

Elon Commencement Plans Are Completed

Camerata Is Final Group For Lyceum

The Charlotte Camerata, well known musical group which has been acclaimed in programs at several North Carolina Colleges in recent years, won equal acclaim when it appeared in concert in Whitley Auditorium on Tuesday night of this week, appearing in the last of the series of Elon Lyceum programs for the 1966-67 year.

The Camerata group, which featured music in the baroque style, included Dr. Dale Higbee, flute, who has performed with the Charlotte Oratorio Orchestra, the Charlotte Symphonette and the Winston-Salem Singers Guild; and William Tritt, violin, also of the Oratorio Orchestra and Symphonette and the Winston-Salem Symphony.

Others in the group included Robert Ennis, violin, Samuel Citron, viola, and Kurt Glaubitz, cello, all of them members of the Charlotte Oratorio Orchestra and the Charlotte Symphonette. Citron was also a charter member and principal viola for the Charlotte Symphony, and Glaubitz is an instructor in strings in the Charlotte schools.

Also included in the program here were Sally Wyly, soprano, who is soloist at Charlotte's Myers Park Presbyterian Church; and Anita Bultman, harpsichord, who is choirmaster and organist at Charlotte's Christ Episcopal Church. Both have appeared as soloists with music groups in several Carolina cities.

The program by the Charlotte music group marked the conclusion of an unusually fine series of Lyceum attractions on the Elon campus this year. The programs have been staged under the direction of Prof. Walter Westafer, member of the Elon College music faculty. The programs have been varied in nature from folk music to classical artists and chamber music groups, and all have been well received by Elon audiences.

SNEA Lists New Leaders For 1967-68

The Student National Education Association, while it is one of the lesser known groups on the Elon campus, has been a very active one this spring, with a total of 68 members taking part in various programs and attending several educational meetings.

The NCEA is a pre-professional organization for all students interested in the teaching profession, including those who wish to learn more for their own satisfaction as well as those who plan to enter the teaching profession.

Among the year's activities for the Elon chapter have been several programs with guest speakers and the publication of the January issue of the "Newsletter," which is the statewide paper, along with attendance at several major conferences.

Monty Busick, this year's Elon NCEA president, led a student delegation to the state Education Association conference in Asheville, the

WEAVER NAMED SPRING QUEEN

Margaret Weaver, an Elon College junior elementary education major from Danville, Va., reigned as "Spring Queen" over the gala festivities of the Elon College Spring Weekend, which was observed on the campus during the first weekend in May. The festivities began with a number of special events on Friday, May 5th, topped that night by the talent show and the choice of the "Spring Queen." It continued with a picnic at noon on Saturday, followed by a baseball game in Greensboro on Saturday afternoon, a dance in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday night and finally climaxed by a concert in the gym on Sunday afternoon, May 7th. The "Spring Queen" won her crown in competition with a field that included ten girls.

Elon Choir Will Present Its Annual Spring Concert On Tuesday Night

The Elon College Choir will present its annual spring concert in Whitley Auditorium on the Elon College campus at 8 o'clock next Tuesday night, featuring a fine variety of musical selections from the sacred to the popular in nature. The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

The student singers, about forty in number, will perform under the direction of Prof. Wendell Bartholf, who has previously led the choir in outstanding Christmas and Easter season programs this year.

A special feature of the Tuesday night concert will be several numbers by the Elon College Quartet, which includes Randy Smart, of Norfolk, Va., Allen Bush, of Eclipse, Va., Ken Hollingsworth, of Randleman, and Carson Kuhnert, of Martinsville, Va., with Danny Chilton, of Burlington, as piano accompanist.

The choir concert will open with a series that includes "O Lord, Increase My Faith," by Orlando Gibbons; "Let All Ye Sons and Daughters Sing," by Volckmar Leisring; "Ave Maria," by Jacob Arcadelt; "The Heavens Are Telling," by Franz Joseph Haydn; and "A Rose Touched By The Sun's Warm Rays," by Jean Berger.

Two of the creations of Tschalkowsky entitled "A Legend" and "Cherubim Song," will be followed by "Come Let Us Be Joyful," by Orazio

Vecchi; "To Music," by Franz Schubert; "In Silent Night," by Johanne Brahms; "Regina Coeli," by Magni

The concluding series will feature "The Turtle Dove," by Vaughan Williams; "Hold On! Hold On!" by Fred Fox; "Willow Wind," by Byron Walls; and "In That Great Getting Up Morning," by Noble Cain.

Members of the quartet, already listed, will also sing with the choir. In addition to those singers, others appearing in the concert will include Dwight Davis, Virginia Beach, Va.; John Hughes, Wilmington, Del.; Randall Sweeney, Webster, Mass.; Archie Taylor, Durham.

