

Ethos committee to sponsor graduate school information fair

Jeff Sanders
The Pendulum

As part of the annual April campaign on academic ethos, the Academic Ethos Committee and Career Services will co-sponsor a Graduate School Information Fair on Wednesday, April 28 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Koury Center Concourse.

All Elon students are invited to attend the free event, which will include information workshops on undergraduate preparation for graduate school, the graduate school application process, and what it's like to be a graduate student.

Also within the Koury Center concourse graduate school representatives and students from prominent area graduate programs will staff information booths.

Workshop topics expected to be covered include: standardized tests, how and where to find information, the difference between masters and doctoral studies, GPA and expectations, reference letters, work load, grad student life, difference in learning, financing and other costs, expectations, and acceptance rate among others.

The fair will be divided so that students who wish to see some or all of the information workshops need not stay the entire three hours.

Additionally, Elon College alumni and current graduate students from many area programs will be on hand to field questions and provide advice as well as participate in a general panel discussion.

Coordinators of the event include students Ebon Freeman and Jeff Sanders, faculty members Jim Brown and William Stott, and Steve Swint, assistant director of Career Services and Bob Orndorff, director of Career Services.

More information about the fair may be obtained by contacting Jim Brown at x2190 or e-mail brownjim@elon.edu
