

Phi Beta Sigma Chapter Organizes

On October 18 a new chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was organized at FSTC. The five newcomers, all active in campus affairs, were initiated by the local Zeta Beta Sigma Chapter of the fraternity. Shown here as charter members of the local college chapter are Johnny Pettiford, Benjamine Wright, Foster Williams, James Robinson, and Robert Williams.

Graduate Record Exams

The Graduate Record Examinations, required of applicants for admission to a number of graduate schools, will be administered at examination centers throughout the country four times in the coming year, Educational Testing Service has announced. During 1953-54 nearly 9,000 students took the GRE in partial fulfillment of admission requirements of graduate schools which prescribed it.

This fall candidates may take the GRE on January 27, April 30, and July 19, 1955. ETS advises each applicant to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take and on which dates. Applicants for graduate school fellowships should ordinarily take the designated examinations in the fall administration.

The GRE tests offered in these nationwide programs include a test of general scholastic ability and advanced level tests of achievement in 16 different subject matter fields. According to ETS, candidates are permitted to take the Aptitude Test and/or one of the Advanced tests.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which provides details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J., or P. O. Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, Calif. A completed application must reach the ETS office at least 15 days before the date of the administration for which the candidate is applying.

Pillars of Society

The subject of Rabbi Harry Kaplan, professor of the Old Testament at Shaw University, who was our chapel speaker on October 25, 1954, was "Three Pillars of Human Society." The first "pillar" is the pursuit of knowledge. Religious conflicts are due to ignorance and can only be eliminated through education. Rabbi Kaplan believes that if all founders of different religions were called together, they would agree that their prime purpose would be to uplift the masses. Until the world learns that all religions are one, and that there is only one race, there will

JEAN BAKER "MISS AKA"

Sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority extend greetings to all freshmen and new and former students with hopes that this school year will prove to be a most enlightening as well as an enjoyable year.

The Delta Alpha Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority began the school year of 1954-55 by sponsoring a tea on September 19, for the freshmen and new students.

In the Homecoming Parade, Soror Jean Baker reigned as Miss A. K. A.

The freshmen and new students enjoyed a pre-Halloween Party, on October 29, which was sponsored by the sorors.

There are many educational, social, and spiritual activities being planned for the remainder of the school year.

be confusion.

The second "pillar" is high and noble religion. As long as the world has existed there has been some kind of religion; however, it has not eliminated poverty, war or disease. That does not mean that religion has failed mankind, instead, man has failed religion. Religion should not be considered a luxury but a necessity, for unless civilization is built on religion it will surely fail.

The third "pillar" is kind and noble deeds. Today there are still some people who believe that true strength lies in barbarianism, fear, hate, and cruelty. To attain peace and happiness we must be merciful, kind and compassionate. Rabbi Kaplan concluded by stating that though the world is in a terrible state, it will realize its errors before it destroys itself.

LAW SCHOOL TESTS

The Law School Admission Test, required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the United States on the mornings of February 19, April 23, and August 6, 1955. During 1953-54 some 8200 applicants took this test, and their scores were sent to over 100 law schools.

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Law School Admission Test and when. Since many law schools select their freshman classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised ordinarily to take either the November or the February test, if possible.

The Law School Admission Test, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information. It cannot be "crammed" for. Sample questions and information regarding registration for and administration of the test are given in a Bulletin of Information.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Administration Test, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received at least 10 days before the desired testing date in order to allow ETS time to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

Organization Heads

More than a score of students recently elected to lead the several student organizations on the campus of the Fayetteville State Teachers College are now appropriately designated as "Mr. President." Each has maintained a substantial scholarship average and has demonstrated qualities of leadership about the grounds.

The list of Fayetteville leaders includes Ethel Brown of Council, president of the local chapter of the Alpha Kappa Mu Honorary Society; Gloria Bridgers, freshman of Tarboro, president of Bickett Hall Dormitory Association; Eliza Bullock, junior of Henderson, president of the Charles W. Chestnutt Book Club; Robert McBride of Fayetteville, president of the Freshman Class; and Richard Woods, sophomore of Newark, N. J., president of the Sophomore Class.

