

Elon Meets Quaker Five In First Tournney Battle

The Elon Christians, who got the fourth seeded spot in the fifteenth annual North State Conference Tournament by virtue of their fourth place finish during regular season, will battle the Guilford Quakers in the first game of the tournament tonight. The game is set for 7:30 o'clock in Lexington's beautiful Y.M.C.A. gymnasium.

The other battle set for tonight pits the second-seeded Atlantic Christian Bulldogs against the Catawba Indians at 9:15 o'clock. Other first-round battles are set for tomorrow night, with third-seeded East Carolina meeting High Point at 7:30 o'clock and with top-seeded Lenoir Rhyne meeting Appalachian at 10:15 o'clock.

Music Recital Set For Sunday

Donald McDaniel, tenor from Fayetteville, and Laura Seamon, mezzo-soprano from Henderson, both of them sophomore music majors, will be presented in a joint voice recital in Whitley Auditorium at 4 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, Feb. 27th. Nanette Matchan, of Charleston, S. C., will be accompanist for McDaniel, while Margaret Anne Boland, of Elon College, will be accompanist for Miss Seamon. Both McDaniel and Miss Seamon are voice students of Miss Elizabeth Nelms.

Three Teams Lead Campus Cage Loops

Three intramural cage squads shared top honors in the two campus cage leagues as the season swung into its final week, with South Dorm holding the lead in the Dormitory League and with Day Students and Sigma Phi tied for the lead in the Fraternity League.

South Dorm climbed into the undisputed lead in the Dormitory loop with four successive victories since publication of the most recent standings. The boys from across the railroad chalked successive wins over ITK (B), North Dorm, East Dorm and East Penn. The Day Students had three straight wins over Alpha Pi, West Penn and ITK (A).

Intramural records topped on both the team and individual level when ITK (A) rolled over Alpha Pi by a margin of 113 to 71 last week. It was a new team mark and also a new record for the combined total of two teams. Lewis Robertson set a new individual mark with 52 points for ITK.

Top five scorers in the Fraternity League are Robertson (ITK) 138, Gaitner (Kappa Psi) 132, Rice Kappa Psi 106, Barnes (Sigma Phi) 103, and McGee (Alpha Phi) 98. The top five in the Dormitory loop are Gould (East Penn) 111, Green (South Dorm) 100, Slaughter (South Dorm) 99, Beck (North Dorm) 84, and Richards (East Penn) 74.

HOME EC GIRLS ENTERTAIN FOR CHAPEL SPEAKER

Pictured above is a scene from the coffee hour, at which the girls of the Home Economics Department honored Rev. Milo Strupl, a Czechoslovakian minister, who was a chapel speaker here on Friday morning February 11th. The visiting minister spoke on the subject of international relationships. Also honored along with the chapel speaker were the foreign students who are now attending Elon College. Left to right in the above picture are Violet Zarou, a student from Jordan; Rev. Milo Strupl, the visiting speaker; Laila Khury, also a student from Jordan; and Horst Mevius, a student from Germany. Other foreign students were not present when the picture was taken.

NEWMAN STORY

Dr. J. B. Newman, the second son, was graduated from Elon in 1921, and is presently a successful dentist in Burlington. He is married to Ann Rawls, class of '31, and they have three children, Jo Ann, J. B., Jr. and Emmaline.

Dan Long Newman is an Elon graduate in the class of 1929 and is the youngest son of the late Dr. Newman. He is presently engaged in work in Vernon, Ala., working as a time clerk for the Alabama State Tax Commission. He also does a great deal of Red Cross work.

A Real Elon Family

More than fifty immediate members of Dr. Newman's family are graduates of Elon College, and many others attended, but did not graduate.

It is interesting to note that Mrs. J. U. Newman, Sr., was the one responsible for the senior oak remaining on the campus. The oak was scheduled to be removed from Elon, but Mrs. Newman demanded that it be allowed to stay, and her wish was granted to the infinite pleasure of those who have kept trysts at its base.

In addition to belonging to a family that has been outstanding in Elon history, Miss Newman holds the honor of being the first child to be born at Elon to a member of the Elon College faculty.

Miss Newman never attended high school but was tutored by her mother. Entering Elon College in 1908, she majored in English. She later did graduate work at Columbia and Harvard, and later returned to Elon, where she received her diploma in art in 1916.

