

Elon Band In Winter Concert

ELON BAND WINS PRAISE FOR ANNUAL WINTER CONCERT IN WHITLEY

The Elon College Band, which operates under the direction of Prof. Jack O. White, and which has gained wide acclaim for its performances as a marching unit during recent Elon College football seasons, transformed itself into a concert unit and presented its sixth annual mid-winter concert in Whitley Auditorium last Sunday afternoon. At that time a capacity audience hailed the performance of the Elon musical combination in presentation of both popular and classical band compositions.

Band Group Wins Praise On Sunday

The Elon College Concert Band presented its sixth annual winter concert in Whitley Auditorium last Sunday afternoon under the direction of Prof. Jack O. White, and it was heard with high praise by a large audience of Elon students and townspeople.

The Elon Band has gained wide acclaim for its performances as a marching unit during the Elon football season each fall, performing at half-time ceremonies and in parades throughout this area, and it has gained equal praise each winter when it transforms itself into a concert combination to present both popular and classical music on Whitley stage.

Last Sunday afternoon the concert was presented in two parts with an intermission period between. The opening portion featured "Lady of Spain," by Evans and arranged by Hunsberger; "Pageant," by Persichetti; "Overture for Winds," by Carter; and "Chorale and Caprice," by Giovannianni.

The second portion following intermission included Hardt's "Rhapsodic Interlude," Schreiner's "The Worried Drummers," Hager's "Harlem Nocturne," and Raye and Jacobs' "This Is My Country."

Band members who were in Sunday's concert, listed by instrumental groups, are as follows:
FLUTE: Ann Lentz, Burlington; Jerry Huffman, Burlington; Barbara Bayliff, Burlington; Betty Miller, Burlington; and Priscilla Spoon, Burlington.

CLARINETS: Gary Johnson, Selma; Elizabeth Woolsey, Madison, Wis.; Danny Chilton, Burlington; Keith Cole, Graham; Joan Wilson, Wilmington, Del.; Margi An-

PROF. JACK WHITE Directs Band

Best Stories Of 1967 Are Listed

There were many important stories concerning Elon College and the Elon College campus which appeared in the columns of the Maroon and Gold during the twelve months that made up the year 1967, and it is the annual custom of news-

IS HONORED

Prof. James P. Elder, member of the Elon College history faculty was honored by the Elon College students when he was named "Outstanding Professor for 1967-68" by vote of the students in a special election sponsored by the Elon College Student Government Association prior to the holidays. Professor Elder, who is a native of Burlington, is a graduate of Elon College and holds the master's degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. In addition to his teaching duties, he is faculty advisor for the Liberal Arts Forum at Elon and active in a number of other campus programs.

papers to review such stories, taking inventory of the things which have happened just as the business world takes inventory of the progress which it has made during any given year.

Among the big stories which appeared in the Maroon and Gold columns during 1967 were some which broke in one big news splash in a single issue, while others came in a series of related accounts which were spread throughout the year and yet were related into one story. A review of those big stories, rated on the basis of lasting impact on Elon College, dramatic nature and reader interest, the "Top Ten Stories of 1967" on the Elon campus included the following:

(1) THE NEW LIBRARY
The awarding of the contract for Elon's new library appeared in the very first issue of Maroon and Gold for 1967, and there were stories concerning its progress at intervals through the year. It is still rising rapidly near the West Gate of the campus and will certainly mean much to Elon when completed.

(2) NEW GRID REGIME
Few stories had greater impact on campus life than the new football regime, with a new coaching staff announced in January, much interest in spring practice and with improved fortunes for the Christian eleven in the autumn campaign, which saw Elon post a 5-3-1 record and battle Lenoir Rhyne for the Conference title.

(3) GROUND-BREAKING
The breaking of ground for the new and modern living-dining complex, which will be built north of the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium as the first unit of Elon's new "North Campus" was held as a preliminary to the annual Elon College Homecoming observance, and it signified another giant step forward for the college.

(4) CAMPUS DEATHS -
The campus, including both faculty and students, was saddened by several tragic deaths during the year. Included were the deaths of three Elon students in automobile accidents during the past fall term, all of which left a tragic impact on the campus as a whole.

(5) RENOVATIONS--
The campus was the scene of extensive renovations to Alamanace, Mooney and the Duke Science Buildings during the year, with improvements long needed made possible through a grant of more than $100,000 made to the college through federal agencies.

(6) COMMENCEMENTS
Two commencement pro-

Danieleys Hosts At Reception

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Danieley were host to the Elon College faculty and students at their annual Christmas reception on December 18th, entertaining from 7 until 9 o'clock at the college's presidential home near the campus.

The guests were greeted in the entrance hall by Dr. and Mrs. Danieley and were introduced to the receiving line by Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Hook. Those in the receiving line included new student members of the Order of the Oak, campus academic honor group, and those students who have been named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Members of the Order of the Oak who were honored included Edna Brantley, of Lattimore; Larry Durham, of Burlington; Shirley Faircloth, of Burlington; Sandra Isley, of Burlington; Carol Ann McKinney, of Bakersville; Gerry Oxford, of Elon College; Linda Thompson, of Burlington; and Linda Wesley, of Roxboro.

Students listed in Who's Who in the receiving line included Ken Hollingsworth, of Randleman; James Lunsford, of Winston-Salem; Marcia Lunsford, of Winston-Salem; Carol Lupinacci, of Stamford, Conn.; Larry Mabe, of Star; Dale Morrison, of Lynchburg, Va.; Ronnie Tugwell, of Arlington, Va.; and Sandra Wrenn, of Staley.

The guests were invited to the dining room by Mrs. Jerry Tolley, and in the dining room Mrs. Albert Gminder and Mrs. Paul Check poured punch. Prof. and Mrs. Durward Stokes received in the

(Continued on Page 2)