Business Majors Invited To Career-Planning Presentation

By Patrick Tillson
LT U.S. Navy Supply Corps

The career path followed by most business students is to go directly from campus to corporation. A career-planning audio-visual presentation of the Navy's Supply Corps questions whether that path is the best one for ambitious students.

According to this presentation, global experience gained in the Supply Corps has been a major factor in the exceptional success of top business and financial executives, such as:

- James D. Robinson III, Chairman American Express
- Edward Carlson, former Chairman/CEO of UAL Inc.
- William Marriott, Chairman/CEO of Marriott Corp.
- James Ketelson, CEO Tenneco Inc.
- Robert I. Stewart, President Liberty National Life Ins. Co.
- John J. Pruis, Vice President corporate relations Ball Corp.

The success of these and many other prominent executives may be explained in part by experience not taught in classrooms or learned in most entry-level positions. This experience includes: learning to work with people, development of a global perspective, management techniques, and postgraduate education in business comparable to an MBA.

Supply Corps officers don't command ships or gun batteries.

As the elite business professionals of the Navy, Supply Corps officers manage one of the largest, most complex business operations on the globe.

Two Career Possibilities

Business students accepted for commissioning in the Supply Corps have two options.

1. The Supply Corps as a career.
2. Return to a civilian position after a tour of two to four years. Under this option, students would be trained for positions which otherwise would not be offered to them.

Business students may find out if they qualify to join the elite business professionals in the Supply Corps by attending a career-planning presentation entitled "The United States Navy Supply Corps. The Business Professionals of the Navy."

This presentation will be conducted by LT Patrick Tillson one time only this semester at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, March 5, in the large lounge of the Student Union.
