

Elon Hosts Quakers Monday

VETERAN CATCHER AND PITCHER ARE KEY MEN WITH ELON NINE

Don Brady, a sophomore letterman catcher from Bennett, and Paul Amundsen, a junior letterman pitcher from Silver Spring, Md., are two of Coach Jerry Drake's veterans who promise to be bulwarks of the Elon College baseball team during the upcoming 1968 campaign. Brady was a starter and regular receiver for the Christians last spring and should be much improved this year. Amundsen, who is 6-5 in height and weighs 215 pounds, got credit for two wins last year in a campaign that saw Elon win only eight of twenty-eight starts.

Drake Begins Second Season Coaching Nine

The Fighting Christian baseballers, opening their second season under the coaching of Jerry Drake, himself a former Elon pitching great, will open their 1968 campaign by meeting the Guilford Quakers on the Elon field next Monday afternoon.

That game with the Quakers, which also marks the beginning of the Elon drive for Carolinas Conference honors on the diamond this spring, will be the first of four games set for next week. Other games next week, all of them at home, are with High Point on Tuesday, Catawba on Thursday and Campbell on Friday.

Coach Drake, whose team had a disastrous campaign last spring with a record of eight wins and twenty losses, hopes for much improvement this year as he has fourteen lettermen among the players listed on his roster. He also has several fine newcomers.

Five letter pitchers on hand are Burgin Beale, senior right-hander; Paul Amundsen, junior right-hander; Joe Byrtus, junior southpaw; and Steve Bird and Richard Youmans, sophomore right-handers.

Three lettermen are listed among the catchers, including senior Bobby Bulla, who has previously seen duty mostly as an outfielder, along with sophomores Don Brady and Frankie Mensch.

There are three monogram infielders on the roster, including first baseman Mike Hailey, second baseman Jim Freisinger and third baseman Dempsey Herring, all of whom saw regular duty last spring.

The outfield corps also lists three lettermen, among them Larry Collins, a senior who was a fine southpaw pitcher until he ran into arm trouble two years ago, and Richard Smith and Mike Spillane, both of whom started many games last season.

ELON BASEBALL

Mar. 18	--Guilford, H
Mar. 19	--High Point, H
Mar. 22	--Catawba, H
Mar. 23	--Campbell, H
Mar. 26	--Rensselaer, H
Mar. 27	--A.C. H
Mar. 29	--High Point, A
Apr. 3	--Pfeiffer, H
Apr. 5	--Un. of Maine, H
Apr. 6	--Guilford, A
Apr. 8	--Lenoir Rhyne, A
Apr. 9	--Appalachian, A
Apr. 10	--Georgia, S., A
Apr. 11	--Georgia, S., A
Apr. 12	--Oglethorpe, A
Apr. 13	--Georgia State, A
Apr. 19	--Newberry, H
Apr. 20	--Newberry, H
Apr. 22	--Campbell, A
Apr. 24	--Pembroke, H
Apr. 26	--Pfeiffer, A
Apr. 30	--Lenoir Rhyne, H
May 1	--A.C., A
May 3	--Catawba, A
May 4	--Appalachian, H
May 7	--Pembroke, A

Goedeck Tops Cage Scoring For Season

Henry Goedeck, Elon's 6-6 junior center from Central Islip, N.Y., led the Fighting Christian cage players in scoring and rebounding for the third straight season when he topped the 1968 Christian basketballers with an average of 19.3 points and 12.9 rebounds per game in a 28-game campaign.

No less than five players on the Elon squad during the season averaged 10 points or better during the season, which netted the Christians 13 wins and 15 losses. In addition to Goedeck, the double-digit scorers included Bobby Atkins with 13.1, Tom McGee with 12.4, Richard McGeorge with 11.1 and Bill Bowes with a 10.1 average for the games he played before dropping from the squad in mid-season.

Goedeck finished the year with a total of 540 points in the 28 games, and this added to his previous totals of 577 in his freshman year and 479 last winter to give him a 3-year career total of 1,596 in 77 games for a 3-year average of 20.7

(Continued on page 4)

SCORING
(Season's Final)
Player	G	FG	FT	TP
Goedeck	28	230	80	540
McGee	28	143	63	349
Atkins	20	84	95	263
Davis	28	77	108	262
McGeorge	22	87	71	245
Marshall	28	76	41	193
Bowes	17	71	30	172
Caddell	18	29	14	72
Other Players	16	5	4	14
ELON TOTALS	28	798	511	2107
OPPONENTS	28	841	514	2196

SPORTS SPOTS

By EDDIE OSBORNE

This column goes somewhat astray from the subject of regular athletic sports around Elon's campus and will deal briefly with a new sport which has made its appearance at Elon at various and sundry times in recent weeks. That new sport is called breaking into machines.

It seems, too, that the participants in this new sport have been rather successful thus far. It all began with the breaking open of drink machines and tearing the locks from cigarette and candy machines, with the "sporting" activities centered around the Student Center, Alamance Building and the boys' dorms.

For sometime the new activity seemed to attract little attention, with most everyone seeming to ignore the happenings which seemed to take place most often early on Sunday mornings. I guess Sunday is as good a day as any for "sporting" activity.

Finally, however, the administration brought in a pair of Burns "guards" to stand vigil on Saturday nights and Sunday morning, but after several weeks and long hours of watching, no one was caught, and the "sport" was not even slowed up. Recently the guards were relieved, and the new activity is seemingly left without witnesses.

No one knows that roster of this newly active "team," but cer-

(Continued on page 4)