"Kappa Sigma will be allowed to stay in their house through the 78-79 academic year."

Kappa Sig gets 1 more year

by John Atkinson

The Kappa Sigma fraternity will be able to remain in their house through the 1978-79 academic year, according to William G. Long, dean of student affairs.

The house and adjacent lot, located directly across Williamson Avenue from the Elon College post office, is being sold by the college to the town. Negotiations for completion of the sale are now underway.

It was originally thought when the impending sale was announced that the fraternity would have to relocate at the end of the 1978 academic term.

The sale of the fraternity house and adjacent lot to the town was proposed by Elon College President Fred Young in an effort to improve relations between the college and the town. The land will be used for the location of a new town hall.

Under the announced arrangement, the Kappa Sigma fraternity will be relocated when they leave their present house. President Young said that a specific location is being considered.

This house and lot have never been involved in the pending court case brought by the town against the college.

Robin Fleming elected B.M.O.C.

by Bebe Richards

The students of Elon elected Robin Fleming of TKE fraternity Big Man on Campus for 1977-78. For the fourth year, Tri Sigma Sorority sponsored the B.M.O.C. contest. First runner-up was Earl Warwick, a sophomore and representative from Alpha Phi Omega. The second runner-up was the SGA president, Tim Moore, representing Sigma Pi.

Tri Sigma holds the contest annually in an effort to raise money for the Robbie Page Memorial Fund which all chapters of their national sorority support. This fund has been used to build a children's ward in two hospitals, one in Chapel Hill and one in New Orleans. The wing is designated for the care of children with special diseases, and for handicapped and severely burned patients. This year's B.M.O.C. contest raised $276 which will be contributed to the Chapel Hill children's wing.

Escorted by Tri Sig Jane Healy, Elon's B.M.O.C. Robin Fleming is a senior and business major from Columbia, N.C. He has been a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon since the spring of 1977.

LeAnne May, chairman of the Robbie Page Memorial Fund committee and the other sisters of Tri Sigma congratulate Robin and sincerely thank the students for their support of the B.M.O.C. contest.

Students receive financial aid

by Donna Owen

The financial aid office at Elon College assigns jobs on campus to students who are qualified. Not all of the students who work on campus receive financial aid. For example, qualified lab assistants are paid by the department rather than the financial aid office.

There are not enough jobs for the students who apply for the work/study program, but there are also jobs that students do not take, such as work in the cafeteria or in maintenance. Many students prefer outside jobs because they get more hours at better pay. The rate for students on the work/study program is the same for each: $1.96 per hour. In 1974, the rate per hour was $1.62. In four years the rate per hour has increased only 34 cents. Many students feel they work hard for little money, especially those trying to pay their way through college.

Pay for these on-campus jobs comes to students in monthly paychecks to use as they please. This pay is not included in the aid of the student, but if they don't work at the college for the money, they have to get it another way.

Financial aid at Elon is very good. Much of the aid is paid by the government. How much aid a student receives depends on his family's financial situation. Some of this aid is through scholarships: football, academic, etc. He has nine years after he graduates from college to pay this aid back with three percent interest.

PRIDE campaign receives $25,000

An unrestricted gift of $25,000 was made to Elon College PRIDE Campaign recently by Wachovia Bank and Trust Company through the major gifts division.

PRIDE or "Providing Resources for Institutional Development at Elon," is a six-year, $5.5 million campaign for capital improvements at the college.

In accepting the gift for the college, President Fred Young noted that Wachovia has been a regular contributor and supporter of Elon for a number of years and has made funds available for several improvements.

"Wachovia's loyalty and support for Elon College is greatly appreciated by everyone associated with the institution and the PRIDE Campaign," Dr. Young said. "This gift represents only one aspect of Wachovia's continued interest in community development."

The gift was presented to Dr. Young by R.L. Saffelle, Jr., senior vice president for Wachovia's Alamance County operations.

Pops offers a variety of music

by Bryant Colson

In case you have been wondering about the large banner that hangs over Williamson Avenue, it is advertising the third annual Elon College Pops Concert.

Music from all walks of life will be presented by the various groups in the music department on Tuesday, Oct. 18. Elon's own Sugar Grove, Emanons, community orchestra, and choir will perform.

A buffet dinner will be served at 6:30, and the concert begins at 8 o'clock in the Alumni Gym.

Proceeds from the concert will go for scholarships for music students here at Elon, according to Sharon Kavanaugh, student chairman of the Pops Concert.

The SGA appropriated $600

for the concert. Because of this, according to Miss Kavanaugh, students will get $1 off the regular ticket price which is $6.50 (dinner and concert) and $3 (concert).

"The formal event will operate under the theme, 'Music-a Timeless Harmony,'" says Miss Kavanaugh, "and promises to be entertaining to all types of music lovers."