A hobby that Miss Newman loves and enjoys is gardening, something that her father also loved. She also likes to fish and is fond of baseball.

Such has been the career of one of Elon most interested and most interesting supporters. As a child, as a student, and as a faculty member, Miss Newman has contributed much to the history of the college. She might well be described as the embodiment of the Elon spirit.

Barter Play Is Scheduled March 23rd

The famous Barter Theatre of Virginia, which has been presenting shows on the Elon campus annually for the past several years, will present Shakespeare's "Macbeth" in Whitley Auditorium on Wednesday night, March 23rd, according to an announcement from President Leon E. Smith this week.

The Barter Theatre group, which was founded at Abingdon, Va., in 1932 in an effort to furnish actors with employment during the depression years, has long been recognized as one of the top theatrical touring groups in the country, and it has scored hundreds of dramatic successes both in this country and abroad.

The Virginia theatrical group chose Shakespeare's "Two Gentlemen of Verona" for its showing here last year, but this year the group has chosen to turn from Shakespeare's comedy to tragedy, and the Barter performance of "Macbeth" has been acclaimed by critics so far this year as one of the finest performances in the history of the organization.

LIBRARY NOTES

The librarians, in calling attention to a few interesting books recently acquired, wish to call attention to an Elon alumnus and a very dear friend of the college who has demonstrated her love for and interest in the library by making the acquisition of the books possible.

Miss Ruth Johnson, a graduate with the Class of 1916 who is owner of the State Book Shop in Raleigh, through a generous discount and a number of outright gifts, made it possible for the library to acquire almost twice as many books as would have otherwise been possible.

The books covered many fields of interest, but space permits listing only a few, one of strong appeal to some readers being "American Science and Invention," a pictorial history of how American dreamers and inspired thinkers converted a wilderness into a wonderland of the world.

"Hammond's Pictorial Travel Atlas of Scenic America" will serve as an aid in planning a complete vacation or a magic carpet for armchair travel. "The Floating World" is a lively account of the great age of Japanese prints and the artists who created them, and "Chinese Painting" ranges over two thousand years of Chinese art.

Moving nearer the present and delving into the field of modern art, the librarians list the work of Cebanne, who figured prominently in the development of modern art. This book has over one hundred full-colored plates in the ultra-modern field.

Another pretty and interesting book is "T Treasury of Hymns," which contains the best-loved hymns of many churches. Every page is beautifully decorated by Frank Lieberman.

Maddox And Juratic Top 400-Point Scoring Figure

Dave Maddox and Ed Juratic, the one-two punch of the Elon scoring attack during the 1954-55 cage season, each topped the magic 400-mark in scoring for the regular season, during which the Fighting Christians played twenty-six games. Each will have at least one more game in the Conference tournament in which to add to his total for the year.

Maddox topped the squad for the season with 465 points, while Juratic dropped in 414 points. They became the fifth and sixth players in Elon cage history to score as many as 400 points in a single season. If the Christians Only other Elon players to score as many points in a single season were Don Halthcox, Ben Kendall, Dee Atkinson and Roney Cates. Halthcox holds the Elon season record with 607 points in 1952. Ben Kendall hit 565 in that same season, and Dee Atkinson tallied 512 in 1953. Roney Cates' top mark was 457 in 1947.

Seventeen players broke into the Elon line-up during the season just ended, and all of them scored at least once. More than half the players hit double figures in a number of games, but only Maddox and Juratic were able to average double digits for the entire year. Maddox averaged 17.9 while Juratic averaged 15.9 per game. These figures placed both boys in the upper brackets among the North State Conference scoring aces.

Ray Whitley was the only other Elon player to pass the 200-point mark during the regular season, but Don Packard has 196 points and may reach the 200-point record in tournament play this week. Earl Stone, Frank DeRita and Hank Hamrick were all above 100 points for the year.

ON THE SIDELINES

hoping the Christians show the type of play they are capable of in the tourney.

On The Light Side: At recent basketball games, the fans have been treated to a rare sight as a group of "girls" cavorted around the hardwood. Such entertainment was due to the initiation activities of various fraternities on the campus. In addition to dashing around the court, carrying signs and making fun of the referees, the boys have been taking to the court and shooting like professionals. There is a possibility that Coach Mathis might delve into the ranks of these star performers for the coming hardwood campaigns. Hats off—to these "ladies" of the hard floor.
