information blanks to all students, seeking something to do, but many would feel ridiculous walking into the room and asking what he can do. We definitely need to improve the method of picking from the hat, at least when the hat begins to have reserved space. This is never-ending, and it is improving somewhat. But, if you are tired of "This is Your Life," why not do something? If an interested student, GO up to the SGA Office, find out what is happening-volunteer. If already in SGA, seek out new people and get them interested. Remember, people in SGA do not create "private enterprise" control. We will not know what leadership and good followership lies yet undiscovered until some good communication is developed. CT

FOOD COMMITTEE REPORT

The Food Committee held its first meeting for the Spring semester on Monday afternoon, February 4. Chairman Luke O'Hara presided over the meeting and Mr. Wells, advisor for the committee, was also present.

The first item on the agenda was a complaint from the students that a sandwich was served as a substitute for meat on one of the Saturday meals. Some objected to the substitute. The committee and Mr. Wells agreed that it was sufficient along with the other vegetables.

Mr. O'Hara asked if the Jet-Spray dispenser for fruit drinks had been ordered. This dispenser would provide the students with a variety of drinks other than tea and water. It would be placed in the cafeteria for self-service operation. Mr. Wells said he had placed the order.

One committee member asked about the possibility of having a cafeteria budget published in order for the students to be able to see what is being done with their money. Mr. Wells answered that the cafeteria spendings are primarily the business of the school and the Slater Service, not of the students.

It was a general agreement among the committee members that the student complaints about the cold Sunday night meals are valid. Mr. Wells gave the answer that the cold meals are a result of insufficient kitchen staff on Sundays.

Complaints were reported that the meat has not been cooked long enough in the last few weeks. A suggestion was made that instead of having peanut butter on one day and jelly the next, both be placed on the seconds table on the same day.

Mr. Wells announced that he placed an order for a new screen some months ago. The old screen was broken and had to be removed from the dining hall.

Mr. Wells announced that the buffet for this month will probably have the Mardi Gras as its theme.

Respectively submitted,
Luke O'Hara, President
