

THE PENDULUM

Volume XIX, Number 19

Serving the Elon College Community

April 8, 1993

THIS WEEK

■ "Take Back the Night," a march and program sponsored by the One in Three rape awareness group, will begin at 7 p.m. tonight in front of Fonville Fountain.

■ A poetry reading sponsored by Colonnades and the English Department will take place on Wednesday night at 7:00 p.m. in Yeager Recital Hall.

■ For those away from home at Easter, there will be an Easter Sunday celebration at 11 a.m. in Whitley.

■ The Liberal Arts Forum will be sponsoring a Business Forum on Wednesday April 14 in the Fine Arts Theatre at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature people who started their own businesses.

■ SGA will be holding elections next Thursday, April 15 in Long Student Center.

■ The football program is seeking managers and filmers for its '93 season. Contact Coach Stephens at 584-2420 or x2254.

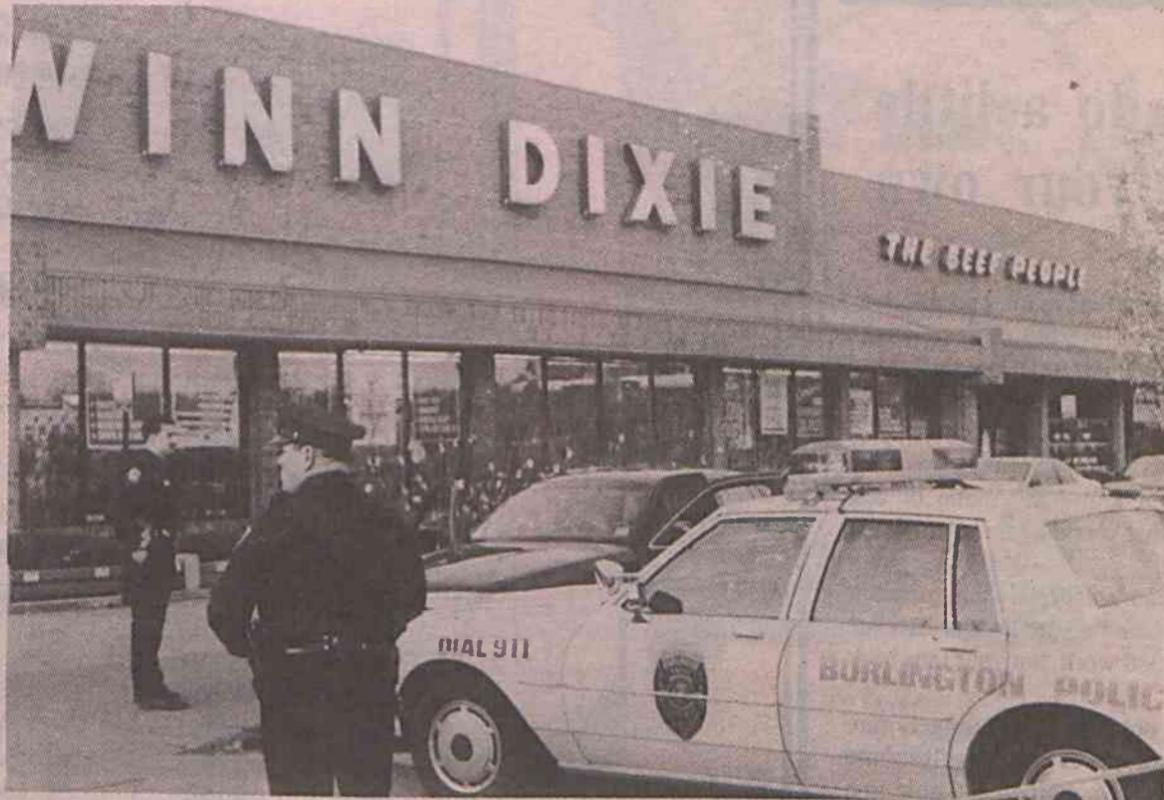

■ The landscaping department advises students to keep off the grass in the coming months. They will soon begin their herbicide and pesticide programs.

THE PAST

One Year Ago: Elon University? Elon College considered changing its name and status so that it could become a university.

Four Years Ago: Elon sponsored its first annual Career Fair. More than two dozen employers came to Elon to represent their businesses, industries and agencies.

Sixteen Years Ago: Greek organizations participated in Elon's third annual Greek Week. The Greeks as well as the student body consumed more than 35 kegs of beer on the first day and competed in drinking games such as run and chug and the six man relay.

DeeDee Carowan/The Pendulum

Burlington police stand guard in front of Winn Dixie on Thursday afternoon where an employee shot and killed a fellow employee and injured two others. The gunman was killed by police during the stand-off.

Shoot-out in suburbia

Two killed after shooting spree at local Winn Dixie

DeeDee Carowan
The Pendulum

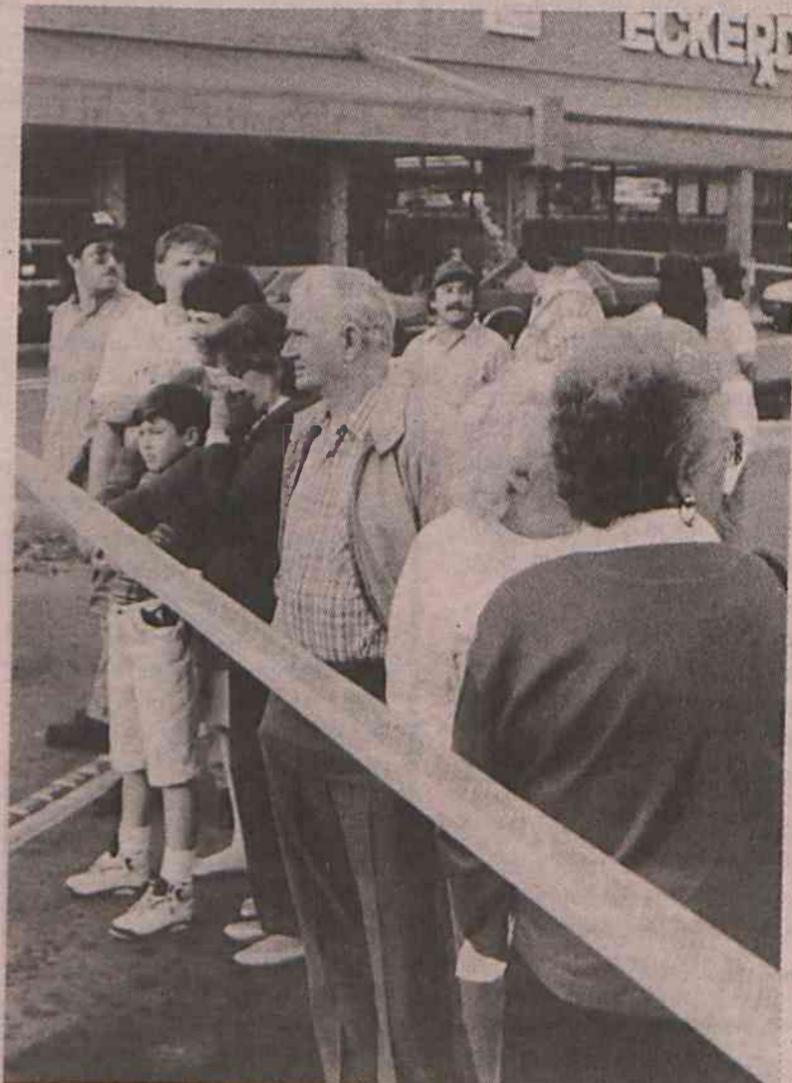

Senior Lynne Lailas returned to the scene of the crime on Sunday night, trying to overcome her fears from one terrifying trip to the grocery store.

Lailas had strolled into the Winn Dixie Thursday afternoon much like she does every other day, keys in one hand, checkbook in the other. She headed for the freezer case for frozen yogurt.

"I'd only been in there five minutes, trying to make a decision between Pecan Praline and Cookies 'n' Cream when 'boom,'" Lailas said.

Like a scene from a TV movie, quiet suburban Burlington became a battlefield on Thursday when a Winn Dixie employee entered the crowded local grocery store and started shooting.

Lailas heard three gunshots

DeeDee Carowan/The Pendulum

Local residents and customers stand in disbelief behind police lines.

Gymnast to address graduates

DeeDee Carowan
The Pendulum

The man who captained the only gold medal-winning U.S. men's gymnastics team in Olympic history will deliver the commencement address on Saturday, May 22.

A gold medalist from the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, Peter Vidmar has been selected to share his experiences and successes with the senior class.

The selection process began with the senior class advisory committee, AIR (Alumni in Residence), which conducted a survey of seniors to see what criteria they were looking for in a commencement speaker.

The three major requests by the senior class were for name recognition, a non-journalist, and for the speech content to be motivational.

"This is one of the first years
See Speaker, Page 4

Nationals yank Pi Kappa Phi from campus

DeeDee Carowan
The Pendulum

Elon's chapter of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity has lost not only their name, but the very shirts off their backs.

The fraternity's nationals cracked down on the chapter on Tuesday, March 30 for their lack of compliance to the rechartering standards and released the brothers from membership in the organization.

"We're still a brotherhood," said Pi Kap's InterFraternity Council representative Phil Bianco. "The only thing they took from us is our letters."

What this means for the

See Fraternity, Page 10