basketball.

Miss Dorothy Shackelford, Phoebus, Va., was elected secretary of the Women's Council, to succeed Miss Lois Mintz, of Wilmington, N. C.

Doing away with the customary drawn-out process of primaries and follow-up election, Fred Register, president of the student body, called for nominations and quickly carried out the voting procedure, in order that the elected officers might fill their positions immediately.

Other fall elections, held by the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore classes, had the following results: The seniors elected Finley Thompson, of Snow Camp, N. C., as their class representative on the Student Senate; the juniors elected Warren Ellington, of Reidsville, N. C., to the Senate, and Miss Jane McCauley, of Waverly, Va., to the Council; and the sophomores chose Billy Stafford, of Burlington, to the office of vice-president.

The Day Students' organization has yet to elect its representative to the Women's Council, but that office will be voted on at the next Day Student meeting.

UN DISCUSSED BY DR. HIRSCH AS IRC MEETS

About 35 people attended the International Relations Club meeting held in Dr. Hirsch's classroom last Monday night. This was the first in a series of weekly meetings scheduled for the school year. The purpose of the IRC is to promote a better understanding of current international and national problems.

Following a short business session, Alton Wright, Jonesboro, club president, introduced Dr. Hirsch, who gave an informative and interesting talk on the United Nations organization.

In closing Dr. Hirsch explained that we shouldn't expect too much from the United Nations organization until some of its organizational problems are solved and methods of procedure have been established.

Officers of the club, besides Wright, are Arthur (Yank) Dickson, Mineola, L. I., vice-president; Amy Campbell, Montclair, N. J., recording secretary; and Vernon Phelps, Norfolk, Va., corresponding secretary.

LIEUT. CHARLES BRINDLER, U. S. N.

Navy Band To Present Concert Here Monday

The official United States Navy Band, which has received wide acclaim from music critics since it started its annual fall tour this year for the first time since 1941, will appear in Whitley auditorium Monday, November 4, for a matinee and evening performance, sponsored by the Burlington Junior Chamber of Commerce. The tour which the band is taking includes 15 Southeastern states and more than 50 cities.

Included in the concert will be the following featured selections: David Rose's popular composition, "Holiday for Strings," Johann Strauss's "Tales From Vienna Woods," Ferde Grofe's "Mississippi Suite," and Morton Gould's "Jericho."

The Navy band consists of 50 musicians and seven soloists. The band, which is heard regularly over the National Broadcasting and Mutual networks, will present a variety concert program of nearly two hours. The program is aimed to please an audience of lovers of all types of music by composers from the past and present.

Tickets for the performance are now being sold by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, as well as by many stores in Burlington and Graham. Student tickets will be on sale for fifty cents at the Elon Grill.

Lieut. Brindler, leader of the band, enlisted in the Navy at the age of 15. At that time, 1913, young performers of exceptional ability were accepted as "Learners for Musicians," a rating long since abolished. Before joining the Navy, he was solo clarinetist in the John Wanamaker Band of New York, and also played in the orchestra of the old Academy of Music on Fourteenth Street of New York. During World War I, he served aboard the USS Florida in Mediterranean waters.

After four years of service aboard the USS Florida, Lieut. Brindler was ordered to Washington, D. C., for duty with the band where he became solo clarinetist. He became assistant leader of the band in 1937, and was appointed leader in February, 1942, by Frank Knox, secretary of the Navy.

Lieutenant Brindler's principal hobby is music and its history. His memory is as retentive concerning musicians as it is in keeping their scores at his finger tips. He is not only well known to Washington, but also to the thousands of visitors to the nation's Capital who have attended ed concerts performed by the United States Navy Band under the able direction of Lieut. Brindler's baton.
