

The Thoroughfare Of College Life

Charles Click

Let us begin with college life as we know it. College life is a thoroughfare upon which we find ourselves travelers. Behind us is our immediate beginning—birth. It is a vast eternity. Ahead of us is still another inevitable outcome—the end. This end comes to us when we receive our degrees at graduation time, and when we are born again into a new world because of our college accomplishments. It is a mystery which either instills fear or is accepted with understanding—depending upon the experiences we have along this course of college life. Some of us did not ask for this college life; yet, we could not have refused it. In our youth we feared things which we later came to recognize as harmless and really useful.

It is always the unknown in every day's activities that causes us worry, concern, perplexity, and even suffering. We, as college students, must understand these things if we are to become a success in life.

Every intelligent traveler knows whence he come and whither he goes. The span of college life can be so much more free of obstacles and enjoyable, if all of its purposes and ways are understood and used.

From me to you—let me say: college life is what you make it. An intelligent plan, well directed, can provide personal power and attainment.

Sophomore Class Notes

The sophomore class has progressed most satisfactorily under the leadership of Charles S. Perry, president; George Wilson, vice-president; Marjorie Langston, secretary; Jesse Hall, treasurer; Willie Dancy, student government representative; and Betty Smith, parliamentarian.

During the first quarter Miss Ruby Hagans was elected Sophomore Sweetheart of the year.

We wish to note with pride the many roles of leadership and responsibility that Sophomores are taking in campus activities and events. Commendations are especially extended to:

Gertina Keyes, Marjorie Langston, Betty J. Smith, Margaret Telfair, Charles Perry, and Ned White for qualifying for the Dean's List for the first quarter.

Percy Arrington, Thomas Rawley, Fred Jackson, and James Herbert for their fine contributions to the basketball Broncos.

All Sophomores who have participated in Chapel and Vesper Programs.

Laura Latham, Dorothy Graham, Annie Bowens, Gladys Hall George Wilson, and Fred Jackson for taking part in the Leadership Conference held on our campus.

We hope that more Sophomores will take even greater roles of leadership and responsibility in campus affairs, for in doing so we can best improve the quality of the Sophomore class.

My Advice To Freshmen

I am on the threshold of being graduated from college. As I reflect upon the four years I have spent here, many things come to my mind. I want others, especially the Freshmen, to benefit because of the many fine experiences I have had here at Fayetteville State Teachers College. My first year proved to be important to me because of the guidance and counsel provided me by a wonderful group of teachers. I found them to be genuinely interested in my comfort and welfare. I counsel you to stop for a moment, take inventory of yourselves, and listen to the advice of administrators and teachers. They are sincere people and want you to succeed. Time is an important factor in a person's life. Did I spend my time wisely? Stop, Freshmen! Ask yourself this question. If you spend your time wisely now, you will be better prepared to encounter future frustrations.

It's easy to get off to a bad start, and too much social life at the expense of your studies will surely show up in your grades. Use moderation in everything. Participate in activities, constructive ones, however. Have a hobby, use the library, learn to play some type of musical instrument. Develop your total personality. Be well-rounded and live a balanced life.

ZETA ZEST

Before Omega Beta ends another one of her eventful years let us take a look at her calendar for 1959-60.

On February 28, 1960 our Finer Womanhood Week was climaxed by a vesper program with Soror Mildred Boone, a psychiatric social worker, of Petersburg, Virginia, who explored the subject "College Youth and the Challenge of Tomorrow."

Immediately after vespers, a tea was given to honor the speaker by Upsilon Gamma Zeta and Omega Beta Chapters of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority.

The most talked about Zetalite Ball came next on the calendar. Lilly Gymnasium was like a blue and white ballroom with beautiful music in the background. Dr. Rudolph Jones, our president, extended greetings to everyone. Miss Audrey Colvon, Area of Social Science, who looked sweet enough to be a debutante, presented the Zetalites to society. Dr. Lafayette Parker, our Dean, crowned Miss Eva McEachern, a senior at E. E. Smith High School, queen of the ball. The debutantes were juniors and seniors of the high schools of Fayetteville and surrounding towns. The following freshmen of our college were debutantes: Willie Hardy, Jacquelyn Jones, Edna Martin, Annie Mason, Christine McNeill, Athalia Pridgen, Annie Powell, Lois Tucker, and Joyce Whitaker.

One of our newest sorors, Fannie Tyson, was chosen "Sigma Sweetheart" for 1960-61. With this honored title she received many gifts as well as the privilege of riding in a 1960 white convertible Cadillac. She was later presented a magnificent corsage of white carnations.

The members of our college family, who have not had a chance to view a P. T. A. meeting, had the chance of doing so when the Zetas let the public see what such a meeting is like, in assembly program on March 28, 1960.

We are also looking forward to being represented in our regional meeting to be held April 28, through May 1, 1960 in Rocky Point, North Carolina.

We are looking forward to seeing our graduating sorors receive the most longed for B. S. Degree in Elementary Education, May 29, 1960. Congratulations are in order to them.

It is the hope of the Zetas that all members of the college family have spent an enjoyable and profitable year at Fayetteville State Teachers College.

The Omega Beta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority also wishes to take this opportunity of wishing for all a pleasant and profitable summer.

Reporter,
Soror Ethel Gore

Cheers and Sneers

by J. F. Cummings

Cheers to the students of F. S. T. C. for a year of hard work.

Sneers to those who started, but stopped along the way.

Cheers to the administration for giving consideration to all students petitions.

Sneers to those who say students aren't self-directive.

Cheers to the students who constantly make the Dean's Honor List.

Sneers to those who fail to come up to their possibilities.

Cheers to all who attend chapel, vesper, and lyceum programs.

Sneers to those who cut, or beg excuses.

Cheers to the persons who worked out the Student Leadership Conference.

Sneers to campus leaders who did not attend the meeting.

Cheers to the seniors who have paid their class dues.

Sneers to those who expect to graduate without paying.

Cheers to the juniors who are taking part in the prom.

Sneers to those who refuse to cooperate.

Cheers to the sophomores who are passing in advanced composition.

Sneers to those who refuse to visit the library.

Cheers to the organizations that are promoting better campus activities.

Sneers to the members who will not support the organizations to which they belong.

Cheers to all who CHEER and Sneers to all who SNEER.

B. S. U. News

The Baptist Student Union is a relatively new organization at Fayetteville State Teachers College. It was organized during the second quarter under the auspices of Mr. S. E. Grinstead, Director of National Baptist Student Union in Nashville, Tennessee. This organization is basically Christian, frankly denominational, promoted by the Southern Baptist and National Baptist Conventions for Baptist students in colleges, universities, technical and professional schools. It is student-led and Christ-centered.

Through active participation in the B. S. U. the student grows in churchmanship.

This year we plan to give informal discussions in the following topics: love, courtship, and marriage; send a delegate to the 15th Annual National Baptist Union Spring Retreat which convenes on the campus of Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tennessee, April 22-24, 1960. We are sending Ramona Hicks as our delegate.

We wish to thank Rev. C. R. Edwards, Pastor of First Baptist Church and Rev. J. W. Simpson, Pastor of Friendship Baptist Church for taking time from their busy schedule to work diligently as pastor advisors.
