

MAROON AND GOLD

Non-Profit Organization
U. S. POSTAGE
P A I D
Elon College, N. C.
PERMIT No. 1
RETURN REQUESTED

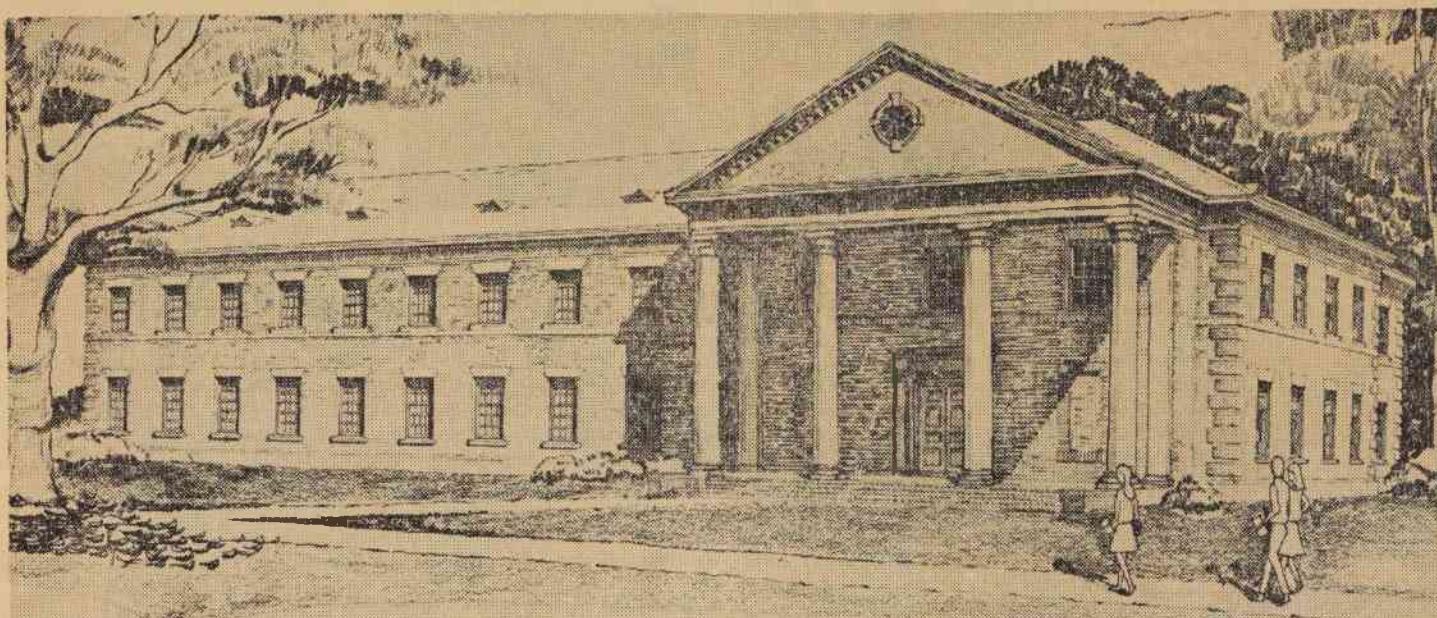

VOLUME 47

ELON COLLEGE, N. C.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1967

NUMBER 6

Bids Are Received For New Elon Library

The picture above is an architect's drawing of the new Elon College library building, which is to be erected on the southwest corner of Elon's walled campus adjacent to the McEwen Memorial Dining Hall. The ground for the structure was broken during the Parents' Day observance last fall, and bids were received during Christmas holidays for the basic construction that is to get underway about February 1st.

MRS. VIVIAN P. FLORENCE

Mrs. Florence Passes After Brief Illness

Mrs. Vivian P. Florence, 64, who had served for several years as a house mother in Elon College dormitories and who had become the first hostess for the new William S. Long Student Center when it opened some weeks before Christmas, died in a Burlington hospital on Sunday morning, January 1st, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Florence, who was a native of Wake County, the daughter of the late James and Alma Jesse Rarely Penney, was the widow of the late William Dewey Florence and was a member of the First Baptist Church of Burlington.

She first came to the Elon College campus in September of 1958 to become a house mother in one of the women's dormitories, and she later held the same position in one of the boys' dormitories before leaving Elon in 1962 to take a similar post at Louisburg College. She had returned to Elon this past fall, only a short time before her fatal illness struck during Christmas vacation.

A special campus memorial service was held in Whitley Auditorium on Friday, January 6th, with the Rev. John Graves conducting the memorial rites as a part of the college chapel convocation.

Elon Band Appears In Winter Concert

The Elon College Concert Band presented its fifth annual winter concert in Whitley Auditorium last night under the direction of Prof. Jack O. White, and it was heard with high praise by a large audience of both Elon students and townspeople.

The Elon band has gained wide acclaim for its performances as a marching unit during the Elon football season each fall, performing at halftime ceremonies of the games and in area parades, and it has gained equal praise each winter when the group transforms itself into a concert combination to present a varied program on the Whitley stage.

With Professor White also serving as a director of the Williams High School Band in Burlington this year, he invited a selected group of his Burlington youngsters to participate as guest artists with the college band in the winter program.

As the curtain opened on Thursday night the musicians blasted forth with Turlet's "French National Defile March," and this was followed by such well known and varied numbers as "Pastoral For Winds," "Chanson and Bourree," "Continuum For Winds" and "The Basses."

After an intermission, the program also featured Barnard's "Spirit Of Canaveral," "April in Paris," "Blow, Gabriel, Blow" and a special arrangement called "Carnival Of Melody" that included a number of popular and melodic favorites.

