

Presentation

MR. JOHN W. PARKER formally presents Dr. J. W. Seabrook with a beautiful piece of the set of silver given to him and Mrs. Seabrook at their testimonial banquet Friday, May 22, 1953.

HEALTH EDUCATION

(Continued from Page 1)

curriculum in order that their graduates may develop the competencies in health education necessary not only for all health teachers but also for other teachers.

Among the problems which were discussed were: (1) the certification of health teachers in North Carolina, (2) the appropriation of funds earmarked for health improvement in the public schools, and (3) the growing recognition that health is important to everyone.

Leading the discussions on "How Can the College Enrich Its Curriculum to Develop Desirable Competencies in Health Education for Special Health Teachers and Others?" were Mr. Charles Spencer, Director School Health Coordinating Service, North Carolina State Department of Public Instruction and North Carolina State Board of Health, Raleigh, North Carolina, and Dr. Maude Yancey, Instructor in Health Education, North Carolina College at Durham, North Carolina.

Mrs. Frazier Savage, Instructor in Health Education, North Carolina College at Durham, N. C., led the discussion of "How Can the College Enrich Its Curriculum So As to Provide Healthful College Living in the Preparation of Special Health Teachers and Others?"

Co-Chairmen of the conference were Mr. D. A. Williams, Instructor in Health Education, Fayetteville State Teachers College, Fayetteville, North Carolina, and Mrs. Georgia Barbee, Health Educator for School Health Coordinating Service, North Carolina State Board of Health and State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, N. C.

ENGLISH DEPT. CLOSES MONTHLY SESSIONS

The Department of English at the Fayetteville State Teachers College, Fayetteville, has just concluded a series of monthly meetings growing out of problems incident to the work of the several courses.

Miss D. McNair spoke on "Teaching Grammar Apart from Composition"; Mrs. Nannie T. Smith discussed "Studying the Subject as Well as the Object"; Miss Lois P. Turner talked on "A Re-evaluation of Our Speech Work," and Mrs. Minnetta Scott's discussion centered about the topic, "To Diagram or Not to Diagram."

The members of the English Department include: Miss Lois Turner, literature, speech, and drama; Mr. Werner L. Jordan, composition; Mrs. Lorena C. Carter, composition and education; Mrs. M. H. Scott, composition and literature; Mrs. Nannie T. Smith, composition and literature; Mr. John W. Park-

Dean Attends Personnel Meet

Miss Geneva J. Holmes, for two years Dean of Women at the Fayetteville State Teachers College, represented the institution at the annual meeting of the American Personnel and Guidance Association in progress at the Conrad-Hilton Hotel in Chicago, March 29-April 2, 1953. Meeting at the same place and at the same time was the National Association of Deans of Women.

Dean Holes attended the annual meeting of the Association of Deans of Women and Advisors to Girls in Negro Schools and Colleges which convened at Virginia State College, Petersburg, Virginia, April 2-4, and served as group leader. The theme of the meeting was "New Horizons in Effective Living."

er (chairman), composition, speech, and literature; and Miss D. McNair (secretary), literature and composition.

Silver Set

DR. AND MRS. J. W. SEABROOK graciously and happily accept the silver service presented to them by members of the faculty and the alumni.