Brie Bittenbender

On Tues., Sept. 24, at 8:00 p.m. in McCrary Theatre, Sally Rogers will be performing her traditional, contemporary and original ballads.

Rogers, wife and mother has released 13 albums. Such albums as her second, Circle of the Sun, recieved the Best Folk Album of 1982 award from the National Association of Independent Record Distributors.

One of her most recent albums which is lullabys for infants and toddlers, At Quiet O'Clock, also won the NAIRD award among many others.

Throughout her concerts not only does she have a voice that has been regarded as "remarkable" to "mesmerizing" by reveiwiers, but she also accompanies herself on guitar and Appalachian duclimer. Rogers does nearly all of her own original ballads, but she also includes many of which are considered classics of the folk and popular genre.

Rogers has won numerous other awards. These include the NAIRD award for What Can One Person Do?

Her album Closing the Distance was voted throughout many country stations as among the 10 most popular albums of the year. Her album Peace by Peace recieved wide critical and popular acclaim.

Not only is Rogers gaining popularity with album releases but in 1994 her first childrens book, "Over in the Endangered Meadow," was to be published by E.P. Dutton of New York.

Rogers musical skills will be sure to provide great entertainment for the evening. Be sure to catch this extremely talented musician here at Elon.

There will be a special performance by a 9-year-old future music theatre major, Jordan Ashley Baker, who is the daughter of Elon's athletic trainer, Marty Baker.

"The collage promises to be a fun, snappy show. It has been a sold out event every year and I know this year won't be any different." McNeela said.
