

Reid This

WHY ELON?

Donnie McDaniel, of Wilmington, came to Elon because he couldn't wait for a long-term study award at N. C. State.

Sophomore Jimmy Burkes, a Danville minister's son, ran out of school at defunct Frederick College. So he transferred to Elon.

Francea Moyer, of Waynesboro, Va., visited our little old school before signing in.

"I was thoroughly impressed with Elon," she said. "I was with a friend

FRANCEA MOYER

Elon Is Quaint

and we both think Elon is really nice and small and quaint."

Quaint is her word, not mine.

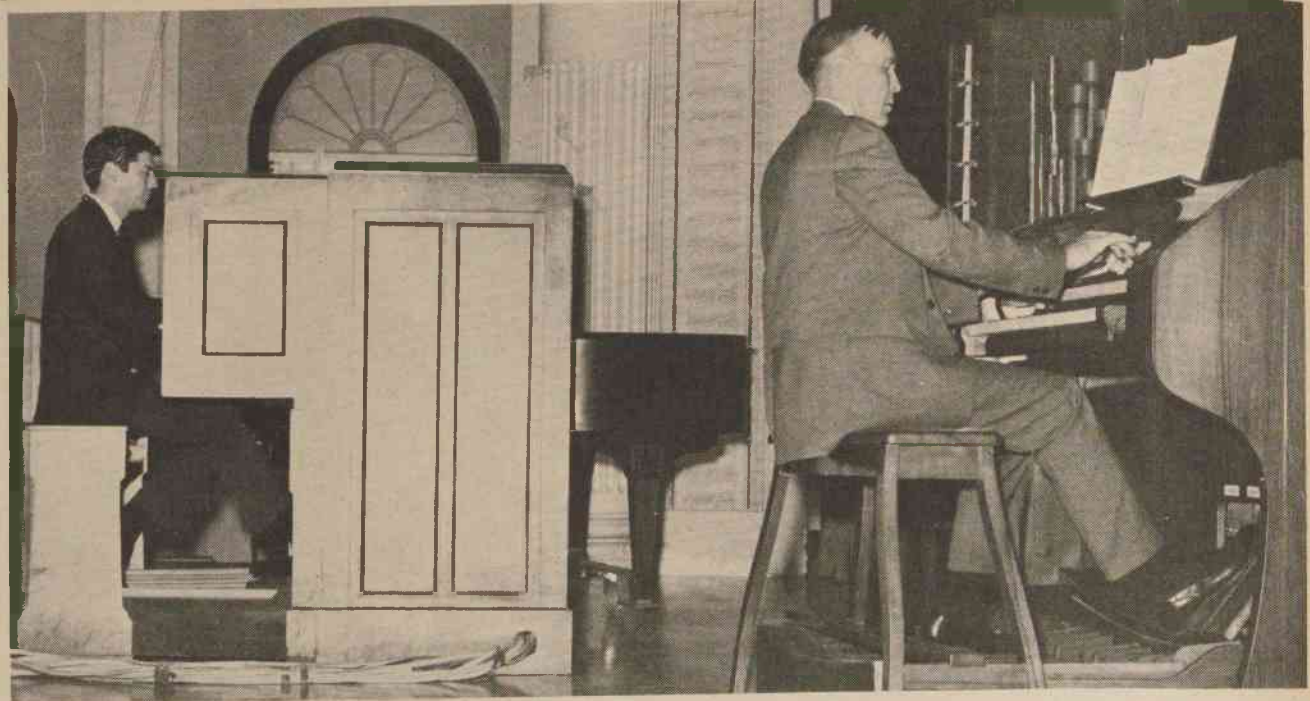

Ronnie Davis, of Raleigh, brought somebody with him to the campus too. Davis is a transfer from Chowan College, a junior college at Murfreesboro. His girl friend over there, Betsey Goodwin, from Newport News, Va., was all set to attend Radford College, one of the largest girls' schools in the nation, but she thought it might just be cozier to transfer to little Elon instead, specially in view of the fact that she is now Mrs. Ronnie Davis.

Steve Helms, football operative deluxe, is wearing Fighting Christian togs for a reason old H. admires hearing. The 235-pound guard from Fayetteville wanted an education to play football. He knew good and well he'd get treated in fine fashion by Messrs. Red Wilson and Mickey Brown, two of the gentlemen who are in charge of our football future. Any time we get an athlete on a premise that he needs Elon and Elon needs him, we're ahead of the game. Check me after November 16th to see if I'm correct.

Sophomore Donnie Falk, of Hampton, spoke well of Elon, enough to interest Michael Anthony, another huge, huge footballer from Fork Union Military Academy, to

TWO ORGANS ON ONE STAGE FEATURES FACULTY RECITAL IN WHITLEY

Moore Gets Three Scores At Guilford

By: BILL WALKER

Striking with power on the ground after finding their air attack somewhat slowed, the Fighting Christians continued their early drive toward a Carolinas Conference title by beating the Guilford Quakers 21 to 10 before a packed crowd in Greensboro High School Stadium last Saturday night.

Emery Moore, hard-running Elon fullback, after pacing the rushing in the opener with Concord, bulled over for all three Elon touchdowns during the game, going over from the one in each case, and Grover Helsley kicked good after each TD for the 21 points.

Elon needed only twelve plays for the first score, driving 80 yards with a Burgin Beale to Joe Rinaca pass getting 36 yards of the distance to the two-yard marker. Only other score in the first half saw Guilford hit on a field goal which left the half-time score 7 to 3.

