

Artley Plans String Clinic For Summer

Dr. Malvin N. Artley, professor of string music and director of orchestra activities at Elon College, will conduct a two-weeks string music clinic on the Elon campus from June 8th through June 21st as a feature of the college's summer school program.

The string clinic will be open for all string instrument students in the area, regardless of age and grade level, according to a statement made today by Dr. Artley, who conducted similar clinics during nine previous summers when he was associated with the Burlington City Schools.

He announced that the deadline for registration was set for Friday, April 15th, this early deadline being made necessary so that arrangements can be made for necessary teaching personnel to assist Dr. Artley with the program.

The clinic will be conducted in three divisions, including the elementary and beginners division, the intermediate division and the advanced division. These three levels will take care of students from the lower grades of public school to those of college age and knowledge.

der the care of a governess, will be played by Pat Demeter, an Elon sophomore from Fords, N.J. This will be Pat's first appearance on the Elon stage, though she has been active on the technical side of productions for the past two seasons. The governess of Cecily, Miss Prism, will be portrayed by Newcomer Julie Hoskinson, a sophomore from Wheaton, Md.

Tom Warner, remembered recently for his outstanding performance as Marryin' Sam in "Lil Abner" and for leads in such past productions as "South Pacific" and "A Streetcar Named Desire," will be seen as The Reverend Chasuble, a minister in the town of Worthing's country house. Warner, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is currently a junior at Elon.

The parts of Merriman, John Worthing's butler, and Lane, Algernon's manservant, will be played by Ray Smith, freshman from Cincinnati, Ohio, and Tom Jeffery, a senior from Bethesda, Md.

And the Forum would also like to thank the Student Body for the support it has given the Forum all year. Were it not for their enthusiasm, the Forum would not have considered bringing to Elon this long train of scholars. The Forum hopes that each and every student enjoys the opportunity to hear some of the great academicians speak here.

Lastly, the members of the Forum wish to thank the chairman of the group, Rodney Barfield. He, more than any other person is responsible for the coming festivities. The hours he has spent in preparation for this scholarly week are uncountable. He certainly is to be commended for a job well done, and especially for his vigorous enthusiasm and sense of responsibility which he has shown.

In sum, the Liberal Arts Forum is deeply indebted to all the people listed above and to all those who could not be mentioned. All that can be said is simply, "Thanks!"

shape. Ferrell could make a major contribution to the Christians this fall.

Gary Karriker, a veteran letterman from Davidson, adds strength to the guard spots and is a dedicated performer. Dale Summers, from Thomasville, looked good during the spring drills. The quarterback spot will be bolstered by Wright Anderson, a freshman "red shirt" from Burgaw, from whom big things are expected. Another freshman "red shirt," Andy Smith, a 180-pounder from Atlanta, Ga., backs up Gentry at flanker back and has the speed and hands to be a fine receiver.

ATTENDS MEET

W. E. BUTLER, JR.

W. E. Butler, Jr., Elon College business manager, represented Elon at the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the Southern Association of College and University Business Officials at Dallas, Texas, from April 6th through 9th. The three-day meeting featured addresses by many outstanding educational and business leaders and drew attendance from colleges and universities throughout the South.

Catamounts Topple Elon In 2 Games

Still fighting desperately to break a losing streak in the Carolinas Conference play, the Elon Christians dropped a pair of hard-fought loop contests to the Western Carolina Catamounts on the Cullowhee field on Friday and Saturday, April 15th and 16th. The scores were 5 to 1 on Friday and 4 to 3 on Saturday.

Herbie Johnson, Elon's All-Conference mound ace, remained on the snake-bit list as he dropped another well-pitched game by a 5 to 1 count on Friday afternoon. Johnson allowed only eight well-scattered hits for the day, one of them was a three-run homer in the eighth by Western Carolina's Joe Fraser.

In the Saturday afternoon battle Jack Burtische and Burgh Deale combined pitching talent to limit the Catamounts to six hits, but four Elon errors proved fatal for the Christian victory hopes. Bobby Julia got two hits for Elon, but the Christians could only get five safeties for the game and left six runners stranded.

CARDEN AND ROBINSON WILL LEAD CHRISTIAN GRID TEAM

Mackie Carden (left), a rugged tackle from Durham, and Joe Robinson (right), a hard-nosed line star from Rockingham, will be co-captains for the Elon College football squad during the coming 1966 grid campaign, according to an announcement made this week by Coach Gary Mattocks. Carden played his freshman ball at Wake Forest, and Robinson played freshman ball at Clemson, but both elected to transfer to the Elon football camp after initial seasons at the two larger institutions. Both saw regular service with the Christian gridders last fall.

Linksmen Divide

Pfeiffer Meets

The Elon golfers, after opening wins over Atlantic Christian and Guilford, broke even in a pair of Carolinas Conference meets with the Pfeiffer Falcons, losing to the Falcons 14 to 6 away on March 31st and gaining revenge by a 12 to 8 count over the Arrowhead course on April 4th.

The Christian linksmen then ran into stormy going in battles with the Wilmington Seahawks at Wilmington and the Catawba Indians at Salisbury, dropping a 22½ to 1½ decision to Wilmington on April 6th and losing a 20 to 4 verdict to Catawba on April 15th. Jimmy Brown, only letterman on the Elon squad, has been Elon medalist in two recent meets.

ELON GIRLS WIN HONORS IN BEAUTY CONTEST

Laura Rice, talented Elon College senior from Burlington, is the new Miss Burlington for 1966, having won the crown in the annual Burlington beauty contest held at Williams High School Auditorium last Saturday night, April 16th. She is shown center above as the crown was placed upon her head by Linda Blackwell, who had held the Miss Burlington title for the past year. Two other Elon College students finished as runners-up to Miss Rice to give the college a sweep of the honors. They are Paulette Wespahl, of Hampton, Va., shown at the left, who was first-runner-up, and Barbara Allen Hancock, of Burlington, who was second runner-up.

Dr. James McManaway, one of the country's finest Shakespearean scholars, will lecture in McEwen Dining Hall at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The assistant director of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington will lecture on "Shakespeare's Quintessence of Dust." Professor McManaway, known as a fine teacher and lecturer, received the A. B. from the University of Virginia, the M.A. and Ph.D. from Johns Hopkins and the Lit. D. from Hofstra. His publications are also numerous and include "The Authorship of Shakespeare" and "Check List of English Plays: 1661-1770." His lecture will also be followed by a reception in West Dorm Parlor, with the public again invited.

The Festival Week will come to a conclusion next Friday, with the presentation of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" by the Elon College drama department. This is one of the world's outstanding plays and will furnish a beautiful conclusion to a brilliant week of cultural opportunity, a week which the Liberal Arts Forum hopes sincerely will have the complete support of all persons on the Elon campus.

The detailed program for the Festival Week follows:

This more than quadruples the present seating capacity of the Carlton Library and almost triples the book capacity. The entire new library building will be modern in every way, with air conditioning, carpeting and acoustical ceilings throughout. It will provide space for individual study carrels, along with space for preserving historical documents and exhibit space for art and cultural objects. When it is completed, the present Carlton Library will be renovated to provide added space for faculty offices and classrooms.
