

THE ROVING GHETTO

by Ghetto & Co.

For years people have been arguing about the merits of Elon's required chapel programs. In order to get the views of typical students, we sent our mobile unit to the Elon campus one Friday morning. And now to the Roving Ghetto:

GHETTO: This is the Roving Ghetto, stationed in front of Whitley Auditorium, where students are filing out after attending chapel. Let's see if we can talk to some of them... You, sir, what did you think of today's program?

MIKE GRITTE: Gosh, I can't (yawn) really tell you—I just (yawn) woke up about two minutes ago...sorry (yawn)...

GHETTO: Maybe they should hand out No-Doz in there. Sir, can you tell our listeners what happened in chapel today?

TOM SWIPHTE: Yeah, man! I did some homework, studied for a test, and wrote a letter to my girl in Altamahaw-Cassippee.
