Federal Agencies Sponsor Talent Search for Seniors

"Federal employees today are in the vanguard of the most interesting and challenging projects which mankind has ever undertaken -- in the humanities as well as in the sciences."

This, basically, is the message which U.S. Government job consultants will be bringing to the North Carolina A & T State University on March 9 and 10, 1970, and to the University of North Carolina at Greensboro campus on March 11 and 12, 1970, as part of the "Federal Agencies Combined Talent Search" -- an experimental effort in joint recruiting by a number of Federal organizations to be held at only 30 colleges nationally this year. The program is designed to give students a quick, convenient, but thorough look at the array of career opportunities available within the Federal Government.

The Federal Service Entrance Examination (FSEE) is a written test for graduating students to qualify for Federal careers in such professional fields as personnel, general administration, economics, social sciences, procurement and supply, investigation, etc. This examination is used to fill over 200 kinds of Federal jobs in over 50 different agencies.

If the student's major is in a specialty like mathematics, accounting, engineering, or some similar field, the FSEE test is not required.

Students will learn, in talking with Federal employer representatives and from literature in the Placement Office, that the U. S. Government offers a lot more in addition to the great variety of career possibilities and job locations. The starting pay is good, and the pay structure, compares favorably with private industry. Promotions and opportunities for participating in the management of important programs come quickly to those who bring energy and imagination to their Federal

Federal Service Entrance Exam

In conjunction with the Joint Effort for Talent Program at North Carolina A & T State University on March 9 and 10, 1970, and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro on March 11 and 12, 1970, the Federal Service Entrance Examination written test will be given. Students may take the test on the North Carolina A & T State University campus at 6 p.m. on March 9 in the Ballroom of the Memorial Union Building. The test will be given on the University of North Carolina at Greensboro campus at 6:00 p.m. on March 11 in the Ballroom of Elliot Hall.

This examination is used for filling administrative type positions in some 200 different occupations with the federal government nationwide. It is the primary avenue through which college graduates in non-technical majors enter the federal service.

Results of the examination will be available to agencies the next day, February 10 and 12, and will allow the Federal Job Consultants to take a more positive approach in their consultations with students.

For additional information, contact the Placement Office.

SGA Will Open Coffeehouse Soon

By KATHLEEN HOWELL
After much preparation, the SGA Coffeehouse will open from 9 - 11 a.m. daily next week. Wayne Hayes, a student from Burlington, has directed the plans.

There is to be free coffee served at the Coffeehouse which is located on the second floor of the Student Center. A place to study is available and dancing with music from a juke box is a possibility at nights. Full-length films are planned for which a fee of 50¢ will be charged.

Hayes hopes that these plans will provide convenient week-end campus entertainment.

The movies will be shown in the Senate chambers and will include features such as "Harper", "Wait Until Dark", and "Splendor in the Grass". The charge will cover the coffee and any profit will go towards renting a band for a lake-side dance.

A meeting held Wednesday, February 25 was to select a secretary to coordinate the activities of the Coffeehouse. Committee members include, Keith Hood, Cathy O'Connor, Susan Robertson, and Laura Tegge. If anyone has any suggestions for the Coffeehouse, contact Wayne Hayes at ext. 349 or P.O. Box 3288. Your support and co-operation will be appreciated.

THE DAY'S END

Soon to be TV and recording artists: The Day's End.

Campus Group to Cut Record

By ED BAKER

After four trips to New York and long, hot days of walking the endless miles of cement, they sang "it worries my soul cause I got no place to go and I'm dying."

"I knew we had an original style," insisted Billy Robey. "The problem was trying to find someone to listen to us."

"Yea," said Bod Noubarian. "Have you ever tried to sell yourself?"

But the break finally came when they entered Hollybrooke Int. Since then the Day's End have closed deals with RCA, Bell, and Columbia recording companies. Hollybrooke, their producers, will select the best deal and then they will begin weekend trips to

New York to record.

According to Robey and Noubarian, spokesmen for the group, they will record their first single, tentatively "Georgiana", within the next month. It will be released nationwide two weeks later and quickly followed by their first album. In the late spring they will appear on the Della Reese television show and on the late - night shows during the summer.

The four juniors, Dave

Bullard, Fayetteville, N. C.; Donnie Falk, Hampton, Va.; Bod Noubarian, Niagra Falls, N.Y.; and Billy Robey, Washington, D. C.; met at Elon three years ago by a quirk of fate.

"It's because of Elon that we have developed our own original style," claims Robey. "We can't get records by other groups like us in the local stores, and the radio plays mostly soul. "I'm really sorry that the people down here don't appreciate our music."

Donnie: I don't understand people in the South. They hate "niggers" and then pay $5 to see the Tams and the Showmen.

Food Survey Announced

Chris Walsh, chairman of the Food and Cafeteria Committee, and Steve W. Bucko, director of the Dining Services, recently announced a plan to conduct a Food Preference Survey at the dining halls on Tuesday afternoon, March 10.

The purpose of the survey is to provide students the foods they like best. Results of this survey will be published as soon as possible.

Bod: Did you think of anything?