Johnnie Pettiford, junior of Creedmore, is president of the junior class; Julia McCormick, senior of Rocky Point, president of the senior class and of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority; Willie Alston, junior of Nashville, superintendent of the College Sunday School; Truman Thames, junior of Fayetteville, president of Day Student's Organization; Lelia Thompson, junior of Lumberton, president of the local chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority; Melba Johnson, sophomore of Warrenton, president of the Drama Guild; Desiree Croom, senior of Goldsboro, president of the local unit of the Future Teachers of America and of the Pan-Hellenic Council; Dazzerine Williams, senior of Wilson, president of Harris Hall Dormitory Association; Foster Williams, junior of Sanford, president of Hood Hall Dormitory Association and of the Young Men's Christian Association; Doris Lackey, sophomore of Jackson, president of Joyner Hall Dormitory Association; Delores Baker, senior of Raleigh, president of Marshall Club and of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Meet Your Editors

The Voice staff proudly introduces to you its editor-in-chief, Donald Brawner, who is a native of the nation's capital, Washington, D. C., and a 1951 graduate of Armstrong Technical High School in Washington.

Mr. Brawner, a junior in the college, is vice-president of the Y.M.C.A., counselor of Hood Hall, Student Council representative, and an outstanding athlete. He is very personable and ambitious. His favorite hobby is collecting records, preferably progressive jazz, his favorite artists being Dave Brubeck and Gerry Mulligan; his favorite actor is Richard Widmark; his favorite actress Jean Simmons. He spends his leisure hours with Mickey Spillane and Edgar Allan Poe.

Girls? Yes, he likes the "fine," intellectual, outdoor type.

Assistant editor is Harriette Lockhart who hails from that "city of the sea," Wilmington, N. C.

Miss Lockhart, a college senior, is active in the Women's Collegiate Club, the Red Cross, and she is also a Student Council representative.

Her favorite pastimes are reading good books and collecting rec-

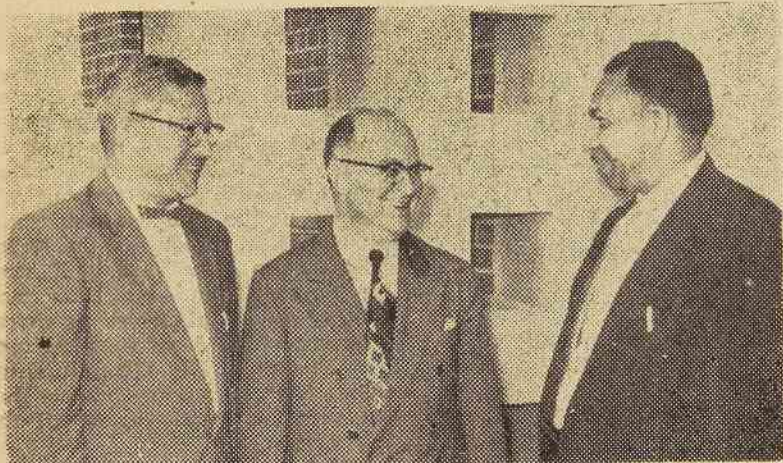

GENERAL MOTORS SENDS PREVIEWS OF PROGRESS

Presenting what was probably the most interesting assembly held at the college this year, Mr. Jack Bowlson and an assistant, one of the 17 demonstration units in this country and abroad, gave us a glimpse into the fascinating world of science.

Manufacturing a sample of synthetic rubber, pounding a large nail into a two-by-four with a "baloney bottle" which was later shattered by dropping a jagged piece of carborundum inside it, displaying and revealing the history of models of Thomas Edison's original phonograph, demonstrating hi-fi and stereophonic sound, explaining micro-wave transmission and reception, induction heating, and radar kept the team pleasantly occupied and the audience spellbound. Yet, seldom have two men seemed to enjoy their work so much.

She likes Frank Yerby and Walt Whitman. Her favorite musicians are Stan Kenton, Charlie Parker, and Chet Baker.

She likes the fellows strong, athletic, intellectual, and, of course, handsome.

Mr. Irving S. Cheroff, area director of the USO and the JWB, Rabbi Kaplan, guest speaker, and Dr. Rudolph Jones chat informally after the assembly program during which Rabbi Kaplan delivered an address. (See "Pillars of Society" above).
