

THE PENDULUM

Volume XVIII, Number 11

Serving the Elon College Community

November 22, 1991

THIS WEEK

■ On Saturday at 10 p.m., Jim Barber, ventriloquist-comedian, will be performing in McEwen Dining Hall.

■ Elon's men's basketball team hosts High Point College on Saturday. Tipoff is at 7:30 p.m.

■ Elon's Gospel Choir will be performing on Sunday at 4 p.m. in Yeager Recital Hall.

■ Thanksgiving vacation begins Tuesday afternoon after classes end.

THE PAST

Nineteen years ago: Elon's first women's basketball team authorized for intercollegiate competition, began play in 1972.

Twenty-nine years ago: Lyndon Johnson, former president of the United States, delivered the Founder's Day address at Elon in 1962.

Twenty-five years ago: On Parent's Day, November 5, 1966, dedication ceremonies were held for the William S. Long Student Center as well as Brannock, Barney and Hook dormitories.

Sixty-eight years ago: Elon's administration building burned down on January 18, 1923.

INSIDE

■ Lisa Conklin, an Elon graduate who currently works for WFMY, a television station in Greensboro, came back to campus to talk to students. Check out the story on page 6.

■ Child care at college? Check out the stories on pages 8 and 9.

■ On page 11, Dr. Board talks about Elon's plans for campus renovations and additions.

■ Learn more about Larry McClain, assistant football coach. Check out the story on page 13.

INDEX

Editorials	Page 2
Commentary	Page 3
Cultural
Connection	Pages 6, 7
Focus	Pages 8, 9
Sports	Pages 12, 13
Comics	15

Todd Hershey/The Pendulum

What's the score?

One of the Fightin' Christians' smallest fans attended the final football game of the season Saturday.

Beck Pool renovations are nearing completion

Charity Apple
The Pendulum

Those who enjoy swimming have had to stay on dry land for several months because Beck Pool has been closed for renovations.

Rex Waters, director of Campus Recreation at Elon said that the renovations began in

May and they have lasted longer than anyone had expected.

According to Waters, the pool renovations are completely separate from those scheduled to take place in Alumni Gym.

The pool was in need of improvement. The pool needed glass covers for the underwater

See Pool, Page 10

Theft in Duke building

Murray Glenn
The Pendulum

Three Wolfe Stereo Microscopes valued between $3,000 and $3,500 were stolen from a lab in Duke building.

The microscopes were reported missing to the Elon College Police Department early Tuesday morning. According to police reports, the microscopes were last seen Monday afternoon at 5 p.m.

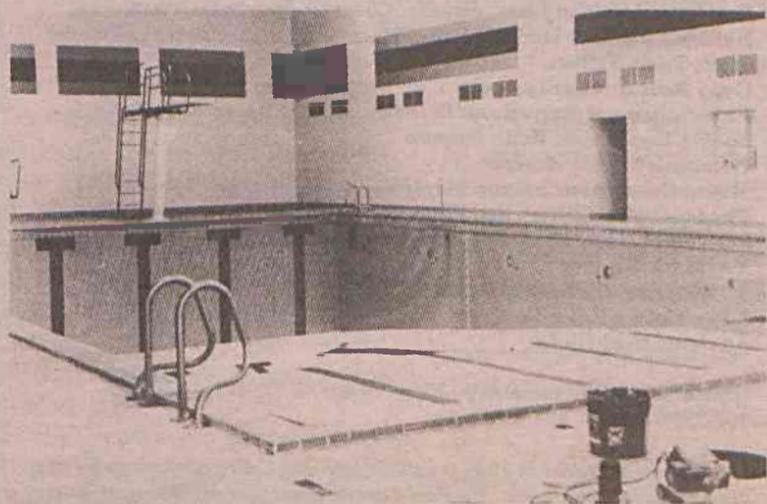

Sergeant Agnew of the Elon College Police Department said that the science lab showed no sign of forced entry. He speculated that entry was made through an unlocked door or with a key.

"We have a number of upper level classes with labs that require students to come back and finish up their work," said Hugh Fields, a biology teacher. "The dilemma for us is that we need to have the equipment accessible for students but we also need safe storage space for our equipment."

"Stereo microscopes are used to see three dimensions of an object," Fields said. "Monocular microscopes allow you to only see one dimension."

Terry Creech, Elon College director of security said that crimes of this nature are very difficult to

See Theft, Page 10

Rob Whiteside/The Pendulum

Beck Pool could open after Thanksgiving.