

SGA Presidential Election Profile

Erick Gill/ The Pendulum

SGA Presidential Candidate Charlie Smith.

Erick Gill/ The Pendulum

SGA Presidential Candidate Floyd Barrett.

Erick Gill/ The Pendulum

SGA Presidential Candidate Larry Williams.

Elections are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. today in Long

Background:
 Charlie Smith is from La Grange, North Carolina. He is majoring in History/Prelaw with a minor in English.

Experience:
 Smith has been involved with student government since middle school. He has been freshman class president, sophomore senator, and junior senator during his years at Elon.

Goals:
 Smith is running to break what he believes to be a stagnant flow of ideas within Elon's SGA. Smith wants to bring fresh and new ideas to SGA which will help to make it run more efficiently.

Smith plans to have an SGA representative appear regularly on ECTV so students can call in and discuss the issues of SGA or just voice their opinions.

Smith wants to increase the student involvement on campus. He plans on distributing flyers once a semester to students. The flyers will come before the Board of Trustees visit and will list issues that they will be discussing at the meeting.

Smith also plans on enforcing Roberts Rules of Order, which is a book on Parliamentary procedures and methods. These procedures will be used and enforced to help run meetings. Smith feels that students in SGA believe that Roberts Rules of Orders is too difficult and complex to understand that is why it is not being enforced.

Background:
 Born in New York City, Floyd Barrett has a double major in Political Science and Public Administration.

Experience:
 He became involved with student government during his senior year in high school where he was senior class president. Barrett has been a member of the North Carolina Student Legislature since his freshman year at Elon. He has also served two years on the SGA at Elon.

Goals:
 Barrett wants to strengthen the weak communication between SGA and the student body. He feels that many students are not fully made aware of issues that are discussed within SGA. To solve this problem of communication Barrett wants to distribute flyers to the students explaining issues that the SGA is currently discussing.

Barrett also wants to work with the students to build a better support group among the student body. He believes SGA should be the leader of this support. "Too many times students have complained that their organizations are not being supported by the student body and SGA," said Barrett. "SGA has not been the leader of this support and they should be." To strengthen this role of support, Barrett plans to require senators in SGA to attend meetings of the various organizations on campus. Barrett feels that this will help to make SGA realize what is going on around campus.

Background:
 Larry Williams is from Portsmouth, Rhode Island. He is majoring in Business Administration with a minor in English.

Experience:
 Williams served as a senator during his sophomore year at Elon. During his junior year he served on the Student Life Committee at Elon.

Goals:
 Williams is running as SGA president to "represent the student body and unite all the organizations on campus."

His first priority is to go to each organization on campus and ask them what they like and dislike about SGA. "I think that the student body should set the goals of SGA rather than SGA just setting the goals," said Williams.

Williams also wants to make SGA more noticeable to the students on campus. To do this he plans to get more senators out in the open at campus activities and functions. They will be required to wear name tags to identify themselves.

Williams also wants to keep up the strong relationship with the faculty. He believes that the faculty here at Elon is very supportive and have given great input in the past.

Compiled by Sarah Clarke