

Many Elon Students Have Part-Time Jobs

By FREDDIE WILLIAMSON
Many of the Elon students take time from their daily studies to work at jobs, both on and off the campus. Although the college does not operate an official employment service, students are able to secure jobs for which they are paid by the college.

Records in the business office reveal that there are now fifty-five students on the college payroll and paid through that office. However, this is not the exact number of students working on the campus, for there are several others who are paid through special departmental allowances or other arrangements.

To name all the employees and their duties would produce a long and cumbersome report. Categorically, however, the various jobs fall into such classes as maintenance, hostesses, switchboard operators, laboratory instructors, assistants to professors, chapel checkers, secretary, dining hall personnel, library assistants and construction. Duties of various groups are apparent. Even the day students may be seen working, some typing, others painting and still others grading papers.

With a limited number of job possibilities on campus, many students have accepted part-time jobs in Burlington and surrounding towns. It is estimated that well over fifty percent of the day students have jobs afternoons and weekends, and there are some dormitory students thus employed.

It may well be pointed out that, whereas employment is a part-time deviation from studies for many students, the opposite is true for some who have full-time jobs which they have retained in spite of their desire for an education. School for them is the part-time job.

It is apparent to most everyone that the student who goes to school and works part-time belongs to the class which exerts extra efforts to excel, both at his job and his class work.

Science Club Sees Carolina Supply

Last Wednesday afternoon proved an interesting occasion for the Science Club, when the group visited the laboratories of the Carolina Biological Supply Company, one of the very few such enterprises in the United States.

Guided through the company's maze of laboratories, the students saw many interesting specimens, varying from one-celled animals to dogs. Especially interesting was the new method of mounting the specimens in plastic to prevent accidental disassembly of the animal or plant.

Through the combined resources of the college's classrooms and their jobs, the self-help students are receiving double benefits. Through "book-learning" they are obtaining the "know-how," and through employment they are exerting the "show-how."

WAA Displays Work At Open House Event

The Women's Athletic Association, newly formed athletic organization for Elon College girls, which replaces the old Girls' Intramural Council, held "Open House" in its headquarters room on the first floor of Ladies' Hall from 3 until 5 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon of last week.

More than fifty girls and a number of faculty members availed themselves of the hospitality of the Association and viewed examples of the splendid work being done in the girls' physical education program this year under the direction of Miss Ruby Adams.

The visitors were greeted in the rear hall of the dormitory and were served delicious refreshments before being shown into the main office of the association, where they were greeted by Miss Adams and the girls' physical education majors, who guide the destinies of the newly created athletic organization.

The exhibits on display included diagrams of the various tournaments conducted by the group, pictures of championship teams, the girls' intramural trophies won last year in various sports, varied sports equipment and a highly interesting scrapbook of clippings on girls' sports activities.

The girls who called during the "Open House" were presented with a copy of the new constitution of the Women's Athletic Association, which outlines fully the plans for the physical education program. The new constitution will be submitted soon to a vote of all the girls now attending Yale. This constitution provides that physical education majors shall act as managers for the various sports, but it provides for an Athletic Council to be composed of two representatives from West Dormitory, one from Ladies' Hall, one from the day students' group and one each from the four sororities.

NEWSPAPER GUESTS

Several other press and radio men from various parts of the state wrote or telephoned in their regrets, either before or after the event, and expressed their intention to visit Elon in the near future and see for themselves the largest and finest gymnasium in the North State Conference.

NEW PHONES WILL BE PLACED SOON

The Southern Bell Telephone Company, of Burlington, has approved the installation of additional phones on the Elon campus, according to information from the office of W. E. Butler, business manager of the college.

Mr. Butler stated that the added telephones were ordered several weeks ago and will be installed as soon as the company has equipment to fill the order. The phones will probably be located in North and South dormitories, the Vet's Court and the Student Union.

Jay-Vee Cage Squad Wins

The Jay-Vee basketball squad, coached by Lou Savini, last year's varsity captain, has rolled up an excellent record in early season, scoring five wins in seven starts. Composed mostly of freshmen, the Baby Christian combination has been showing plenty of scoring power and promises to furnish some varsity stars for future seasons.

The Jay-Vees have lost only to Carolina Freshmen and to Burlington High School, the latter in overtime, and have scored impressive wins over Goldsboro High, McCrary Jay-Vees, Catawba Jay-Vees, Burnett's semi-pros and a combined Mebane-Graham High squad. The win over Catawba 63 to 41 broke a ten-game win streak for the Indian youngsters.

Since moving into the new gymnasium Savini's tossers have won three games, with average scores of 72 points per game and have held their opposition to an average of 38 points. The same three games have shown the Baby Christians hit on 94 floor shots in 259 attempts for an average of 36.3 percent.

Husky Hall has been the leading individual scorer in the three games in the new gymnasium with a total of 39 points. Other individual scorers in these three games have been Nester 34, Jones 30, Joyce 21, Myers 20, Leigh 18, Hamrick 17, Robertson 16, Taylor 10, Owen 5, Blackstone 5, and Bailey 3.

Home Economics Girls Host At Lovely Tea

The Home Economics Department was host to the faculty, the college girls and a few outside guests at a musical tea in Society Hall from 3 until 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, January 18th. The tea, which was lovely in every detail, was indicative of the high calibre of work being done by the department this year.

The guests, upon arrival, were presented to the receiving line by Misses Mary Elizabeth King and Martha Ellen Johnson. In the receiving line were Mrs. Lucy Everett and Misses Gynelle Sutton, Beth Raines and Flora Gilbert, all students of the department, Miss Louise Ramsey, head of the Home Economics program, and Mrs. George Colclough, who assisted with the program.

Mrs. Leon E. Smith, Sr., poured assisted by Miss Ellen Doris Huey. Others assisting in the entertaining were Misses Beverly Simpson, Joan McIntyre, Phyllis Tucker, Jane Peterson, Melva Foster, Dolores Evans, Sonja Albert and Della Crutchfield and Mrs. Eleanor Abell.

An outstanding feature of the occasion was the musical program under the direction of Fred Sahlman, of the Music Department. Charles Lyman sang "The Two Grenadiers," by Schuman; Mr. Sahlman rendered "The Nails Waltz," piano arrangement by Dohnanyi; Miss Dolores Evans sang "My Saint-Saens; and Mr. Sahlman closed the program by playing three Gershwin preludes.

COAL SHORTAGE IS ALLEVIATED

The coal shortage, which had threatened Elon College with chill dormitories and class rooms and perhaps a lack of necessary power, was realized at least temporarily last week when the college was the proud recipient of one carload of the precious black fuel.

The coal bins over at the power plant were virtually empty when the shipment arrived, but college administrative officials stated that the one carload had staved off a crisis by slightly over one week and that prospects were good for an additional supply

East Dorm Takes Volley Ball Title

The boys from East Dorm retained their campus volley ball championship when they defeated the ITK aggregation in the play-off battle. The two rivals had clinched the titles in their respective leagues and met in a special game to decide the final honors.

East clinched the American League crown in regular season play, while ITK had to defeat South in another play-off for the National League lead. The South team defeated Sigma Phi Beta for third place in the campus standings.

George and Harry's New Haven, Conn.

In New Haven, George and Harry's is a favorite student gathering spot. At George and Harry's—Coca-Cola is the favorite drink. With the college crowd at Yale, as with every crowd—Coke belongs.
