

REID THIS!

The big thing these days is "camp."

That, should you need an introduction, is the recall of facts which fall short of changing the beheld of the world.

Behold, then, high camp report about dear old Elo:

—In the summer session of 1944, the book store was in Alamance Hall, next door to the men's room.

—It was at the same location a year later, only I think they changed the rest rooms around.

—Twenty-two years ago, the dining hall was where the book store is now.

—During that period, most Alamance County roads were not paved.

—The Elo students' telephone, singular, hung on the wall at one end of West. It and the girls got locked up every night around 10.

—I got locked up in West with the telephone, but not the girls, in July of 1944.

—Unfortunately, I cannot recall the exact date. It was not that kind of a memorable occasion.

—The fourth step from the bottom on the West side of North Dorm was five inches high. The rest were nearly six.

—The man who ran the linotype machine for the Maroon and Gold was nicknamed Brownie.

—Boodling was the favorite pastime on campus. (Grammarian's note: Neckling is a synonym for boodling).

—Prof. A. L. Hook stored an Aeronca C-3 airplane on the west side of North Dorm in 1945.

—There was an urn in the O'Kelly monument in the '40's. The pot was removed by people mostly unknown. The school administration has spent some time and money toward retrieving it. I suggest the officials should have known better. Pennies saved don't always mean they'll be earned.

—In 1944-45, our basketball team won three and lost 17. I think it was, proving two things: (a) the about deal old Elo; (b) Appalachian was worse than we were then as we knocked 'em off twice.

—The post office was in the antique shop in my time. It was also a splendid place to play post office. Another note: There were about 400 more girls than men-folks.

—One of the hairy characters on campus two decades ago was a math and chemistry student by the name of Earl Danicley. I have often wondered if he ever amounted to anything.

FOOTBALL BANQUET

(Continued From Page One)

Gilliam, Burlington; Gary Karriker, Mooresville; Darrell Morgan, Gold Hill; Lee Johnson, Ashboro; Ray Wilson, McColl, S. C.; Lloyd Kanpe, Charlotte; Burgin Beale, Danville, Va.; H. L. Robinson, Lumberton; Don Foresta, Brooklyn, N. Y.; David Gentry, Brooklyville; Gary Jordan, Suffolk, Va.; David Oliphant, Mooresville; Doug Amick, Burlington; Perry Williams, Oxford; and Bill Miele, Irvington, N. J.

There were cheerleader awards for Carol Keith, Reidsville; Gwen Hancock, Fairfax, Va.; Mary Benson, Virginia Beach, Va.; Alice Harding, Kensington, Md.; Sandy Bergman, Uncasville, Conn.; Jane Hollar, Winston-Salem; Sherry Hepburn, Southwick, Mass.; Linda Rountree, Suffolk, Va.; Francine Gifford, Norfolk, Va.; and Nancy Myers, Ossining, N. Y., along with recognition for Miss Betty Brandon, faculty sponsor.

Coach Gary Matlocks paid special tribute to the Fighting Christian managers and trainers, including managers Asa Roper, Chase City, Va.; Ralph Mizelle, Suffolk, Va.; Benny Saunders, Ashboro; Jack Shirley, Waterford, Conn.; and Gordon Payne, Wayne, N. J.; and trainer Don Weed, of Elon College. A closing feature was the presentation by the football co-captains of gifts to the coaches and to President J. E. Danieley and Prof. Jack White for their efforts and support during the season.

Women's Athletic Group Continues Busy Program

The Women's Athletic Association is moving ahead with a busy schedule, with managers already named to get the annual basketball campaign underway and with the volleyball season having already come to a successful conclusion with the announcement of the All-Campus volleyball stars.

The girls chosen for the All-Campus Volley Ball outfit included Karen Reider, Marion Haffey, Myra Boone, Sandy Bergman, Elaine Crowder and Candy Hopewell. Alternates chosen included Carole Popowski, Martha Tedder, Edna Hall and Jo Warner.

