Powder Puff Grid Tilt Starts Program Today

By SKIP HINSHAW

The third annual Spring Weekend will commence at Elon this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the athletic field. The "fairer sex" on campus will gather there to participate in a Powder Puff Football Game, much to the delight of the male population.

The men on campus will then demonstrate their versatility and courage by performing in a "Mr. Amazon Contest" to be held at 4 o'clock on the porch of West Dormitory. Beginning at 5 o'clock, a pizza party will be held in McEwen Dining Hall to ease the hunger pains caused by the afternoon's activities.

The first day of the gala weekend will be concluded tonight with a talent contest and beauty pageant to be held in Whitley Auditorium at 7 o'clock. The talent show will feature various acts composed of students on campus. Cash awards of $25, $15, and $10 will be made to the winners.

Beauty Pageant Tonight

The beauty pageant will be a combined fashion show and beauty pageant. The girls will be judged on the clothes they wear as well as their beauty. Clothes for the girls are being furnished by Koury's of Burlington. The winner of the beauty contest will be crowned Spring Weekend Queen and will reign over the remainder of the weekend. Gifts for the queen will be supplied by Burlington merchants.

Organizations on campus have chosen representatives for the pageant and those entered include Myra Boone, Pat Cummings, Carolyn Freeman, Jane Hollar, Barbara Ippolito, Donna Lashley, Resa Robinson, Linda Sonovich, Margaret Weaver and Toni Wray. The queen will be announced at the pageant tonight.

Saturday's activities will begin at 11:30 o'clock in the morning with a picnic outside McEwen Dining Hall. The dress for the picnic will be Bermuda. At 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Elon baseball team plays Pembroke at Greensboro Memorial Stadium. Busses will be available to take students to the game.

Saturday night at 8 o'clock, a dance will be held in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium. Music will be furnished by Ben E. King and Orchestra, a world famous entertainer. All students and their dates will be admitted to the dance free of charge, and the public is invited to attend, at a charge of $1.50 per person. Tickets are on sale in the Student Government Association office. School clothes will be the dress for the dance which will conclude Saturday's events.

Concert On Sunday

"The Temptations" have released such records as "My Girl", "Since I Lost My Baby", "Ain't Too Proud To Beg", "Beauty Is Only Skin Deep", "Losing You", and many others too numerous to mention. Susan Clark, an Elon College junior from Winston-Salem, will be one of fifty-two college students from all parts of the United States to participate in the "Friendship Mexico 1967" project of the American Red Cross, according to an announcement just received from Red Cross officials.

The college students will spend six weeks in Mexico this summer, teaching water safety, first aid and home nursing to Mexican classes. The trip is planned at the invitation of the Mexican Red Cross.

New Group In Program On Vietnam

The newly formed Contemporary Affairs Symposium, which announced its purpose as "to present discussions, debates, seminars and guest speakers concerning contemporary affairs," made its debut on the campus on April 18th with a debate and discussion on the Vietnam War.

The first program staged by the campus group featured Prof. Charles Harper and Prof. Paul Sebo as the leaders of the discussion on the Vietnam situation. The new group staged its first program in the large conference room of the William S. Long Student Center, with the general public invited to hear the discussion.

The initial program was reported as a successful one with a large audience of both students and community people attending, and with considerable discussion from the audience on the subject of the Vietnam war. A reception was held following the formal portion of the program.

Elon College Draws Aid From Foundation Funds

The North Carolina Foundation of Church-Related Colleges, which unites twenty-four institutions of higher learning in the state in a cooperative appeal for funds through private philanthropy, has meant much to Elon College the thirteen years in which the organization has functioned.

During that thirteen-year period, Elon College has received a total of $222,118.69 from the Foundation, according to a statement this week from Dr. J. E. Danieleley, Elon's president, who points out that this share of Foundation funds has meant much to Elon College in a period when year-by-year demands for and cost of higher education have been increasing.

Dr. Danieleley pointed out that, in the face of rising costs, industry has taken over an increasing greater portion of the rising costs through corporate gifts to privately-endowed colleges. He cited the fact that the North Carolina Foundation of Church-Related Colleges has solicited and received constantly increasing donations from industrial groups.

Pin-pointing the industrial participation in educational costs, the Elon president pointed out that the Foundation received and distributed a total of $530,821.19 during the one year of 1965-66, of which $25,159.51 was received by Elon College. The remainder of the more than half a million dollars went to twenty-three other church-related colleges in North Carolina.

The North Carolina Foundation of Church-Related Colleges was founded in 1953 as a cooperative venture to promote independent action in the colleges and to assist corporate enterprise in meeting its responsibility for increased educational opportunities for young people in North Carolina.

The Foundation has grown rapidly during the thirteen years, but the colleges have also grown. In 1954 the twenty-four colleges had 11,792 students, compared with a combined enrollment of 21,120 students today. These colleges have current budgets amounting to $25,438,000 per year which are not subsidized by taxes

Cunningham, who was formerly chairman of the history department and dean of Elon College, returned to the Elon campus on Monday of last week to deliver a lecture on Civil War medicine as part of the Liberal Arts series of lectures in the humanities, which were held as a week-long series last week.

Dr. Cunningham, now a member of the history faculty at the University of Georgia, accepted the invitation to speak on the subject of "With Lee on the Peninsula: Aspects of Civil War Medicine" after Dr. Clement Eaton, of the University of Kentucky, was prevented by illness from meeting his appointment as a lecturer on the Elon campus for the Liberal Arts series.

The appearance of Dr. Cunningham on the Elon campus for the lecture last week was greeted with delight by his friends, and a goodly
