Callas crowned, $115 raised

by Laurie Alcon

Marty Callas, Queen of Hearts for 1980, was crowned by the Civinettes during Tuesday morning's assembly. The Elon Civinettes are sponsored by the Burlington Civitans.

Organizations on campus sponsored their nominees for queen, and the winner was determined by the votes each contestant obtained, with the ruling that one penny equals one vote.

An annual event of the Civinettes, the Queen of Hearts contest raises money for the Heart Fund. This year, the Civinettes raised about $115 to contribute to the fund.

Miss Callas was sponsored by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. First runner-up was Kappa Sigma's hairy friend Miss Fido. Second runner-up was Lydia Grace, sponsored by Alpha Sigma Alpha. Third runner-up was Gwen Smith, sponsored by the Black Cultural Society. Other contestants included Lisa Garriques, Phi Mu; Debbie Pate, Tri-Sigma; Karen Gould, Sigma Phi; Nancy McLawhorn, Civinnetes; Caryl Smith, Harper Center, Caroline Maclin, Zeta Sorority; Bebe Richards, SAM; Cassey Bondurant, Tau Kappa Epsilon; Wayne Mizzell, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Robin Murchison, Kappa Psi Nu; Linda Procter, Virginia Dorm; Jill Colie, Liberal Arts Forum; Belinda Jessup, Daytrippers; Evelyn Hatley, Christian Fellowship; and Janie Brown, Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The Civinettes would like to thank all the contestants and everyone who contributed to this worthwhile cause.

Photographer's work to be shown

An exhibition of photographs, entitled "Composite" by Craig Stanfield, freshman student from West Palm Beach, Fla., will be opened to students and the public at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 27 in the gallery, second floor, Iris Holt McEwen Library.

Stanfield worked as a photographer for the West Palm Beach Post-Times for three years during high school. He worked his senior year for a television station as a street photographer working with video tape. He had one assignment with NBC-TV on the Diana Nyad swim last July. Stanfield has been accepted for work with the Miami Bureau of NBC for the summer of 1981.

This photographer will assist Dr. Mary E. Priestley in conducting a photojournalism workshop at Elon College from March 5 through April 2, Wednesdays, 7 to 9:50 p.m. in the classroom, Learning Resources Center.

The workshop, limited to 20 persons, has a few places left. It is designed to help writers and photographers sharpen their skills for taking pictures for news, features, and photofeatures. The workshop is Communications 272-A, and students may register now.

New major approved

A major in public administration has been approved by the faculty. The new program begins next fall and adds six new courses to the catalog.

Dr. George Taylor, head of public administration, says, "The new major will provide the instruction to qualify under-graduate students for government administrative positions." The demand for this major has increased with the demand in recent years for administrators at city, state and federal levels.

The new major will require Public Administration 211, 212, 311, 431, Business 323 and Political Science 232. A total of 18 hours of 200-400 level courses are required from economics, human services, and geography, plus 14-23 hours of electives.

The Student Government Association is holding the last two days of a referendum for the revised constitution today and tomorrow. Students are urged to vote "Yes" since it represents them. SGA funds, which come from students, were used to revise it. This is your chance to improve the student government with your vote.

Scholarship to be expanded

The Board of Trustees of the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation has approved an expansion of the Truman Scholarship Program by 26 scholars to a total of 79 scholars on a trial-basis for the 1980-81 academic year only, according to Honorable John W. Snyder, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

He said the Board of Trustees approved the one-year trial expansion "after careful study of the Foundation's available reserves."

Under the expansion plan, 26 scholars-at-large will be named for the 1980-81 academic year in addition to the 53 scholars that normally are selected annually. The 26 scholars-at-large will be recommended to the Board by the Foundation's 13 Regional Review Panels. Each review panel will recommend two scholars-at-large and name two alternates, Mr. Snyder said. Thus, the total program for 1980-81 will be 79 scholars, he added, stressing that the expansion is currently being conducted on a trial-basis and that the Board of Trustees will discuss and review the possibility of permanently expanding the number of scholars during its scheduled meeting in April.

Mr. Snyder said he believes the expansion of the program will be particularly helpful in generating more awareness of and participation in The Truman Scholarship Program.

Foundation Executive Secretary Malcolm McCormack said that the Foundation's endowment, which was established by Congress, is currently generating sufficient funds to permit this one-time expansion. "Simply speaking," he added, "at this time we have the funds available to support this trial-basis expansion of the Foundation's scholarships."

Since it began operations three years ago, the Truman Scholarship Foundation annually has awarded 53 scholarships—one to a resident nominee in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and, considered as a single entity, Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa and the Pacific Trust Territories. Recently the first of 13 Regional Review Panels began interviewing semifinalists for consideration as

News Briefs

The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund announced recently that scholarships for the 1980-81 school year of up to $1,500 each will be offered to students who have southern backgrounds and have completed at least two years of college.

With a May 1 application deadline, students must exhibit a true interest in the news and editorial phases of newspapering. The awards committee wants to give scholarships to those who are likely to become leaders in the newspaper field.

Accompanying each application must be a letter of not more than 500 words as to why the applicant wants a scholarship, a photograph of the applicant, and a letter of recommendation from a college authority.

Application blanks may be obtained from: The Ralph McGill Scholarship Fund, Box 4689, Atlanta, Ga. 30302.

Try-outs for parts in the Jean Anouilh version of "Antigone" will be held Monday evening, Feb. 25, beginning at 7 in Mooney Theater, second floor Mooney Building. Richard Wordsworth, visiting British actor, will direct a Readers Theater production of this play in late April. Several parts for men and women are open.

"It has been brought to our attention by law enforcement agencies in the community that they are obligated, by law, to tow all vehicles parked in fire lanes. We regret that the situation has come to this point, but as of Wednesday, Feb. 13, 1980, all vehicles found in fire lanes will be towed at owner's expense," says William G. Long, dean of students.

The registrar's office reminds all seniors that have not made application for graduation to do so immediately. It has come to their attention that some seniors having 106 or more hours may be eligible to graduate in 1980 if they make application to do so.
