

REID THIS!

During the war when I was at Elon, the lads over at some kind of air force base at Greensboro were making serious inroads on the talent at West Dorm.

This represented a serious social challenge to me and the other broken down clowns who were at Elon at the time.

So you know what we did? We held a demonstration.

This kind of jazz is in vogue nowadays. When you don't like something, you demonstrate. It is not a new tactic. I doubt our silly demonstrations of nearly two decades ago were original, but it was a devil of a lot of fun.

Our demonstration consisted of filching a road sign with an arrow pointing to the Greensboro fly-boys' base. This we nailed on Senior Oak, with the arrows pointing toward West Dorm, of course.

For kicks, we also—I say we, actually it was old Reid who can now admit to such nonsense without fear of being thrown out of school—painted up a fake N. C. Department of Highways sign for good measure. In regulation black and white, we hooked up a directional sign to Delhi, India, and even figured out the mileage from Alamance County. This, when we should have been studying for a second year German quiz. I forget what mileage was on the Delhi sign, now, and I do not believe I ever did know the significance of the Delhi bit, anyway. It was simply youth which I wish I had more of right now.

So, probably, does Earl Danieley, a fellow with whom I went to school at Elon and whom you may hear about occasionally around campus even today.

Far be it from me to indict my former classmate, who is more than worthy of all the respect you can give him in his current job down there at Elon.

I am certain of this. Earl was once young enough to know about demonstrations, too. I know.

ous one and is not something which can be completed and filed."

"At the present time we are in the first steps of a thorough curriculum study," he said, "which is being directed by the curriculum committee of the college, and special committees of the trustees are also studying the organization and functions of the board of trustees. Through these and other efforts Elon College will be able to continue to improve its instructional program and to serve the students more effectively."

While at Miami Beach, Dr. Danieley also attended sessions of the annual Conference of Church-Related Colleges in the South and a meeting of PPublic Institution of Higher Learning. Prof. Alfred Hassell, who accompanied Dr. Danieley, attended the meetings of the Southern Association of College and University Registrars and Admissions Officers.

yard drive for the Christians' third touchdown. Wooten tossed thirteen to Crowder at the three, and Clements bucked over. Wooten passed to Jim Moore for another two-pointer and a 22 to 3 edge.

The Blue Stockings rallied for two touchdowns in the last half. An intercepted pas set up the first score, which came when Billy Eberhardt plunged four over the goal, with Hatfield kicking good. Eberhardt also scored the other TD after Bobby Joyner had carried Presbyterian 71 yards on a series of passes.

ALL-AMERICAN

GEORGE WOOTEN

Elon Star Is Selected For NAIA Squad

George Wooten, Fighting Christian quarterback, who had already won places on the All-Conference and All-District grid squads, hit the All-American lists last week when he was named by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics on its second defensive unit for the 1961 season.

The speedy Elon backfield star had already been accord honorable mention on the Associated Press Little All-American, but he became Elon's fourth All-American football player in the past twelve seasons when he gained the spot on the NAIA's second defensive unit.

The NAIA All-American was chosen by coaches from the 325 schools which compose the national organization, with the announcement of the selection being made public from Sacramento, Calif., where the NNAIA's national grid championship was played last Saturday between Pittsburgh State of Kansas and Linfield College of Oregon.

Wooten was one of three Carolinas Conference players to make the NAIA's Little All-American squad. Others were Ronnie Frye and Richard Kemp, end and full-back from Lenoir Rhyne, each of whom made the NAIA's second offensive unit.

Other and earlier Elon Little All-Americans included Arnold Melvin, tackle, who made the AP third team in 1949; Sal ero, tackle, who made the AP first team in 1950 and the AP second team in 1951; and Tony Carcaterra, end, who made the Williamson Little All-American in 1958.

Basketeers Facing Two Tournaments

The Fighting Christian cage squad, which completed its home court play for the pre-Christmas period by meeting Guilford here on Monday night, faces a busy schedule on the road during the closing weeks of December, with their assignments including two Yule season tournaments and a two-game invasion of Kentucky.