Jay Ogden, Jacksonville, Fla.; Gerry Schumm, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Stephen Long, Warsaw, Va.; Ronald Warren, Burlington; Chuck Miller, Orange, Va.; Melvin Cotten, Fuquay-Varina.

Candy Hopewell, Portsmouth, Va.; Jane Blalock, Burlington; Donna Thomas, Mebane; Joan Wilson, Wilmington, Del.; Kathleen Howell, Arnold, Md.; Linda Durham, Burlington; Amy Ingle, Burlington; Mattie Pritchard, Greensboro; Diana Lewis, Falls Church, Va.; Anna Rose Marina, Elon College.

Reading Day To Precede Final Exams

The day of reckoning dawns just one week from today, for the spring semester examinations will get underway next Friday morning, May 26, according to an announcement from the office of Dean Fletcher Moore.

Dean Moore also announced that the spring examinations will be preceded by a special "Reading Day" for all day-time students next Thursday, May 25th. This day for intensive preparation for the exams was set at the request of the Student Senate and with the approval of the chairmen of various academic departments.

There will be seven full days of examinations, beginning with the MWF 9 o'clock classes next Friday morning, May 26th, and followed that afternoon by the block of all History 112 and 212 courses. The exams for Saturday, May 27th, include all M-WF 10:40 o'clock classes in the morning and all block English 111 and 112 classes that afternoon.

The exams for Monday, May 29th, include all TTS 9 o'clock classes in the morning, followed by all Religion 112 and all Accounting 211 and 212 courses. The schedule for Tuesday, May 30th, lists all MWF 8 o'clock classes in the morning, followed by all Math 111 and 112 classes in the afternoon.

Advance plans have been completed and announced for the annual commencement weekend at Elon College, an event which is now slightly more than two weeks in the future, with the commencement program slated to get underway with the annual Alumni Day events on Saturday, June 3rd, and close with the graduation exercises for the Class of 1967 on Monday morning, June 5th.

The Saturday program will get underway with the registration of the returning alumni in the William S. Long Student Center at 10 o'clock, followed by the annual picnic luncheon at noon at McEwen Dining Hall, the annual alumni business meeting at 2:30 o'clock, the open house in West Dormitory parlor in the afternoon and the alumni banquet in McEwen Dining Hall on Saturday night.

The Sunday program will feature the baccalaureate sermon in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium at 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, June 4th, followed by a program of music in Whitley Auditorium that night at 8 o'clock. The graduation exercises will also be held in Alumni Memorial Gymnasium at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning to conclude the commencement observance.

Donnelly Delivers Address

The annual commencement address to the graduating seniors will be delivered by S. C. Donnelly, director of the Greensboro and Burlington Shops of the Western Electric Company's North Carolina Works, one of the outstanding industrial executives in the state and the entire South and one who has long been an outstanding friend and supporter of Elon College.

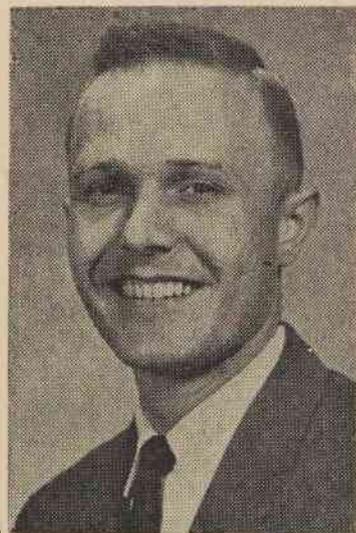

The guest speaker, who was born in Toluca, Ill., began his Western Electric career in September, 1923, as a production student in the Hawthorne Works near Chicago, advancing rapidly to a department chief's ranking in 1929. In 1932 he became a section chief in charge of specialty products and later a department chief in 1937, in which post he directed building of the first submarine and capital ship radars.

With radar playing a big role in World War II, he served as a division chief of Navy airborne radar from 1943 until the end of the war, and when the war ended he was placed in charge of general apparatus, rubber, lamps, ceramic, fiber, commercial, screw and die casting manufacture for the company.

He was transferred to the North Carolina Works of Western Electric in 1946 as superintendent of the Burlington Shops, and in 1956 he advanced to his present post as director of the shops in both Burlington and Greensboro. He joined the Defense Activities Division as manager of the Nike Zeus Project in 1959, but later resumed his combined Burlington-Greensboro duties.

The speaker has been active in community affairs for many years. He is chairman emeritus of the American Ordnance Association and president of the Carolinas chapter of that group. He has held several important posts with the National Se-
