

THIS WEEK AT ELON

Tonight

- Hugh Stevens, "Freedom of the Press," Yeager Recital Hall, 7:30 p.m.
- Educating Rita. Also Friday, Admission is by ticket only, Black Box, 8:00 p.m.

Friday

- A.J. Jamal, Comedian, Whitley, 8:00 p.m.

Sunday

- Catholic Mass, Newman Society Large Lounge, Long Student Center 7 p.m.

Monday

- "Reflections on Nicaragua and Guatamala - or Why I missed the 1991 Commencement Festivities." Yeager Recital Hall, 3:30 p.m. Jim Pickens' presentation on his trip with Witness for Peace.
- French Film, Whitley, 4:00 p.m.
- Spanish Film, Nazarin, Whitley, 7 p.m.

Tuesday

- College Chapel, Whitley, 9:30 a.m.
- "Lovers in a Dangerous Time: Social Activism in the context of Guatamala's Civil War" Yeager Recital Hall, 5:00 p.m.
- Health- Related Careers: Professionals representing the allied occupations of medical technology, cytotechnology, physical therapy, physician assistants and health service administrators will discuss their careers. Cannon Room, 7:00 p.m.
- German Film: M, Italian Film: Acqua Sapone, Whitley 8:00 p.m.
- Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Fighting Christian Club Room - Alumni Gym 9:00 p.m.

Wednesday

- Deborah Moses, Yeager Recital Hall, 6:00 - 9:00 p.m., See Page 1 for details.
- Chinese Film: A Great Wall, Whitley, 4:00 p.m.
- Japanese Film: Rashomon, Whitley, 8:00 p.m.

Thursday

- College Coffee, Blueberry muffins, Scott Plaza, 9:30 a.m.-10:00 a.m.
- Spanish Film: Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown, Whitley, 4:00
- ISO Dance, Fine Arts Theatre, 8:00

The band Definitely Sunday definitely participated Saturday in the Battle of the Bands.

Mark Wheeler/The Pendulum

Battle of the Bands

Six groups compete in annual event

Kendal Rasnake
The Pendulum

Musicians battled, or rather played, it out for prizes at last Saturday night's Battle of the Bands.

This annual event presented by the Student Union Board allowed various bands to play in competition against other bands in Whitley Auditorium for prizes. Six bands were entered in this year's event.

Each band was allowed to play two to three previously selected songs of their own choice. This year's music ranged from sad blues to hard rock. The bands played to the audience of approximately 200-300 people and the ever important judges.

According to one spectator, "The bands started out slow and got progressively better."

The last band to play, Brothers in

Andrew Kasab of The Bill Speers Band shows his stuff.

Mark Wheeler/The Pendulum

Funk, was the final winner in the battle. One of their songs was dedicated to the Elon College Security Team, which incorporated the theme from Dragnet.

Others selections included songs about "drinking a little more" and

"digging up Grandma."

"Most of the bands showed good talent, but the winning band had good professionalism, stage presence and put on a good show," said a member of the audience.