DR. FRED YOUNG

Dr. Fred Young of Richmond, Virginia, was announced last week as Elon's seventh president. Formerly he held the positions of Deputy Superintendent of Public Schools in Virginia and Assistant Superintendent of the Burlington Public School System. He was elected by a thirty-six member board consisting of the Elon Trustees, members of the faculty, and the administrative staff.

The Board interviewed many candidates for the presidency before making its selection. Young's position is effective as of August first. It is said by The Daily Times News that he "was one of the earliest prospective candidates in speculation for the position."

Dr. Young was born in Burnsville, North Carolina, is married and has three children. He is a graduate of Mars Hill College, and later graduated cum laude receiving a B.S. degree from Wake Forest College, with a teaching certificate for physical education, history, biology and health. He received his master's degree from University of North Carolina, where he was a graduate assistant and taught freshmen. He then attended Columbia University to receive his doctor's degree in education. While at Columbia University he distinguished himself by being a recipient of the President's Scholarship Award.

While holding the Burlington School System post he was a member of the Kiwanis Club and the Community Council. He also served in various capacities with the United Fund and was also named to "Outstanding Young Men of America." He was on the Executive Committee of the Alamance Mental Health Advisory Committee, President of the county's Community Action Program, and was an adult Sunday School teacher and senior deacon at the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Young is also a member of various professional educational associations and has written articles relating to public education that are based on his research and conclusions as they are related to North Carolina and Virginia.

THE DOOBIE BROTHERS

SPRING WEEKEND

The Student Government Association of Elon College, in accordance with the upcoming Spring Weekend, has engaged three bands to perform on Friday and Saturday nights. Beginning with Friday night, May fourth, there will be a concert at eight p.m. in the Alumni Memorial Gymnasium featuring the EAGLES and GRIN. Also, on Saturday night, May fifth, the nationally acclaimed DOOBIE BROTHERS will hold a concert in the Memorial Gymnasium at eight p.m. These concerts will be free to students with I.D. cards. All others wishing to attend are required to purchase $3.00 tickets from either the Campus Shop or Stereo Village.

Among other sources of entertainment offered to the students will be two contests held on Saturday. First, at noon, a picnic and pizza eating contest will be sponsored by the A.R.A. Food Service and the Campus Shop. It will be held in the Sloan-McEwen parking lot. All students are asked to move their cars from this lot by five p.m. Friday. The second event will be the Annual Elon Boogie Dance Contest, also in the Sloan-McEwen parking lot. This event will be held immediately after the pizza eating contest. Prizes for the dance contest include albums, shirts, and other items. Pizza eating participants will receive a bottle of Alka-Seltzer.

RESULTS OF WOMEN'S POLL

The Women's Rules Study Commission was organized to do exactly as its name implies -- to make a thorough, responsible study of women's rules, to suggest changes where they feel changes are needed, and to present a complete report to the appropriate administrators. It is the hope of the Commission members that this report be well-received and seriously considered.

Let it be understood that "women" referred to herein are the women dormitory students of Elon College.

Let it be assumed that existing regulations are known to and understood by all concerned with this report.

PROVISION I

A permanent position, to be filled by two women students, should be created to ensure a voice for Elon women in the determining of their rules. The representatives should be the President of Women's Interdormitory Council and an appointee of the Student Government President.

(Vote: Yes-417, No-1)

PROVISION II

Room and bathroom checks would be terminated with the stipulation that there be no open food or drink or any pets in the rooms.

JUSTIFICATION:

The Commission feels that such checks are not required when dealing with college-age women. Of course, since the purpose of these checks is to ensure that health and safety standards remain high, stress would be placed on the absence of open food or drink and of pets. The Commission would require that WIDC provide a system of helping to maintain these standards, possibly through monthly checks and stringent enforcement of high standards.

(Vote: Yes-410, No-9)

PROVISION III

Men may enter the dormitories any time their services are needed in transporting heavy objects. A housemother or counselor should be consulted and ample warning would be given on the halls before they enter.

(Vote: Yes-419, No-0)

PROVISION IV

On March 14, 1973 a resolution to abolish the strict campus penalty for women was passed by acclamation in the Student Senate (S. R. 73-3.2). The resolution was authored by Womens Rules Study Commission and endorsed by WIDC.

JUSTIFICATION

Because of its severity, the Commission feels that extended periods of such confinement could be detrimental to the health of the student. This punishment, also, is discriminatory in that men students have no such penalty.

(Vote: Yes-415, No-4)

PROVISION V

On March 14, 1973 a resolution to reform the women's campus penalty was passed by acclamation in the Student Senate (S. R. 73-3.3). The
