

Sigma Mu Sigma Names Sweetheart For '61-'62

HIGH HONOR

BARBARA BURNETT

The Lambda Chapter of Sigma Mu Sigma, Masonic-affiliated social and service group on the Elon campus, has just announced the selection of Barbara Burnett, senior girl from Danville, Va., as the "Sigma Mu Sigma Sweetheart" for the 1962-1963 college year.

Miss Burnett, who is majoring in elementary education, had her first two years of college work at Averett College in Danville, but she transferred as a junior to Elon, where she takes part in many campus activities.

She is a member of Tau Zeta Phi sorority, secretary-treasurer of the senior class and a member of the college senate, in which she is a member of the judicial committee and a member of the finance committee. She served as a student marshal in both the May and August commencements this year.

As sweetheart of the Sigma Mu Sigma group this year, she will represent the fraternity as its sponsor in the Homecoming parade and will reign at various gatherings of the Sigma Mu members during the year.

The Sigma Mu Sigma group has selected its "sweetheart" annually for a number of years, always selecting a girl who is held in high esteem by the brothers. It is one of two high honors bestowed by the chapter each year, the other being the William Moseley Award, which is given each year to an outstanding senior. This award is made by a committee composed of members of faculty, Pan-Hellenic Council and the Sigma Mu Sigma chapter.

Carson-Newman

Only three yards from paydirt the Eagles fought to get over, but it looked as if another valiant Elon goal line stand was in the making as the Christians stifled the Eagles on three tries. However, Worthington cracked over from the two-yard line and Bobby Baker kicked the extra point making the score 22 to 12, thus adding the needed insurance points, which were the difference in a possible Christian victory.

Neither the Christians nor the Eagles were able to move the ball during the rest of the third frame and the game went into the decisive fourth quarter with the score remaining 22 to 12.

The Christian attack began to move midway in the final period. Wooten hit Johnson with a pass good for 27 yards. For a moment the drive seem stifled, but on a fourth down situation Wooten hit Wayne Mahanes for 15 yards to move within 10 yards of diagonally striped turf. Wooten then passed to Gordon Cox from seven yards out on fourth down to put the Christians within two points of at least a tie, as the two point conversion was also successful.

However, this was as close as the Christians could come. The last ditch grasp for victory was cut short when Carson-Newman took over on downs with only one minute remaining in the game, and the Eagles had a victory which left the Christians with a 3-2 record at the halfway point of the season.

Dave Baumgardner in the end zone with a seventeen yard pass. The kick for the extra point was good making the score 13-16 for the Pirates.

With only 5:10 remaining on the clock Mahanes took the kick-off and returned it to the Elon Tart and Gordon Cox moved the ball deep into enemy territory, and then on a fourth and one situation, Wooten sneaked for the first down with thirty seconds remaining. After a five-yard penalty he rolled out to his left and scored the winning TD, giving the Christians a well-deserved and hard fought victory.

ELON COLLEGE BAND WILL PLAY BIG PART IN HOMECOMING

The new Elon College marching band, the first such group to represent Elon in some years, made its first appearance of the year at the East Carolina football game on October 6th and received high praise. Further praise was forthcoming after the Carson-Newman battle, and the band is expected to be an outstanding feature of halftime festivities at tomorrow's Elon-Catawba grid contest. The group performs under the direction of Prof. Jack O. White, who was named as band director this year. ## Sanford Is Elon Visitor And Speaker

Dr. Nevitt Sanford, of the psychology faculty of Stanford University, who is a brother of Dr. John D. Sanford, of the Elon College physical education faculty, who is a guest of his brother here last Saturday and spoke to a faculty group at a coffee hour in McEwen Memorial Dining Hall.

The visiting speaker, who is director of the Institute for Study of Human Relations as well as professor of psychology at Stanford University, was in this area last week as leader of a two-day symposium on the Woman's College campus in Greensboro and took advantage of the opportunity to visit his brother here at Elon.

His visit with Dr. John D. Sanford and family here brought together two of three Sanford brothers, all of whom hold Ph. D. degrees and all of whom held administrative and teaching positions in universities and colleges. The third of the brothers in the college field of education is Dr. Fillmore H. Sanford, a member of the psychology faculty at the University of Texas.