Members of this All-Campus outfit are due to meet the Guilford College all-stars in a volleyball contest at Elon in the near future, with officials of the WAA hoping to have the Guilford girls as guests for dinner at the time of the game.

The managers for the upcoming girls' basketball season are Sandy Bergman and Carole Popowski, who requests team managers to file their player rosters at once in readiness for the beginning of play.

Candy Allenzo and Betsy Jones accompanied Mrs. Jeanne Griffin, director of girls' physical education at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro on February 8th for a basketball clinic. There is also a possibility that the WAA will send a delegation to a fencing and diving workshop to be held at N. C. State in Raleigh this weekend.

Catawba Is Victorious In Loop Battle

Although the Christian basketballers pulled a big rally in the closing minutes, coming from thirteen points back to knot the count at 69-all with 1:09 on the clock, they could not hold off a determined tribe of Catawba Indians who came blazing down the stretch for a 75-71 win on the Elon floor on Saturday night, January 15th.

The Carolinas Conference rivals, playing before a fine crowd that braved icy roads to witness the game, put on a hammer-and-tongs affair in the opening half, which saw the lead change hands thirteen times and the score tied eight times before the Indians grabbed a 37-32 margin at the break.

Dwight Durante, Catawba's sharpshooting freshman guard, pumped in 35 points, including 27 in the second half, as he paced the Catawba cagers to their upset triumph. Durante hit five of six Catawba points that came in the final minute to pull the Indians out to the win.

The Elon quint displayed a balanced scoring attack, with no less than five Christians showing double digit scoring, but the victory rode on the tremendous individual shooting of Durante for Catawba. Henry Goedeck paced Elon with 15, trailed by Bobby Atkins with 14 points. Such and Denhart each had 11 and Bowes 10 counters.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (71) Catawba (75)
F—Such (11) Parks (6)
F—Bowes (10) Bullock (7)
C—Goedeck (15) Snyder (16)
G—Atkins (14) Durante (35)
G—Denhart (11) Hackett (5)
Half-time: Catawba 37, Elon 32.
Elon subs — Van Lear 2, Davis 1.
Catawba subs — Hodges 4, Gamrot 2, Harwood.

Pointers Win

(Continued From Page Three)

High Point to an 8-1 mark in Conference play.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (59) High Point (88)
F—Such (9) McDermott (13)
F—Bowes (14) J. Davis (23)
C—Goedeck (21) Green
G—Atkins (8) Littles (37)
G—T. Davis (2) Picka (8)
Half-time: High Point 38, Elon 32.

Elon subs — Denhart 5, Pendry, Caddell. High Point subs — Springfield, Lindsay 7, Lowenthal, Tomlinson.

STATE LEADER

MRS. JANIE COUNCIL

Mrs. Janie Council, member of the Elon College faculty in the department of business education, was elected as state president of the North Carolina Business Education Council when that group held its annual winter gathering on the Elon campus recently.

Catawba Battle Is Delayed Again

It seems that the Elon Christians and the Catawba Indians were almost fated not to play this season, for they played their first engagement under difficulties on an icy night at Elon in mid-January and were then snowed out completely on the return battle at Catawba on January 29th.

Then on Monday night the two teams were scheduled to make up the snowed-out battle, with Catawba even postponing another scheduled contest to make the meeting possible, and before the game got underway one of the glass backboards quite literally exploded during warm-up drills when Catawba's Lawrence Bullock grabbed the basket and yanked it loose in trying to dunk the ball.

No other gymnasium was available, so Coaches Bill Miller and Sam Moir were forced to postpone the game again. If the game proves necessary in deciding seedings for the Carolinas Conference Tournament at Lexington, then it will be played tonight at Salisbury.

Scratch Sheet

(Continued From Page Three)

It is too much to ask in another championship this year. I hope that everyone will attend the tournament games and cheer the Christians on to three straight victories.

