

Choir Sings Lenten Program

Emanon Group Wins Praise Last Sunday

Lovers of "Jazz-Rock" music were given a treat last Sunday afternoon when the Elon College Emanons, the college's popular stage band combo, appeared in concert in Whitley Auditorium. The program was open to the music lovers of the area as well as college students.

The band unit, which includes sixteen students, performed under the direction of Prof. Jack O. White. It is not a new band group, for the Emanons won nationwide praise some years ago when the band was twice invited to play a series of weekend concerts at the New York Worlds Fair.

The band, organized at that time, even has an interesting name, for the word Emanon is really "No Name" spelled backward. The Emanons recently attracted large audiences in a tour of high schools in North Carolina and Virginia.

The Sunday afternoon program featured the same music that won acclaim on that tour, offering the jazz arrangements of Shorty Rogers, Nat Pierce and a new arranger by the name of Neil Slater. Members of the Emanon band include the following:

DIRECTOR

PROF. JACK WHITE
Directs Band

SAXOPHONES: Cecil Johnson, Burlington; Allen Gibbs, Greensboro; Bob Johnson, Charlottesville, Va.; Bob Snyder, Durham; and Steve Griffin, Burlington.

TRUMPETS: John Park, Larchmont, N.Y.; Jon White, Elon College; Ronnie Crouch, Martinsville, Va.; and Ruffin Quarles, Burlington.

TROMBONES: Elwood Porshia, Falls Mills, Va.; Buck Bayliff, Elon College; and George Cannon, Newport News, Va.

RHYTHM: Dannie Chilton, piano, Burlington; Jim White, bass, Wytheville, Va.; Don Stubblefield, drums, Efland; and David Abernethy, drums, Lenoir.

Concert Set At 4 Sunday In Whitley

The Elon College Choir will present a concert program of Lenten music in Whitley Auditorium on the Elon College campus at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with the Palm Sunday program furnishing one of the outstanding entertainment features of the spring term at the college.

The program of Lenten music will be presented this year instead of the annual rendition of Theodora Dubois' great Easter cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," which the Elon Choir has sung as a Palm Sunday rendition for many years as a prelude to the Easter season.

The Palm Sunday concert will feature a group of more than seventy student singers in the Elon Choir, appearing under the direction of Prof. Richard Apperson, who became the director of choral music on the Elon campus for the first time this year. Apperson will also play the piano accompaniment in addition to directing the choir group.

Mrs. Terrell Cofield, also a newcomer to the Elon music faculty this year, will appear as a guest soloist with the college choir for this program. She will sing Mozart's great Lenten motet, "Exsultate, Jubilate."

The program for the Palm Sunday concert, as

THEY FEATURE SUNDAY PROGRAM

PROF. APPERSON
Director

listed by Professor Apperson includes "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison," by J. S. Bach; "Blessed Are They," requiem by Brahms; "Here Repose, O Broken Body," by Pinkham; and "Surely He Hath Born Our Grievs," by Graun.

Other numbers to be used are "O Heart Subdued with Grieving," by Brahms; "The Rose Was Moist With Dew," by Schumann; "Go Not Far From Me," by Zingarelli; "Woman, Why Weepest Thou," by Schuetz; and "Halleluyah (Mount of Olives)," by Beethoven.

The student singers who are expected to take part in the Lenten program, listed below in voice groups and in alphabetical order, are as follows:

SOPRANOS: Joan Anderson, Winchester, Va.; Ellen Barnes, Courtland,

MRS. COFIELD
Soloist

Va.; Linda Chalmers, Martinsville, Va.; Dawn Chrisman, Portsmouth, Va.; Olivia Christian, Hampton, Va.; Linda Dickenman, Unionville, Conn.; Sara Draper, Martinsville, Va.; Mamela Edwards, Spring Hope; Carol Emmett, Claymont, Del.; Elizabeth Etheridge, Virginia Beach, Va.; Emily Hall, Cleveland, N. C.; Jenny Huffman, Burlington; Debby Isaacs, Charlotte; Anne Jones, Greensboro; Kim King, Chesapeake, Va.; Jennifer Knott, Clayton; Cathy Mangum, Durham;

Joan Misselbeck, Alexandria, Va.; Carol Norman, Charlotte; Brenda Pritchard, Greensboro; Mary Rutt, Bethesda, Md.; Nelda Shaw, Durham; Debbie Stroud, Chesapeake, Va.; Laura Tegge, Washington, D.C.; Donna Thomas, Mebane; Nancy Thomas, Burlington. (Continued on page 2)

ELON SINGERS WILL PRESENT LENTEN CONCERT ON WHITNEY STAGE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

