Despite weeks of speculation about the brawn and ability of Fort Bragg's lacrosse squad, Elon's lacrosse club, the Reptiles, managed to discount all such talk and crush Army by a 21-7 margin. The victory made five weeks of fall training pay off and gave the team reason to believe the spring season could hold much of the same promise.

Elon's lacrosse program, although a club, began its workouts almost the day that students began to file back in from summer vacation.

The fall season is a time that gives seasoned veterans a chance to regroup and brush up on the fundamentals. It is also a chance for the entering freshman and newcomers to see what the program is like and who they will be playing with when the regular spring season rolls around.

Coach George Taylor, a public administration professor, said, "We came out and put it to them. In the first quarter we played our game." The Reptiles second-year attackman Mark Bond scored only 30 seconds into the first quarter.

Elon scored five goals in the opening quarter to lead at the end of the period, 6-0. Middies Peter Carlson, Seth Pomeroy and Brett Howie contributed first-quarter scores as did attackman Peter Farrell and Bond, who added his second goal for good measure.

Second-quarter action saw five more Elon scores although the Bragg team added four of their

Due to rain on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, several of the Intramural football games and tennis matches had to be cancelled.

The only team that has already played three games and is still undefeated, are the Psychos that play in division III.

In division I nothing has changed compared to last week's standings. In division II, Klymax is leading with a 2-0 record, and in division IV the Hackers are still leading.

The women's division still has three undefeated teams, the Acorns, Tri-Sigma and ZTA.

Intramural golf started last week. Participants have been playing games of nine holes at Indian Valley Golf Course and scores should be in soon.

The tennis singles are off to a slow start due to the rain. Fifteen men and eight women participate in this double elimination tournament.

Participants should report to the Intramural fields beside the Oaks between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Oct. 16 or 17. Everyone has three attempts to pass, punt and kick a football. All the attempts will be recorded and a winner will be declared after the last person kicks on Oct. 17.

The deadline for Intramural Racquetball singles is Friday. Games will start on Oct. 15, and all participants should check the Racquetball sign-up sheet on Monday, Oct. 14.

Anyone who wants to participate but does not own a racquet can check one out at the intramural office at no charge.

Warren Wilson tournament next for Christian booters

"We played a very nice, consistent game, if we play like this on Saturday we will not have any trouble," said soccer coach Steve Ballard after the Christians hosted Pembroke State last Thursday afternoon. Elon defeated Pembroke 6-1.

Ballard was speaking about the game against Lenoir-Rhyne on Saturday that was to add to the Homecoming festivities.

Elon's overall soccer record is now 7-1-1 overall. The Christians lead the Carolinas Conference with a 4-0-1 mark and also are in command of District 26 with a 5-0-1 record.

In the victory over Pembroke Mike Wessels scored the first goal eight minutes into the first half and was assisted by Glenn Gess. Gess then took his turn and scored unassisted right before the end of the first half.

The rain slowed down the second half of the game, but Elon kept scoring. Gary Krape scored on a pass from the corner. Wessels scored again, this time unassisted. The last two goals were scored by Mark Schriver. Schriver was assisted by Joe Nepay who crossed the ball.

Out of the eight shots on goal that Pembroke took at the Elon goal, only one resulted in a score. This was a free kick, taken by Gonzalo Suarez of Pembroke State, after a yellow card was given to Elon's Scott LePage. The other attempts were saved by Elon goalie Kip Rackley.

Elon had 18 shots on the Pembroke goal, only 6 were stopped by the goalie. Several good attempts went over or hit the crossbar.

Ballard said after the game that

Elon was "in control." "We had a nice composing level and we took advantage of our opportunities."

Saturday Ballard commented that the game was not played like he expected, "We were inconsistent. It was not one of our better games, but we still won."

"The first half was shaky, but the second half we played much better," added Elon's full back Andy Scheafer.

Elon had 22 attempts at the Lenoir-Rhyne goal, only three however went in the net, while nine were saved by L-R's goalie.

Rackley stopped five of the six shots that the Bears took at the Elon goal.

In this game three yellow cards were given, two to Elon and one to Lenoir-Rhyne.

The Christians are off to the Warren Wilson Tournament October 12 and 13, and meet with East Carolina on Oct. 16.

SOME COLLEGE COURSES ARE MORE EXCITING THAN OTHERS.

How many college courses teach you how to shoot the rapids? Or rappel a cliff? Or find your way out of a forest with nothing but a map and compass to guide you?

At least one does—Army ROTC.

And you could find yourself doing any one of a number of exciting adventure training activities like these in the Army ROTC program.

Activities that develop your stamina. And your self-confidence.

But adventure training isn't the only way you develop. You'll also learn the basics of leadership and management by attending ROTC classes, along with the subjects in your major.

And you'll be excited about two other benefits Army ROTC offers. Financial assistance. Up to $1,000 a year for your last two years of Army ROTC. And the opportunity to graduate with both a degree and a commission in today's Army—including the Army Reserve and Army National Guard.
