

The Pendulum

Thursday, April 12, 1984
Volume, X, Number 23

Spring Fling '84 kicks off today

By Patricia Aycock
Staff Writer

Spring Fling is a major program on campus where we try to have a lot planned for that one weekend and to get the students outside and see what really goes on in being involved," said Drew Van Horn, director of Student Activities.

Spring Fling, sponsored by the SGA and SUB will be held this year on April 12, 13, and 14. A wide variety of events will be held, with most of them occurring in the new area.

Beginning this Thursday evening, Spring Fling kicks off with the movie Risky Business to be shown at 8 p.m. at the Harper Center Lake. Then Friday afternoon, a character artist will be present to do drawings of students. At 8:30 p.m., comedian Jack Gallagher will appear at Jordan Gym. At 9 p.m., the band called "States" will play. The concert should last until approximately 1 a.m.

"States just got off a tour with Daryl Hall and John Oates and they received a great amount of recognition," said Van Horn. "Their music ranges from New Wave to Rock and Roll. It really varies. They'll play some Prince. But their roots are really in New Wave and Rock and Roll."

On Saturday from 1 to 5 p.m., there will be an organizational fair in which all the organizations on campus will have the

See Spring Fling page 9

CROSSING THE STATE LINE: The States, a group based in Virginia Beach, VA., will appear in the Jordan Gym at 9 p.m. tomorrow night. This regionally popular group just finished touring with RCA recording artists Hall and Oates.

Three candidates vie for SGA president

By Penny Thomas
Features Editor

The three candidates running for Student Government Association president, along with the other candidates running for executive offices, spoke Tuesday in Mooney Theatre about their upcoming plans and goals if elected.

In alphabetical order, the first candidate for the office of president is Chris Farris, a junior majoring in computer science and mathematics. Farris said that he would like to gain the experience of holding the high office and said that he would be willing to support the students to the best of his ability.

"Student apathy has hindered growth of the student body of Elon," said the second candidate, Tim Malone. Malone is a 21-year-old junior majoring in business. He said that he would work on the problem of student apathy and also proposed to find ways to encourage all senators to attend senate meetings. Malone also outlined other ideas on improving or developing student policies.

Chris Farris

Tim Malone

The final presidential candidate to speak was junior Bob

Bob Moser

Moser, an English and political science major. Moser said that since he has served as vice president of SGA this year, he knows how the SGA and the college work. That knowledge, he said, is essential for the president, because the office needs a person "with the knowledge, ability and guts to stand up to the administration." Moser argued that he can provide the leadership "to build on his record as President."

Two candidates are campaigning for the office of vice president. Michael Nutt, a 21-year-old junior majoring in business finance, said that he wants to continue to work to improve student life by devoting his experience and responsibility as an SGA senator to the office of vice president. He said that Elon is going through changes and he has the past knowledge to help even more things happen.

Matt Payne, the opposing see Elections page 9

Looking at the computer craze

p. 6 & 7

Lacrosse team returns from tournament

p. 10