The Student Government Association reviewed two special reports, passed eight bills, and inducted its new officers and senators in last Thursday's senate meeting. The first special report involved the survey on Elon College athletic facilities. The SGA would like to have some idea about the hours which students most frequently use the pool, gyms — and tennis courts. The survey will be taken during cafeteria hours.

The second special report discussed the Dining Committee meeting which was held on Tuesday, Oct. 5. This Halloween, a dinner will be held in McEwen Dining Hall. Students will be dressed in costumes and prizes will be awarded to the best ones. First prize will be $50, second prize $25 and third prize $10.

Vice president Rodney Beebe initiated the first two bills and president Ted Reinheimer originated the last six bills. All eight bills were confirmed by the senate.

Kyle Campbell introduced a bill to allow more students to participate in SGA projects. Many students who are not in the senate expressed an interest in helping with projects. Although the "ex-officio members" will not have any voice in the senate, they will be appointed by the speaker of the senate and placed on various committees.

Becky Dolliver introduced a bill to rename the food committee to the dining committee.

April Buck introduced a bill to confirm the student life committee. The appointees, chosen by Reinheimer, are Diane Darty, Matt Payne, Ron Price, Tracey Walser and Steve Winfield.

Loukia Louka introduced a bill to confirm the Student Communications Media Board. The appointees, chosen by Ted Reinheimer, are Charlie Addison, Ronald Dalton and Diane McSheehy.

Mike Scott introduced a bill to support the United Way of Alamance County. The SGA will make a $200 donation to the United Way.

Fred Applin introduced a bill to confirm the homecoming committee, (Student Activities Commission). The members appointed by Reinheimer are Laura Jo Weller, Lynne Fythe, Lori Clayton, Buck Fambrough, Cathy Spellman, Lisa Brincefield, Sheena Penn and Tom Merricks.

Heidi Gross introduced a bill to confirm the associate justices. Reinheimer appointed James Bula, Tamara Cook, Charles Fambrough, Ire Credle, Ann Melvin and Maxine Hazel.

Tracey Walser introduced a bill to confirm the attorney general and the defense attorney general. Bassam Ibrahim will serve as defense attorney general, and Diane McSheehy will serve as attorney general.

The new freshman officers are President Robert Morabito, Vice President Raymond Covington, and Secretary/Treasurer Gina R. Ashley. Andy Davis was named senior class secretary/treasurer. Jeannie Sutton, Michael Roth and Doug Jeramyn were inducted as senators.

every semester at Elon.

Besides these academic honors, Warren has been quite active in campus life. In 1980, she began working for the Pendulum as a reporter. The following year she served as copy editor. Last year, Warren was co-editor of the Pendulum. During her editorship, the newspaper received All-American Honors, which is the highest honor a college newspaper can receive from the Associated Collegiate Press.

Warren is a member of the Student Union Board, and is a member of the Teacher Education Committee. She is a staff writer of The Magazine of Elon, a writer for Elon College Public Information Office and a lab assistant for general biology and human anatomy.

She is also one of the founders of the Piedmont Triad Student Chapter/International Association of Business Communicators with the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Currently, she is serving as vice president for that organization.

ANTI-SUITCASE weekend was an event that held many activities for Elon College students. The Marshall Crenshaw concert, Skip Castro Band and the Almost Anything Goes contest kept students busy from last Wednesday to Saturday night.