Still another Sanford brother is active in the educational field, for T. Ryland Sanford serves as associate superintendent of schools at Newport News, a. A fifth brother is Taylor Sanford, a veteran college prep school coach, who now directs the sports program at Fort Lee, Va.

I.L.O. Official Speaks At Elon

David S. Blanchard, deputy director of the Washington branch of the International Labor Organization, will appear on the Elon Campus at 8 o'clock next Thursday night, when he speaks on "International Labor Organizations and World Affairs" as the first number of the annual Elon College lyceum series.

The visiting speaker has been on the staff of the International Labor Organization for fifteen years, having been stationed at Geneva, Switzerland, for twelve years as a specialist in maritime labor problems. He has held his present post since 1959.

In his former post at Geneva, Blanchard travelled extensively throughout the world, serving as a technical expert at various I. L. O. conferences and as personal representative of the director general of the organization.

and spokesman for the bill. A bill written by President Buie is in the Judicial Committee. Introduced by Sen. Saunders it involves changing the requirements for Freshman class meetings.

Two bills that were taken out of committee last week and voted on were bills involving Homecoming and the recent Liberal Arts Forum movie. Both were passed, appropriating money to pay for the movie and also to purchase Homecoming ribbons.

Several of the senators and class officers are working on measures that will be presented to the Senate after Homecoming. Speaker of the Senate Lynn Ryals reminds the students that the Senate convenes on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 8 o'clock, and that the meetings are open to all those students who are interested.

New Sloan Textbook Now In Use

Dr. W. W. Sloan, professor of Bible at Elon College, has just published in mimeographed form a new biblical textbook entitled "A Survey Between the Testaments." The book, like former biblical studies he has published, has developed from his college classes concerning the inter-testamental period.

The new volume is a companion work to Dr. Sloan's two earlier biblical textbooks, which are entitled "A Survey of the Old Testament" and "A Survey of the New Testament" and which are widely used both in this country and abroad.

A survey revealed recently that his Old Testament work has been used by about one hundred colleges, and his New Testament volume has been adopted by one of the Bible book clubs and has also been issued in paperback form. It has been reviewed by magazine as far away as Australia.

These earlier books by Dr. Sloan, surveyed the findings of Bible scholars in simple terms for laymen, and his most recent work does the same thing for the period between building of the wall around Jerusalem in 444 B. C., last event recorded in the Old Testament, and the formation of the Christian Church as it is recorded in the New Testament.

In speaking of his "A Survey Between the Testaments," Dr. Sloan points out that the recent discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls and the publication of a revised version of the Apocrypha has stirred much interest in the "hidden years" among both pastors and laymen.

The new book follows much the plan of his two earlier books. It contains forty short chapters, each followed by a list of questions, along with lists of other suggested material dealing with the period. Other works by Dr. Sloan in recent years have included a short volume on "Bible Lands and the Bible" for those interested in Palestine, along with two series of articles on the Bible for World Book Encyclopedia and numerous magazine articles and Sunday School lesson aids.

REID THIS!

I just may have it all over you undergraduates. I have never seen an Elon football team lose.

Ahem. I had better admit all. This fall, I saw my first game. Elon took the Apprentice School, 20-0.

It took me long enough to catch up with the old sport. When I was at Elon in the war years, we had an informal team, I might brag a mite. I was high scorer. I accounted for seven points.

Quit laughing at me. The team scored seven points that year.

In the all too many years that have gone by since, I put in time at Elon, it looks as though I never could be at the right stadium at the right time when Elon was playing. I have so many alma matters to keep up with I tramped around at two William and Mary Schools and one in which VPI had an interest that I simply missed seeing the Maroon and Gold people play.

The Apprentice game convinced me of a few things.

You have it good. A football team belongs on campus. I don't care what the eggheads say. Elon is all the better because it has a football team. It is a wholesome student activity, especially in a school the size of Elon. You get to know who is who on the team. Some of the other colleges I bummed around in regarded athletes as a bunch of bored Hessians.

I noted some splendid Elon volunteers at the Apprentice game—the cheerleaders. Obviously, things are in pretty good shape at the old school.

I now await the Elon's second trip up here to Tidewater, Va. There is a November game with the Frederick College Lions. I do hope Messrs. Tucker, Wooten, Yster, Cox et alis will do their bit to keep intact my record of never having seen Elon lose.

Ah, yes. I can see the headlines in our paper now:

CHRISTIANS UPSET LIONS IN ARENA.