The musicians who appeared with the concert band in the Thursday night program, listed by instrumental groups, were as follows:

FLUTE: Candy Hopewell, Portsmouth, Va.; Laura Norville, Burlington; Barbara Crotts, Burlington; Carmen Black, Burlington; Denise Clark, Burlington.

OBOE: Laura Oaks, Burlington.

CLARINETS: Gary Johnson, Selma; Bob Gregory, Norfolk, Va.; Carson Kuhnert, Martinsville, Va.; Steve Peeler, Burlington; Lew Lucke, Burlington; Elizabeth Woolsey, Madison, N. J.; Joan Wilson, Wilmington, Del.; Melba Whitesell, Burlington; Janet Rippy, Burlington; Danny Childress, Burlington; Jo Anne Smith, Burlington; Tommy Burgess, Burlington; Anne Gordon, Burlington; Eddie Harris, Cary; Bill Marshall, Burlington; Paul Bleiberg, Wilmington, Del.

SAXOPHONES: Tom Lewis, Falls Church, Va.; Steve Griffin, Burlington; Danny Underwood, Greensboro, N. C.; and Bob Johnson, Charlottesville, Va.

CORNETS: Garth Hutson, Whitsett; Howard Eaton, Cary; Al Garrison, Burlington; Judy Lockhart, Graham; Wally Hardwick, Burlington; Eugene Perry, Burlington; Robert Truitt, Raleigh; Lindsey Wyatt, Wilson; John Papa, Cliffside, N. J.; and Kim Luffberry, Washington, D. C.

FRENCH HORNS: Judy Stevens, West Lebanon, N. H.; Nancy Morgan, Elon College; Lindsey Duhl, Athens, Ala.; and Terry DeLong, Charlottesville, Va.

TROMBONES: Elwood Porchia, Falls Mills, Va.; Butch Bayliff, Elon College; George Cannon, Newport News, Va.; and Elaine Sawyer, Washington, N. C.

BARITONES: Tom Short, Roanoke, Va.; and Cleo Perdue, Roanoke, Va.

TUBAS: Terry Sink, Winston-Salem; Jim White, Wytheville, Va.; and Dan Livingstone, Greensboro.

PERCUSSION: Barney Tysor, Burlington; Danny Fields, Burlington; David Abernathy, Lenoir; Agnes French, Clayton; Richard Watkins, Burlington; and Judy Hardy, Martinsville, Va.

USHERS (MAJORETTES): Anne Stegall, Henderson; Evaline Garrison, Burlington; Kay Savage, Whaleyville, Va.; Candy Allenzo, Bernardsville, N. J.; and Connie O'Brien, Franklin, Virginia.

Construction Is To Begin About Feb. 1

The Abrams Construction Company, of Greensboro, submitted the low bid of $478,340 for the basic construction work on the new Elon College library building, which is to be located at the southwest corner of Elon's walled campus.

This was announced on December 22nd by Dr. J. E. Danieley, President of Elon College, after a special meeting of the Elon College board of trustees held on the campus the previous day to canvas bids. The contract for the basic construction is to be signed at once, with construction to begin about February 1.

The bid submitted by the Greensboro firm does not include contracts for movable and fixed equipment, and these and other sub-contracts will be let later, according to the statement from Dr. Danieley.

The new library will provide space for 110,000 volumes and study spaces for 611 students at one time, compared with the present space for 60,000 volumes and 95 study seats found in the present Carlton Library on the Elon campus.

The proposed new library building, for which the ground was broken on the first Saturday in November, calls for a structure of traditional design to merge with other structures on the campus. It is to be three stories in height and will provide all the facilities which a modern college library should have.

The main floor will provide office and work space for the library staff, a circulation desk, a card catalogue, reference materials, space for current periodicals, catalogued phono discs and listening tables and study tables and chairs.

The basement floor will provide stack space, individual study carrels, study tables and chairs and storage space for periodicals to be sent to the bindery. The second floor will include a library orientation classroom, a room for historical documents and rare books, stacks, individual study carrels and exhibit space.

The entire new library building will be air-conditioned, with acoustical ceilings throughout, and the structure will be modern and attractively furnished in every respect, offering outstanding study facilities.

Music Students Present Recital

Four students of Prof. Walter Westerfer, of the Elon College music faculty, were heard in recital in Whitley Auditorium on the Elon campus last Friday night. The four students, all of the Burlington area, were Danny Chilton, Catherine Moore, Anita Rich and Nancy Thomas.

Miss Moore was joined by Prof. Gene Featherstone, of the Elon music faculty, in a performance of the Concerto for Two Pianos by Francis Poulenc, twentieth century French composer. Other compositions which were featured during the recital included the works of Bach, Debussy and Gershwin.

week-long symposium devoted to the humanistic studies and invites distinguished scholars from throughout the United States.

Dr. Engstrom is the author of numerous articles on Nineteenth Century French literature, literary criticism, comparative literature and symbolism. In addition he has served on the editorial boards of the University of North Carolina Studies in the Romance Languages and to serve on the advisory board of the new Southern Humanities Review.

The members of the Liberal Arts Forum at Elon this year include Carl King, Charlotte; Linda May, Richmond, Va.; Denny McGuire, Montvale, N. J.; Pat McCausland, Wantagh, N. Y.; Robert Model, Greenwich, Conn.; James Milward, Bloomfield, Conn.; Darryl Jennus, Dover, N. J.; Alex Oliver, Suffolk, Va.; and Fred Bright, Burlington. Prof. James P. Elder is faculty advisor for the group.