Pre-registration starts today — guidelines will hasten process

Pre-registration starts today and students need to follow certain rules and regulations in order to insure that that process goes smoothly, according to Mark Albertson, registrar.

Mr. Albertson suggests these guidelines:

All students need to register according to their current classification. This includes through winter term and does not include this spring semester. Students who do not know their current classification may check on their pre-registration forms for the number that corresponds to their class — 5-senior, 4-junior, 3-sophomore, 2 and 1-freshman, and 6-special.

Before handing in the forms to the registrar make sure the adviser has signed all the forms and that the section has been indicated for each course number. Do not separate any part of the pre-registration form. The computer will match the section letter with a specific time and the two must be the same. Students who register for labs must do so separately and on a different line from the course. Labs have separate numbers and letters for identification.

Repeat courses or courses taken pass/fail or audits require separate cards that must be filled out in order for the registration to be complete. Pass/fail cards must be filled out prior to the first day of classes.

Students are allowed to take two pass/fail classes.

Pre-registration this spring has been increased to seven days from last year's five. This is done to make the process smoother and the allotted time for each class longer. According to registrar, Mark Albertson, "There is no need for students to come to the registrar's office at six in the morning. Try to check by the office several times during your class allotted time and choose the best time."

"Several other things need to be checked before a student completes pre-registration," says Mr. Albertson. Students should check

Fast to begin April 14

The fifth annual CROP Fast will begin Tuesday afternoon, April 14, at 1:30 and last 20 hours until 5:30 p.m., April 15.

This year's pledge money will be divided between the Alamance County Community Service Agency (25 percent) and Somalia, where the world's largest concentration of refugees are living in critical need.

It is estimated that as many as 4,000 people a day are immigrating into the country because of political unrest in the surrounding nations.

Every resident area, club, group or organization on campus has a CROP representative who has pledge envelopes and information sheets for anyone interested in participating in the fast.

Pre-fast activities will include showing the film "I Want to live" at the April 7 assembly program at 9:30 a.m. in Whitley. In addition, the April 9 Celebration Service in Mooney Little Theatre will be hunger/CROP fast related.

"Celebration" is a ecumenical chapel service held each Thursday morning from 9:30 to 9:55.

A cheerleading clinic for 1981-82 prospective cheerleaders at Elon will be held April 6-9 in the East Gym from 3:30 — 5:30.

Ms. Barbara Yarborough will answer questions on the clinic. Her extension is 208.

Senate Judicial Committee dismisses four, accepts four resignations, and reprimands six

The Senate Judicial Committee has dismissed four senators and four other senators have resigned.

Denise Gates, Ginger Gravitte, Scott Northridge, and Vicki Shaw have been officially dismissed from the senate. Their dismissals stemmed from missing two consecutive or three unexcused meetings during the school year.

The senators who resigned include Fil Stidham, Hunt war, Debbie Lamb and Dave Adamo.

In addition to this, the following senators have been officially reprimanded and put on probation with failure to attend any future Senate meetings without an excused absence resulting in dismissal: James Zint, Mary Watson, Jimmy Donnelly, John Liscio, Beth Curran, and Frank Gorham.

According to the Senate Judicial Committee, absent senators "prevent a quorum in the senate and no business can be accomplished."

By this action, the senate hopes to be able to reach a quorum and impress upon those senators remaining that unexcused absences are a serious offense and will no longer be tolerated.

Alpha Chi

Three student memoes of Alpha Chi, academic honorary, will be in Nashville, Tenn., today through Saturday for a national convention. The students are accompanied by Dr. Robert G. Blake, professor of English, who is serving as president of Region III of Alpha Chi.

A previous Pendulum article and editorial discussed the impending senate action.

Cablevision has come to the Town of Elon College.

Bill Shelton of Cablevision of Alamance County has told the Pendulum that cables have been completed for the northern part of town, along Haggard, south as far as Woodale and east to Truitt Drive.

Two power sources are being used, and the second source, to the south, will be completed soon, Shelton says.

Costs for Cablevision are $7.95 for basic service, $2 for an additional outlet, $7.95 for Home Box Office (movies).

Normal installation fee is $15, but the company is offering a special price of $3 at present.

Interested persons may call Bill Shelton at 227-7471.
