Hedrick sets rushing record

By Vicki Blankenship

For all the fans that came home to Elon for the 1980 Homecoming Weekend, the Saturday afternoon football game was an unforgettable event. For more recent alumni, it was a time to refresh memories on just how well senior runningback Bobby Hedrick can perform.

Bobby Hedrick banged, hurdled, and bounced around in a style all his own, to perform 188 yards rushing on 26 carries. But the 188 yards meant more than a good day's running; it meant a record broken by this outstanding Elon athlete. Hedrick was rewarded with the NAIA career rushing record formerly held by Jerry Linton of Panhandle State, Oklahoma, 1959-62.

The old mark of 4,839 yards was broken by Hedrick with 13:58 remaining in the game. He remained on the sidelines during the final nine minutes of the game and that is the only thing that kept him from gaining 200 yards. Hedrick's career yards stand at 4,847 with two games remaining on the schedule.

At halftime the 6-foot, 177-pound senior had rushed for 108 yards. The excitement of the crowd, wondering if he could gain 73 more yards to break the record, grew louder and louder.

With every run, Hedrick grew closer and the crowd began rising from their seats more often. When the announcement was made over the loudspeaker that Hedrick had just broken the record, all 5,500 fans stood and applauded ecstatically, paying tribute to their great All American runningback.

Hedrick held the football in the air and waved it to the crowd as he trotted to the sidelines to share his glory with his teammates and coaches.

Hedrick gives credit to "good blocking, team spirit and the man upstairs" for his success. Hedrick, along with teammates, is looking forward to getting a berth in the nationals. He says, "I've got to keep gaining more yards."