A Guilford interception blocked the first Elon threat in the second half but Elon recovered the ball on a fumble, and Grover Helsley was close on a field goal attempt that missed. Moments later Ronnie O'Brien raced 63 yards to the Quaker two, and Moore again bulled in from the one for a TD.

Larry Raines set up Elon's final TD with an interception return to the point of transferring.

And then, we have another reason for somebody's selecting this place...Old H. ran out of junior college time himself back in the early Forties, so he decided he would have a lark and go to the college with the funniest name he could find. Ursinus, Pestalozzi-Froebel Teachers and Slippery Rock were contenders, but Elon won.

Well, it turned out that H., through sheer dumb luck made one of the wisest decisions ever. Elon turned out pretty good, and I like to think that I did too, all because of Elon.

interception return to the five, and Emery Moore got his third score of the night, with Helsley booting good for a 21-3 edge.

Later that period Guilford got her only touchdown, set up when the Quakers grabbed an Elon fumble at the Christian thirty-six. A pass from Tavalaro to Dent put the ball on the three, and Tommy Peguese scored from there.

FIGURE FACTS

Elon	Guilford
14 First Downs	12
173 Yds. Gain. Rush.	177
23 Yds. Lost Rush.	36
150 Net Yds. Rush.	141
18 Passes Attempt.	26
10 Passes Completed	11
83 Yds. Gain Pass.	187
233 Total Yds. Off.	328
1 Opp. Passes Interc.	2
35 Runback Int. Pass.	21
7 Number Punts	9
36.8 Ave. Yds. Punts	34.9
104 Runback All Kicks	80
1 Fumbles Lost	2
60 Yards Penalized	121

SCORE BY PERIODS:

Elon	7	0	7	7	21
Guilford	0	3	0	7	10
Elon Touchdowns--	3	(1-run, 1-run, 1-run).	Extra Points,	Helsley 3 (kicks).	Guilford Touchdown -- Peguese (3-run). Extra Pt-Stewart (kick). Field Goal -- Stewart (30-yds.).

Elon Tops Concord

(Continued from page 3)

TD just four minutes after the half, and Emery Moore climaxed an Elon drive with a 1-yard scoring thrust moments later. In each case Helsley kicked good.

Concord opened the fourth period with a second scoring thrust, this time on a 15-yard pass from Barnett to Jim Beckett, but a pass for extra points failed, and the Elon reserves put two other Elon touchdowns on the board in the fourth quarter. John Doss bucked over from the four, and Dover Sharpe plunged in from the one, with Helsley kicking his eighth and ninth extra points of the day for the final 66-12 margin.

Two-Organ Rendition Features In Recital

By JOE GOLDBERG

Opening the series of faculty music recitals for the 1968-69 term, Prof. Richard Apperson, newcomer to the Elon College music department, presented an organ recital in Whitley Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, September 22nd.

A special feature of this first faculty recital was a duo-organ number, which proved both unique and delightful, featuring Professor Apperson along with Prof Fletcher Moore, dean of the college and longtime head of the Elon music department.

Apperson, pictured at the keyboard of the organ at the left in the above picture, and Dean Moore, shown at the keyboard of the organ at the right, joined to present "Concerto No. 1 in C-Major for Two Organs," a composition by Soler.

This rendition on two organs proved to be an outstanding feature of the Sunday program, but Professor Apperson himself earned praise with his own program, which included "Concerto No. 1 in G-Minor," by Handel; "Larghetto in F-Sharp Minor," by Wesley; "Prelude and Fugue in G-Major," by J. S. Bach; "Choral No. II in B-Minor," by Franck; and "Prelude and Fugue in B-Major," by Dupre. Apperson, greeted by tremendous applause, returned for a masterful encore.

Elon To Face App
(Continued from Page 3)

lina. The game will show two of the finest aerial attacks in the Tar Heel state in action, with Elon featuring Burgin Beale and Appalachian depending on Pat Murphy. The final decision could depend on the defensive competition.

Freshmen Addressed

(Continued from page 2)

which recently received the unanimous approval of the Elon trustees.

In this statement, Dr. Danieleley cited the fact that Elon College has long been committed to student participation in institutional government, and he mentioned the various joint committees of faculty and students which have long sought to improve campus communication between administration and faculty and students.

Also as part of the statement, it was made clear that the college will take a firm stand in regard to any disturbances which might interrupt classes, laboratories, work or other activities which represent a normal part of the educational process.

In closing he urged the freshmen to work seriously on their studies, to be good campus citizens, to broaden their horizons through participation in varied activities and to learn to look for the good rather than the bad in order to make their college years the finest four years of their lives.

Summer School

(Continued From Page 1)

Wayne Seymour, Reidsville; Paul Allen Sharpe,

Burlington; Donald Lea Shepherd, Burlington; James Alexander Simpson, Burlington; Barbara Amos Sipe, Graham; Larry Kent Small, Burlington; Dennis Wayne Smart, Virgilina, Va.; Dorothy Ruth Smith, Norfolk, Va. Cary Herman Surratt, Burlington; Dolan Alexander Talbert, Altamaha; Carole Moore Teague, Burlington; Betty Anne Waller, Durham; Thomas Ray Ward, Haw River; Candace Allanzo Watkins, Bernardsville, N. J.; Jimmy Charles Watkins, Durham; John Hugh Whitlatch, Burlington; Robert Charles Williams, West Orange, N.J.; Donald Grey Wood, Burlington.