

'Barefoot in the Park' opens in Burlington

by Teresa Warren

The Gallery Players' revival production of "Barefoot in the Park" tops the list of available entertainment in the area as the group continues its 10th anniversary celebration at the Paramount Theater in Burlington.

The drama group was first established as an extension of the Alamance County Arts Council in 1971 and presented its first production, which was "Barefoot in the Park," in May 1972.

Featuring many Burlington natives, the revived play will continue its run Friday, Oct. 2 and Saturday, Oct. 3 at 8:15 p.m. A matinee will be presented at 2:15 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 4. Reservations could be made by calling the Arts Center in Graham at 226-4495.

The Gallery Players will also present "Lion in Winter," "Camelot" and "Philadelphia Story" this season.

"Grease" will also continue to run at UNC-Greensboro's Aycock auditorium through Sunday, Oct. 4. This musical comedy will be presented at 8:15 p.m. through Saturday, with a Sunday matinee at 2:15 p.m. For ticket information, contact the theater box office at (919) 379-5575.

Also at UNC-G will be Philip Pearlstein, a New York painter, who will deliver a public lecture today at 4 p.m. "Philip Pearlstein Works" and "James Gallucci Sculpture" will both be open for public viewing through Sunday, Oct. 4 in the Weatherspoon Art Gallery on the UNC-G campus.

The N.C. Shakespeare Festival is currently presenting "Comedy of Errors" at the High Point Theater at 220 E. Commerce St. Performances are tonight at 8:15 and Sunday, Oct. 4, at 2:15 p.m. "Wait Until Dark" will then be presented Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 8:15 p.m.

The Alamance County Arts Council is continuing its exhibit of the costumes and costume designs of the Playmakers Repertory Company and Carolina Playmakers from Chapel Hill through Sunday, Oct. 4 at the Firehouse Galleries in Graham.

The Priestley Fine Art Gallery is also sponsoring "Art for Sportsmen and Nature Lovers" through Saturday, Oct. 3. The gallery is located adjacent to the Elon College campus at 100 N. Williamson Ave.

"The Color of Autumn" in watercolors and oils will be exhibited at the gallery on Tuesday, Oct. 6. The exhibit will continue throughout October.

Duke University will present the Tokyo String Quartet on Saturday, Oct. 3 at 8:15 p.m. Members of the quartet are Peter Oundjian and Kikuei Ikedi, violin; Kazuhide Isomura, viola; and Sadao Harada, cello. The group will perform in the Ernest W. Nelson Music Room in the East Duke Building.

ligence, service, and leadership in campus life.

Its purpose is to encourage leaders to continue their endeavors and to encourage others to attain in a similar manner.

To be considered for ODK, a student must be a junior or senior in the top 35 percent of his or her class.

ODK annually sponsors the Elon Awards Day to recognize students who participate in all facets of student life. During the ceremony the Elon Circle presents the William Mosely Brown Award to the student who, in the opinion of the ODK members at Elon, has most consistently demonstrated the leadership for which the organization stands.

The society also sends a representative from Elon to a ODK regional or national conference each year.

Sigma Tau Delta

Sigma Tau Delta, the English honor society is planning its fall induction service for Thursday, Oct. 22, at 6 p.m. on the second floor of McEwen dining hall.

Ed Wilson, English professor and provost at Wake Forest University will then speak at 7:30 p.m. in Moonsey Theater on "The Value of Humanities in a Practical Age." This part of the induction ceremony will be open to the public.

The society is also sponsoring a reception for all English and English-Journalism majors at the home of Dr. Robert Blake on Wednesday, Oct. 7, from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

As the semester continues, Sigma Tau Delta plans to have luncheons, parties, and conferences available for members to attend, according to Dr. Andrew Angyal, faculty adviser.

To be inducted into the honor society, one must be a junior or senior English major who has completed three semesters at Elon. One must have a B-average in English and be in the top 35 percent of his or her class.

The series on the campus honor societies will be continued next week
