

Alumni, photos bring 40's back

By Nancy Crutchfield

Have you ever wondered what Homecoming was like way back then? Homecoming, 1940's style, wasn't much different from the 1980 vintage.

Everyone looked forward to the football games. The Homecoming Queen was crowned before her court, and of course, there was a dance! Homecoming parades then moved, not through metropolitan Elon, but through downtown Burlington.

Things have changed since then, not only for Homecoming but for college life in general.

Imagine having to have two privileges allotted according to class, that's the way it was. Freshmen women had a minimum of one a week and seniors had four privileges.

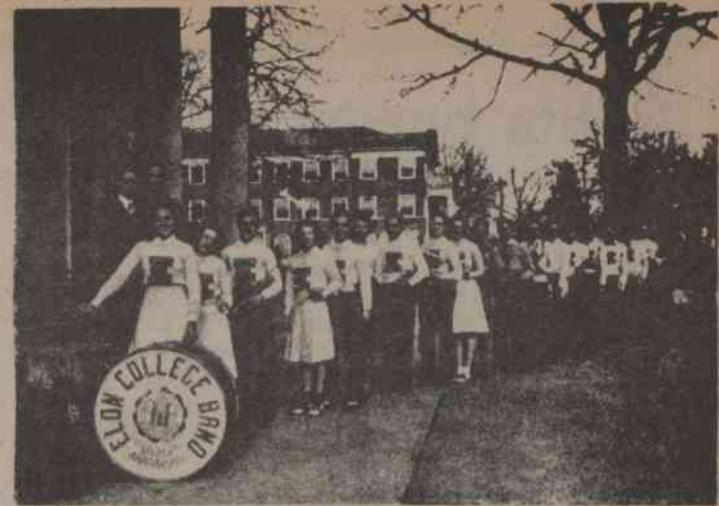

Once a young woman reached her junior year she was allowed to attend the movies with a young man, provided she returned to the dorm by 6:30 p.m.

Students were even allowed to walk together to Hughe's Soda Shop for lunch as long as they returned in time for class.

Think of sitting through dinner without any loud talking or laughter or remarks about the food—virtually unknown in 1980.

A lot of things have changed in the last 35-40 years. Elon College has certainly come a long way.

The Elon College Band 1940. The young woman in front is Evelyn Lilly who was the drum majorette. The man at left in civilian clothes is Howard Brown, a student director.

The Pendulum

Homecoming
Elon vs Newberry
Sat., 2 p.m.

Volume VII Number 10

Elon College, Elon College, N.C. 27244

Thursday, Nov. 6, 1980

Five of the seven ROTC scholarship recipients at Elon College get together in the Quad. From left, Mark Kemp, Kevin Bryant, Frank Grove, Manuel van Montoya, and James Bulla. Not pictured are Hampton Hite and Joseph Rickman, also here on ROTC scholarships. Photo by Avrette.

Six ROTC students hold scholarships

Six cadets at Elon College are here on three-year Reserve Officer Training Corps scholarships and one cadet has a two-year scholarship, each paying all expenses for the length of the award.

Mark Kemp, Sterling Va.; Kevin Bryant, Jackson S.C.; Frank Grove, Richmond, Va.; Manuel van Montoya, Pittsboro; James Bulla, Rockville, Md.; Hampton Hite, Greenville, Va.; and Joseph Rickman, Richmond, Va., hold these coveted educational awards from the ROTC.

"Financial benefits of these scholarships are substantial. They pay the full cost of tuition at participating schools plus the cost of textbooks, lab fees and other educational expenses," says Lt. Col. Charles H. Jackson, Sr., professor of military science at N.C. A & T State University, Greensboro.

"The scholarships also provide a living allowance of as much as $1,000 for each academic year of the period."

Requirements for scholarship applicants are full-time enrollment in a 4-year college, good academic standings, and enough time remaining in school to concur with the term of the scholarship.

For students with less time left, the Army has a special two-year ROTC program. A student can earn a commission as a second lieutenant in the Army, the Army Reserve, or National Guard after two years of campus instruction plus satisfactory completion of a paid, six-week basic camp conducted at Fort Knox, Ky.

ROTC is looking for young men and women with leadership and management potential, says Lt. Col. Jackson.

For further information, contact Capt. Douglas Key or SFC George Beach in Room 208, Long Student Center from 1-5 p.m. Nov. 6-7.

Sigma Tau Delta features Chappell

Fred Chappell, professor of English at UNC-G will speak at the first meeting of the new English honor society, Sigma Tau Delta.

The program and induction will be held Tuesday, Nov. 11 beginning at 5 p.m. with a reception in the large lounge of Long Student Center. Dinner and induction will be held from 6-7 p.m. in McEwen dining hall, second floor.

At 7 p.m. Mr. Chappell will speak at Mooney Theater.

Student nominees not listed in the Oct. 16 issue of The Pendulum are: Charlotte Alford and Alison Joyce.

Emanons play for P.A. system

Is the "Big Band Sound" back? Well, it never left Elon College and the reason will be evident tomorrow night at the Ramada Inn Lounge. The Emanons of Elon will be featured from 9 to 1 in a dance to raise money for a badly needed public address system.

"This is one of the

'grooviest' bands I've had in years," says Dr. Jack White, the director. "They really 'gas me!' Their 'book,' or repertoire contains songs of the Glenn Miller and Count Basie days, through the sounds of the '40's and '50's, up to the present day sounds of Earth, Wind, and Fire and Olivia Newton-John.

The 23-piece ensemble has already performed for Parents Weekend, the 90th anniversary celebration of C.B. Ellis Music Store, and last week at the Pops Concert. These concerts and the one Friday night help them prepare for their month-long tour of the East Coast in January.

SGA HOMECOMING EVENTS

Thursday, Nov. 6

8 p.m. Bonfire — behind Harper Center. Sock Hop — Alumni Gym — sponsored by Black Cultural Society

Friday, Nov. 7

8 p.m. — Dance at Best Western Inn. $3 tickets from SGA and other organizations.

Saturday, Nov. 8

2 p.m. — Game with Newberry College in Burlington Memorial Stadium.

Half-time — Crowning of Homecoming Queen. Presentation of Court.

Book sale

The Elon College Library will hold a book sale to dispose of duplicate, outdated editions and gift copies, on Nov. 11 in front of the library. About 3,000 books will be available.

Hardback and quality paperbacks will sell for $1. Mass marketed paperbacks will sell at 50 cents.