The Maroon and Gold hoopsters begin their road work tonight, when they open play in a three-day tournament to be played at Fort Lee, Va. The Fort Lee tourney will continue through Saturday of this week as eight teams battle for honors.

Coach Bill Miller and his boys will then swing westward into Kentucky, where the Christians will battle the strong Cumberland College quintet at Williamsburg on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week. These games will give Elon's Kentucky boys a chance to play in their home state for the only time this season.

After returning to the campus soon after Christmas day, the Elon cagers will then move into the North Carolina coastal area to compete for the second successive year in the annual Camp Lejeune Holiday Tournament. The Christians won consolation honors in the eight-team tourney last winter, and Coach Bill Miller and his boys hope to better that mark this year.

The Christians do not play on the home floor again until January 8th, for Coach Miller's boys will face two road games against Atlantic Christian and East Carolina in early January before returning home to meet Appalachian, Pembroke and Catawba in successive home encounters.

Elon Cagers Top Bulldogs By 24 Points

Grabbing a quick lead and holding it all the way, the Elon Christians shellacked the Atlantic Christian Bulldogs 82 to 58 here on Monday night, December 4th. The Elon win was the third in succession and the second in the Carolinas Conference in the young season.

Dewey Andrew, big Elon center, continued his power scoring, as he racked 25 points to pace the Elon attack against the Bulldogs, but he received able assistance from his Maroon and Gold teammates, for Elon had four men hitting in double figures for the night.

The score was knotted at 2-2 and 4-4 in the first two minutes, but Sonny Smith dropped a set shot from the corner after two and one-half minutes, and Elon was ahead for keeps. Dewey Andrew and Gary Teague paced Elon to an 18-5 edge at the eight minute mark, but the Bulldogs rallied to close the gap to 35-30 by half-time.

Bill Morningstar racked on a three-pointer thirty seconds into the second half, and Elon was off to the races, gradually stretching the lead as the game neared its end. Coach Bill Miller had an entire second unit in action during the closing minutes of play.

Not all of the Elon excellence was in shooting, for Gary Teague turned in a tremendous defensive job on Atlantic Christian's Jerry Fritz, holding the Bulldog ace to eight points on three field goals and a pair of foul shots. Jesse Branson, big Elon freshman, turned in a terrific exhibition of backboard play and chipped in nine points.

In addition to Dewey Andrew, other Elon players hitting double figures were Sonny Smith with 15, Gary Teague with 14 and Bill Morningstar with 12 points. Ray Smith, Bulldog substitute, had 12 points and was the only Atlantic Christian player in double digits for the night.

ELON RAILROAD STATION BELONGS TO PAST

The Elon College railroad station pictured above as workmen were tearing it down during the past month, is now only a memory and a part of this little college town's historic past. There are some still living who recall when the local railroad stop was known as Mill Point in the days before Elon College itself was founded, and there are countless others here who can remember when the trains stopping at the local station were important parts of every day to both students and townspeople, but those days are gone forever, for the old station is gone, and the trains stop no more.

Elon Pair Given Praise On Jobs

Coming as a distinct compliment to the secretarial training courses at Elon College is the news from Washington of commendations for excellent work done in government service by Mary Glenn Briggs and Charlesanna Briggs, twin sisters from Reidsville, who were students here at Elon for two years prior to last June.

Mary Glenn Briggs has been working since July in the Office of Manpower and Employment Statistics, while her sister has been assigned to prepare briefing books for the secretary and under-secretary of labor. Recent communications received here from the federal agencies praise the two for outstanding work.

Cage Squad Wins Game At Wofford

Hitting on more than fifty per cent of their floor shots, the Elon Christian cagers rolled over the Wofford Terriers at Wofford last Thursday night by a score of 77 to 61 to grab their fourth consecutive victory of the young season. The win also gave Elon a clean sweep of its two-game series with the Terriers.

