

Law as a career

by Susan Phillips

Interested in law as a career? The Campbell University School of Law will host a pre-law program on Friday, Nov. 16, for pre-law advisers and students. The program includes a tour of the law school admissions procedures, and the admission process at Campbell School of Law.

The program begins at 9 a.m. with registration and ends after lunch at 1:30 p.m. The afternoon visits and consultations are optional.

The Campbell University School of Law is also conducting an undergraduate orientation program during the eight-week summer session. The program is a three-credit hour seminar on legal thought, the legal profession, and legal research. It is designed for sophomores and juniors who are thinking about law as a career but who are uncertain whether they would enjoy law school and law practice. It is also a good opportunity for those who want to improve their applications to become more competitive for admission to any law school in the country. Attending the summer program does not commit a student to attending Campbell University School of Law.

If interested, please contact the Career Planning and Placement Office, 104 Alamance, or Dr. Fred Watts, 316 Powell.

Does a hebe fly?

Watch this space for the latest sightings.

The article on the MLT program appearing in the Oct. 18 issue failed to list Mrs. Gayle Scott's masters degree from the University of Georgia. She was education coordinator at the Augusta Area Technical School, not Atlanta as was reported, prior to coming to Elon College.

Pops concerts open Monday

by Joy Hamilton

This year's "Pops" concert, sponsored by the Elon College Chapter of MENC, is sure to be a hit. The "Pops" consists of dinner and a varied musical concert Monday and Tuesday nights at 6:30.

The concert will begin with "Poet and Peasant" by von Suppe. Other musical numbers include "Hornpipe Dance Number 1" by Brahms, and selections by Terrell Cofield, soprano, from "My Fair Lady."

The waltz from "Sleeping Beauty" for ballet by Tschai-kowsky features Brenda Brantley, Dana Hardy, Jill Gunther, Barbara Stokes, and is choreographed by Brenda Brantley. Dr. D.E. McDonald of Dundee, Scotland (presently from Charlotte) will lead a sing-a long.

The orchestra will present a trumpet quartet featuring soloists Bruce Piner, Joey Rickman, Tom Green and Karl Metzgar. Other selections include "Up, Up and Away" by Rimer and "Waltzing Cat" by Anderson.

A comical silent movie by Harold Lloyd will feature Prof Apperson at the organ. The Emanons will play "Stormy Weather" and "Georgia," arranged by La-barbara and the disco tune "I Will Survive."

The orchestra will also play "Moto Perpetuo" from the Second Suite for orchestra by Britten and the Sousa "Stars and Stripes Forever" march.

Admission to the concert and dinner is $7 with students with college I.D. Admission to the concert only is $2. (without I.D. $9 and $3). Formal dress is encouraged and the proceeds will benefit the scholarship fund for music department students.

Sorry!

In the Oct. 18 issue of the Pendulum, in "Spigle Back at LRC," several corrections are in order. Ed Spigle did not fill the job vacated by Bob Wicker but filled a newly created job for the LRC. His duties include supervision of checking out and in of all audio visual equipment and Spigle is in charge of photography.

He directed one of the Methodist camps, Camp Rock Fish and also worked at Custom Light and Sound.

Spigle is also in charge of theatrical lighting and campus lighting and sound.

Disturbed kids need help

by Susan Phillips

Interested in working with emotionally disturbed children? A representative from the Jack and Ruth Eckerd Foundation will be on campus Tuesday, Nov. 13 to talk with interested students about the therapeutic wilderness camping program. Counselors/teachers live with a group, take part in canoe, backpack, raft and bus trips and generally become

"friends" of the children. Camps are located in Florida, North Carolina and Vermont.

A representative will be interviewing interested students on Tuesday, Nov. 13 from 9:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Sign-up for an appointment in the Career Planning Office, 104 Alamance. A general presentation will be made at 4:30 p.m. in the Student Center Lounge.