SPORT SHORTS

Former Elon basketball All-American Jesse Branson dropped down to see the Elon-Pfeiffer game a couple of weeks ago. Although still under contract with the Philadelphia 76er's, Jesse is now playing with the Trenton Colonials in the Eastern Basketball League. He is starting with the Colonials and averaging over 20 points a game, and in one game he pulled down 33 rebounds. Jesse informed me that he had an opportunity to go up to the 76er's in early January, but he declined the offer in favor of getting much playing time with Trenton rather than sitting on the bench with the 76er's. This is an indication that Jesse will return to the National Basketball Association next year, and with a lot of professional experience behind him. The only reason that the NBA overlooks the Eastern League is that the NBA teams have big names such as Chamberlain and Russell. I think Jesse is capable of playing in the NBA now, and with a little break, he should definitely make it next year.

Christians Top Camels As Campbell

Warming up a cold first half, the Fighting Christian cage squad ripped the nets with regularity in the second half as they turned back the Campbell College Camels at Campbell Monday night, January 17th, for a 69 to 64 victory in a non-conference contest.

The Christians must have found both foot warmers and hand warmers during intermission, for they needed less than three minutes of play to tie the score at 28-28. Richard Such hit the tying basket, and he went on to pace the Elon scoring through a second half that netted Elon 49 points and kept the Christians ahead all the way after moving ahead at 40-38 with twelve minutes left.

Such, who paced the Elon scoring for the game with 19 points, hit most of those points in the second half, but Bobby Atkins also found the range in that second half and scored an even dozen in that period to run his game total to 14 counters. Henry Goedeck and Bill Bowes racked 13 and 11 points to give Elon four men in double figures.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (69) Campbell (64)
F—Such (19) Wish (9)
F—Bowes (11) Dean (4)
C—Goedeck (13) Davis (15)
G—Atkins (14) Marshbanks (28)
G—Denhart (2) Robertson (8)
Half-time: Campbell 27, Elon 30.
Elon subs — Van Lear 3, Davis 7.
Campbell sub — Yencho.

Cage Squad Scores Well This Season

The Fighting Christian cagers have averaged slightly higher scoring on offense than they did last season, according to figures based on the first 21 games of the season, but they have also allowed the opposition to score somewhat higher than did the Elon College opponents in the first 21 games a year ago.

The team statistics compiled last weekend after these 1966 Christians had played 21 games with a mark of 12 wins and 9 losses, showed that the Elon cagers had scored a total of 1,576 points for an average of 75 points per game. A year ago, with exactly the same record of wins and losses in the first 21 tilts, the Christians had scored 1,559 points for an average of 74.2 points per tilt.

On the defensive side of the record, these 1966 Christians have allowed the opposition to score 1,570 points for an average of 74.8 points per game. This is more than six points per game higher than was the record of a year ago when the Christians allowed an average of only 68.4 points per game in the first 21 battles. The Christians are averaging slightly more than two rebounds per game under the mark they held in 21 games last year, and they have committed 409 fouls compared with 347 in 21 tilts last winter.

Henry Goedeck, who has consistently held a place among the top four scorers in the Carolinas Conference all season, has topped the Christian individual scoring through the first 21 tilts, having hit for 491 points and an average of 23.4 points per game. He has an average of 10.8 rebounds per game. Both figures represent the finest mark ever established by an Elon player during his freshman year.

Three other Elon players are averaging double figures for the season, with Bobby Atkins showing 14.5, Richard Such 11.4 and Bill Bowes 10.9 points per game.

GLORIOUS FEAST

(Continued From Page Two)

respect his fellow man while he is here and can appreciate it rather than wait until he is dead without the realization that someone actually was fond of him. Does this sound like sixteenth century logic? It is, the logic of the Renaissance Humanists?

OFFICERS FOR SENIOR CLASS

Officers who are guiding the affairs of the Elon senior class of 1966 are pictured above. Pictured left to right, they are Linda Johnston, of Fairfax, Va., vice-president; Scott Crabtree, of Durham, president; and Carol Keith, of Reidsville, Secretary-treasurer.

Cage Squad Downs Hose Five, 76-69

Playing without the services of lowering Bill Bowes, the Fighting Christian cagers got a fine record performance out of big Charlie Van Lear as Elon turned back the Presbyterian Blue Stockings 76 to 69 last Saturday night at the Blue Stockings' home court.

