Settles, Mickens ink contracts

Elon linebackers Tony Settles and Joh Mickens signed free agent contracts with the Washington Redskins last week.

Settles, a 6-foot-3, 215-pounder from Laurinburg, led the 1986 defense with 11 quarterback sacks and was sixth on the team in tackles with 63. He was an all-conference and all-district performer for Elon and received honorable mention All-American honors.

Mickens, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound reserve linebacker from Miami, Fla., played in eight games for Elon, seeing most of his action on the special teams. The Redskins reportedly feel he will be a prospect on the special teams.

Ray adds volleyball recruit

Volleyball coach Susan Ray added another recruit for the 1987 season with the signing of middle-hitter Donna Meyer.

Meyer is from East Hampton High School in East Hampton, N.Y. and will bring many accolades with her to Elon. She has earned all-league, all-conference and all-county honors while in high school.

Meyer has also spent time in the World Volleyball Training Center.

Ray said she feels Meyer will help her youthful squad, "She should team well with third-year player Michelle Engle, and she is used to a complicated offense," Ray said. "She is a cornerstone that we can build on."

Engle gets academic honor

Elon volleyball player Michelle Engle was nominated for the District Three CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-American team.

Engle, from White Plains, Md., is majoring in business administration.

Engle was the only player nominated from this year's squad.

The third district of the CoSIDA/GTE honor is made up of NAIA and NCAA Division II schools in Florida, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Virginia.

'87 cheerleaders named

Elon cheerleading advisor Gina Jones has announced the 1987 fall cheerleading squad.

The squad is comprised of 16 members and will be led by a trio of seniors: DeDe Simmons, James Aggleston and Carl Funderburk.

The lone junior is Peter Braatz. Sophomores are Tina Albright, Andrea Faulkner, Rebecca McCuiston, Elizabeth McMillian, Lisa Perry, Michelle Southwood, Robert Corritore, Scot Curcio, Willy Drewry, Randall McFarland and Jeff Wilkerson.

Melliss Allen, an incoming freshman, rounds out the squad.

Golfers get bid to nationals

Elon's golf team has accepted a bid to the NAIA National Tournament to be held June 2-5 at Tri-State University in Angola, Ind.

The tournament will be played at the Zoller Golf Club.

This marks the 12th time that Coach Bill Morningstar's teams have made it to the national tournament in his 15 years as head coach. Morningstar's 1982 squad won the NAIA national championship.

Most Valuable Player Craig Gunn will lead Elon's top five players. Gunn, from Danville, Va. finished the year with a 76.4 stroke average.

Rounding out the top five will be juniors Steve Larick, Glenn Bulliner and Mike Kenney and sophomore Bob Byrnes.

Kenney and Bulliner received all-conference and all-district honors this season.

The Christians' best finish in a tournament this year was second. It finished second in the UNC-W Invitational, the Max Ward Invitational here in Burlington and the recent conference/district tournament

New sorority added

Saturday night 13 Elon College women were inducted into Alpha Kappa Alpha, Omicron Epsilon Chapter. The ceremony took place in Mooney Theater and a reception was held afterwards on the second floor of McEwen cafeteria.

Marye Jefferies, Regional Mid-Atlantic director of Alpha Kappa alpha, and Barbara Sellars, president of the Graduate Chapter in Burlington, were responsible for the initiation process. This chapter is the 87th in this region.

AKA was founded Jan. 15, 1908, at Howard University in Washington, D.C., by nine students. They established the organization as an instrument to make the college experience more valuable to black women.

The effort to set up a chapter of the sorority at Elon began in January 1986. Dawn Washington, reporter for AKA, says "It was a difficult process at the time because they didn't know of a definite GPA required for pledging the sorority." In addition, a lot of paper work had to be done and deadlines had to be met which were delayed due to administrative conflicts with the national chapter.

The 13 member sorority is "a social organization which promotes unity, sisterhood, high scholastics, and values to improve the Negro standards," says Crystal Morrison, AKA president. "By having more black sororities on campus, this may pull in more black female students to the college," Morrison says.

The sorority's goals are to promote unity in student relationships, especially among black and white students, and to assist local communities in achieving their goals.

The new sisters of AKA are Crystal Morrison (President), Marie Gaddy (Vice-president), Angela Norris (recording secretary), Lisa Loomer (Treasurer), Michelle Morrison (corresponding secretary), Kim Header (dean of pledges), Dawn Washington (reporter), Lydia Derr Renee Jones, Pam Brown, Angrid Emerson, Mae Haith, and, Lynnice Joyner.

a certain percentage of minority students," Bush said.

Dietra Shugart says, "Another improvement which should be made with the college is to increase the communication courses where one class could be set aside for editing projects and another for commercial projects, instead of putting them altogether. In most of the television communication classes, the student is rushed to edit projects and commercials together."

In being offered a job at a local television station, Shugart feels she has had more education at Elon compared to her competition. "I have been able to have hands on experience with all of the communications equipment. I am one step ahead of other college graduates," Shugart said.

square foot building are also undecided. "We need a million and a half dollar donation in order to give the building a name," Poindexter said. "It would let someone's name live for a couple of hundred years." A donation between 1.5 million and two million dollars would give the donator, with the approval of the board of trustees, the honor of naming the center.

The Arts Center is hoping to bring recognition to Elon once it is completed. "I hope that the professors at Elon will get more recognition. If you have a good piano to play on then you're a better piano player, Guilliams said.

There will be a rehearsal hall that will hold 125 people. Recitals, which usually draw a smaller number of listeners, are to be held in this hall. "You can get lost in a big auditorium," Poindexter said. "It will be a nice place to have a recital."

"We are really excited to open the Fine Arts building after five years, from the time the idea was first discussed, to the time the students start moving."
