

THE PENDULUM

Volume 31, Issue 14

January 19, 2006

www.elon.edu/pendulum

"If it matters to you, it matters to The Pendulum."

Rough starts for study abroad

IRELAND

14 students arrived a day after their fellow students.

NEW ZEALAND

A student couldn't make the international flight and arrived later than the rest of the class.

INDEPENDENCE AIR

This airline declared bankruptcy and announced it will cancel all flights after Jan. 5, thus forcing some students to find alternate flights home.

GREECE

Six students missed the international flights and arrived later than the rest of their classmates.

PERU

One student missed the international flight and arrived later than the rest of the class.

AUSTRALIA

The faculty couldn't make their international flights and arrived six hours after their students.

Jessica Frizen

News Editor

Students heading abroad this Winter Term were met with a string of bad weather on the East Coast. What resulted were flight delays, missed flights and a load of lost luggage.

It started for some students on Jan. 2, when Independence Air announced that it was declaring bankruptcy. They canceled all flights after Jan. 5. This meant all students who were able to take Independence Air on their first domestic flight had to find another flight back.

That night, faculty members of the "Conducting Business in the Pacific Rim" class missed their international flight out of Newark, due to weather and air traffic delays.

The next day, people keeping up with the study abroad travels were glad to learn that seven classes made it safely to their destinations, with the only problem being some missing luggage.

Students traveling on Jan. 4 were not so fortunate. One student could not make the international flight to Peru and arrived later than the rest of the class. The same situation happened for six students headed to Greece and a student in the New Zealand Business class.

See WEATHER p. 5

FEATURES

p. 15

Meet Elon's Asami Sudani, a student with experiences to share.

ENTERTAINMENT

p. 18

Check out the Year in Review for a recap of 2005's best movies.

SPORTS

p. 22

Get to know the new Athletic Director, Dave Blank.