Van Lear, a big sophomore from Martinsville, Va., started at forward instead of Bowes, who was left at home with an injured ankle, and Van Lear came through with five field buckets in ten tries and added five of seven charity tosses for a total of 15 points. He also pulled down eight rebounds.

The Van Lear performance was not tops for the Christians, for Henry Goedeck again paced the Christian scoring with 20 points and grabbed down ten rebounds; and Richard Such contributed five field goals and six of seven free throws to be outdone by the Christian inside men, the two Elon guards also hit double digit scores, with Ron Denhart getting 12 and Bobby Atkins 11 points for the battle. Richard Quillen led the PC quint with 21, with Ken Martin and Jimmy Bankhead hitting 17 and 16 counters.

The victory over Presbyterian, the second of the year over the Blue Hose, was enough to clinch for the Elon cagers a berth among the eight teams in the Carolinas Conference Tournament at Lexington next week.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (76) Presbyterian (69)
F—Such (16) Quillen (21)
F—Van Lear (15) Bankhead (16)
C—Goedeck (11) Allen (8)
G—Atkins (20) Stine (2)
G—Denhart (12) Martin (17)
Half-time: Elon 37, Presbyterian 29.

Elon subs — Davis 2, Pendry, Caddell, Ashworth. Presbyterian subs — Reed 5.

Appalachian

(Continued From Page Three)

points per tilt. His average for the season after twenty games is 23.6 points per game.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (73) Appalachian (81)
F—Such (10) Key (18)
F—Bowes (12) Shuler (2)
C—Goedeck (29) Gray (15)
G—Atkins (19) Wilcox (16)
G—Davis (1) Sprinkle (23)
Half-time: Appalachian 38, Elon 26.

Elon sub — Denhart 2; Appalachian subs — Sitton 3, Beauchamp 2, Sposato, Hoffman.

Catamounts Score High To Top Elon

Henry Goedeck, Elon's big freshman pivot star, had his biggest night of the season as he banged in 35 points to tie Western Carolina's sharpshooting Henry Logan for individual scoring honors, but the home-standing Catamounts grabbed a big half-time lead and went on to topple the Elon Christians 106 to 92 in a Carolinas Conference battle at Cullowhee on Saturday night, February 5th.

The Elon freshman ace ripped the cords for 14 field buckets and added seven of eight shots from the charity stripe for his 35 point total, which incidentally was the second time of the week that Goedeck had topped the 30-point mark. He had chipped in 32 counters against Presbyterian three nights earlier. Logan had 16 field goals and three free throws for his 35 points.

The Catamounts, led as usual by the deadshot antics of Henry Logan, jumped to a 9 to 0 lead in the opening moments of the game and continued to dominate the first half as they rolled for a 57-36 edge at intermission. Elon came back after the break with much better play and led Western Carolina 56 to 49 in the final twenty minutes of play, but the early deficit was too much to be overcome.

Both teams presented balanced scoring in the offensive contest, but Western Carolina held the edge in the spread as the Catamounts put five men in double figures, while Elon could show only four players hitting for better than ten points.

In addition to Henry Goedeck with his 35 points, Elon showed Bobby Atkins with 18, Bill Bowes with 16 and Richard Such with 11 counters. The Cats, in addition to Logan's 35-point effort, showed Greg Wittman with 23.

The line-ups:
Pos. Elon (92) W. Carolina (106)
F—Such (11) Thompson (10)
F—Bowes (16) Gilbert (10)
C—Goedeck (35) Wittman (23)
G—Atkins (18) McConnell (22)
G—Davis (4) Logan (35)
Half-time: Western Carolina 57, Elon 36.

Elon subs — Denhart, Van Lear 4. Western Carolina subs — Brintnall 4, Bloom 2, Pittman, Beaver.

Studies piling up?
Pause. Have a Coke.
Coca-Cola — with a lively lift and never too sweet, refreshes best.

things go better with Coke

Bottled under the authority of The Coca-Cola Company by BURLINGTON COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY