

■ A look back

The politicking, shooting & marching that was 1992-93

The year brought Presidents and psycho killers, hurricanes and snowfall, policy changes and construction, debate and activism.

Here's an official hitting of the highlights that touched the lives of Elon students this year of 1992-93.

■ September: Students return to a campus under construction. A county-wide mandatory recycling program is implemented. Presidential hopeful Bill Clinton makes his first campaign stop in the state in Greensboro. President Bush addresses local businessmen in Greensboro. Local residents protest the construction of the Cook Road bypass. Native American Doris Leader Charge speaks out at fall convocation.

■ October: Clinton, Gore and their wives visit the Elon

■ November
AOPi takes Homecoming.

campus on a bus tour across the southeast. Bush brings his whistle-stop train campaign through Elon on his way to Burlington. Alpha Xi Delta sorority begins colonizing.

■ November: Homecoming is set to a controversial Disney theme and boasts the first male candidate for "queen." Columnist Jack Duval proposes mass annihilation of Elon's squirrel population. Habitat for Humanity sponsors a sleep-out by Fonville Fountain during their land drive. Producer of The Silence of the Lambs Kenneth Utt is presented with a distinguished alumnus award.

■ February: Elon mourns the death of freshman Danie Rokely in a memorial service. The plus-minus grading system is approved.

■ March: Dirt flew at the groundbreaking for the new campus center. The Safe Rides program gets underway, inspired by the death of Chad Macy.

■ April: A local Winn Dixie employee is killed after opening fire in the grocery store, killing a co-worker and wounding two others. Some 600 men and women "took back the night" to protest violence against women. UNC-Chapel Hill wins the NCAA basketball championship. The controversial 4.0 hour class schedule is approved. The town of Elon College celebrates its 100th birthday.

■ October
The presidential campaign trail blazed through Elon College when Clinton

■ September
Burlington joins in the relief effort for Hurricane Andrew victims.

■ April
The local Winn-Dixie became a war zone after one employee shot and killed another.