Come Out, Come Out Wherever You Are!

For the past few weeks, the female population of Elon College has been the victim of a peeping-Tom, appropriately called the "Peter-Man" because of various acts he indulges in. There have been several speculations as to the identity of our mysterious visitor. It is known that he is white, has dark hair, and is fairly tall.

As the school year opened, our mysterious visitor made several brief appearances without any serious consequences. However, his appearances have become bolder in nature, and he is seen regularly on the 3rd floor of Carlton. The several attempts which were made at his capture proved futile, as he continually eludes follow-up on Friday, October 13th, when he lowers. His latest appearance was slit through two screens, allowing him to place his hand(s) on the inside blinds in order to observe a girl showering. Upon seeing this, the girl ran out, crying hysterically. Proper steps were taken but, once again, our "friend" eluded detection.

Several questions can now be asked: Where were the security guards who are supposed to patrol the grounds? What steps are being taken to insure the safety of women dorm students? I think that we, the students of Elon, deserve to be protected from our phantom friend. Granted, nothing serious has happened yet, but must some act of violence occur before proper protection is secured for us?

There are many questions to be answered, but allow me to make a suggestion. A tighter security force should be instituted to patrol the dorm areas, and a closer watch on Carlton, as it appears to be a haven for our mysterious friend. These steps may not aid in the capture of "Peter-Man," but it will make it easier for the women dorm students to sleep at night. It is a frightening experience to suddenly wake up and see a strange face staring at you. Try it sometime. I guarantee, you won't like it.

CONCERT COMMENT

Elon is well-known throughout the student body as a school without much in the way of entertainment. When an effort is made to bring professional entertainment to the campus student response, on the whole, is usually pretty good. This response is sometimes divided in that one group seems to be more popular than another, as was the case with Stevie Wonder and Black Oak Arkansas. It seemed to be somewhat fashionable to prefer Black Oak to Stevie Wonder, and the student response reflects this ridiculous line of thinking. Friday night Bill Crocker and many other people worked very hard to bring a good concert to the student body. Granted, Stevie was one-and-a-half hours late in arriving, and lots of students who did go said they were disappointed. This is sickening. If you are "bored" or disappointed" by a concert by one of the most musically talented, not to mention handicapped people in show business, then you show your ignorance. Stevie Wonder was good, even though only half the people sat through the wait to hear him. Also, maybe a little explaining needs to be done. Elon is a small school which will present the performers with a small audience, thereby reducing his enthusiasm to be on time and to present a good concert. There is nothing to be done about this aspect of the situation, but one thing could be remembered: when placing the blame for a late concert, look to who is really responsible instead of automatically blaming Elon. Stevie Wonder was late due to some "unexplainable reason," not because the SGA or Elon has done a poor job. Please remember that.

PROGRESS

On October 18, 1972, the Elon College Communicator announced that "Dr. J. Earl Danieley, President of Elon College since July 1, 1957 . . . will retire from the office on June 30, (1973) upon the completion of sixteen years of service as President."

This news release came not only as a surprise to the Editor and staff of the Broadside Today but to the entire administration, faculty and staff of Elon College.

It also appears that sensible comment concerning the situation at hand is totally impossible, simply because no one knows whether the resignation will be a step forward or backward for Elon College.

Therefore, I, as an individual, can only express my own personal opinion in the hope that Dr. Danieley's decision was made in good faith and in the best interests of the College.

More developments and opinions concerning the resignation of the President will hopefully be available in next week's issue. Students, faculty and staff are wholeheartedly invited to express their opinions on the subject, directing them to the Editor, Box 3444.

STUDENT SENATE

On the seventeenth of October the Student Senate met in the Senate Chambers to discuss six related bills all authorized by S.G.A. President Jim Denton. He and Rexanne Bishop were invited by the Board of Trustees to attend the annual fall meeting of 1972 on Wednesday, October 18th. Our meeting was scheduled to discuss bills proposed to revise rules and regulations at Elon.

The following bills were passed by acclamation:

1. A resolution to reform the Elon College Student Honor System.
2. A resolution to assure that all students have the right to an Honor Court Trial when accused of a violation of the College Handbook.

As it now stands students are not legally entitled to an Honor Court hearing. The Administrative Hearing Committee presides over the accused and usually "pronounces sentence." With this resolution a student accused of a crime may request a hearing.

3. A resolution to reform the Off-Campus Housing requirements.

This would enable a student to live off campus if he or she has completed 54 hours of degree credit prior to the registration date of the academic semester for which they choose to reside off campus, or be 20 years of age prior to the first day of registration of the academic semester. All paperwork would have to be completed at least 60 days prior to the registration date of said academic semester.

4. A resolution to appoint outgoing S.G.A. Presidents to the Board of Trustees.

This resolution proposes that Student Government Presidents, upon graduation, serve a two year term as a voting member of the Board of Trustees.

As it now stands, anyone who graduates in the top ten of his senior class is elected to the Board by his classmates for a term of two years. This resolution gives the outgoing President, our directly elected official, an active participation in Elon College affairs.

5. A resolution to make amends for the unforeseeable overcrowding of dormitory rooms.

This resolution entitles a student with two other roommates to qualify for a "late off-campus" housing form.

6. A resolution to reform the drinking laws of the Elon College Honor System.

This resolution would allow students to drink but would hold students liable to the S.G.A. and the Board of Trustees if they disrupt the campus.

These resolutions are to be presented to the Board of Trustees and their appropriate Committees for their "immediate and serious consideration" in its annual fall meeting of 1972.