Towering Dewey Andrew, Elon's fine junior center, continued his personal assault on the basket as he racked eleven field goals and five of seven free throws for 27 points, and he was joined in the scoring by three of his mates who also gained the double column figures in points.

Andrew teamed with Jesse Branson and Gary Teague in a three-ply attack which produced a decisive 37 to 24 lead at half-time. Then the Christians played the Terriers on better than even terms through the second half to run out the 77 to 61 final score.

The Christians played one of their best balanced games of the year, for they hit on 56 per cent of their floor shots and made good on 17 of 22 attempts at the charity stripe. The entire team played tight defensive ball and swept the boards for a team total of 67 rebounds.

In addition to Dewey Andrew's 27 point total, other double digit players included Jesse Branson with 19, Gary Teague with 16 and Bill Morningstar with 11 points. Branson paced the rebounding as he took down 19 ball off the boards.

The line-ups:

WAA Sends Large Group To Meeting

The Women's Athletic Association of Elon College was represented by a large delegation at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Athletic and Recreation Federation of College Women, which was held at Guilford College on Friday, December 1st.

No less than nineteen Elon College girls were included in the delegation which accompanied Mrs. Jeanne Griffin to the all-day meeting at Guilford, and Sue Hibbard represented Elon as a discussion leader in presenting the subject of "Responsibility of the WAA or WRA to the Individual."

It was announced that there will be no state convention held next year, since the national federation meeting is to be held at Woman's College, and the state meeting will be combined with the national session.

The Elon delegation, largest at the Guilford meeting, included Nancy Ellington, Anna Fulda, Sue Hibbard, Betty Strader, Annie Webb, Helen Horton, Robin Fields, Lee McCann, Ruth Chilton, Hazel Iskyan, Sally McDuffie, Mandy Gauer, Judy Maness, Ferebee Allen, Jane Loy, Sandra James, Betty Fletcher, Martha Barnes and Myra Blake.

Dewey Andrew, Elon center, was hitting for an average of 25.8 points per game after the Christian cagers had won four straight games this season.

Six Sports On Campus Sports Bill

Intramural sports swung back into high since Thanksgiving, with the opening of the basketball season, wrestling and continuation of the campus horseshoe tourney. At the same time the campus golf tournament came to a close, and Coach Johnny Wike announced plans for individual tourneys in badminton and ping pong.

Fourteen cage teams are entered in the hardwood firing, with Smith Hall having four teams and Carolina Hall with two squads in competition which sees Sigma Phi Beta just to defend the crown it won in a squeaker over Iota Tau Kappa last year. The ITK's should again be a strong challenger, with Eddie Clark, Jim Leviner and Jerry Osborne leading the way. Sigma Phi hopes rest on Wayne Mahanes, George Wooten, John DalCin and Dave McIntosh, back from last year's winner.

Kappa Psi Nu will be probably the most improved squad, since it has been strengthened by the addition of Jack Moore, Jim Hamill and John Graffio during the off-season, adding them to the veteran crew of John Munich, Allen Foster, Tom Oliver and Jim Holmes. This team could be strong enough to go all the way.

Sigma Mu Sigma's fortunes will rest greatly on the shoulders of untried sophomores. Ken Broda should add scoring power, along with Tommy Russ and Nick Cirotola. Paul Hyde will add height to an overall small squad, which also includes veterans Dick More, Dick Purdy, Jerry Drake and Lenzie Kiddle. Little is known of the Carolina or Smith Hall teams at this time.

In the campus open golf tourney, Leroy Myers brested Wally Vaughn for his second straight title, while eGeorge Wooten won the first flight by defeating his fraternity brother, Bill Piscatelli, in teh finals.

Twenty candidates are out for intramural wrestling, which may go on an intercollegiate status next year, and approximately twenty entries are competing in the horseshoe tourney. Individual meets in badminton and table tennis are planned after Christmas.
