"Voice" Staffers Attend Press Institute

Five members of The Voice staff attended the 30th Southern Regional Press Institute in Savannah, Georgia recently.

The annual Institute, sponsored by Savannah State College, is a series of workshops designed to aid in the production of high school and college newspapers and yearbooks.

Persons from FSU attending this year's March 5-6 Institute were Beverly Edge, Valerie Frazier, Curtis Pritchard, Willie Smith, and Jacquelyn Stewart and Mr. Charles Mooney, advisor.

Congratulations are in order for Willie Smith, Voice Sports Editor, whose article "The Changing Role of Newspapers" received high praise from workshop consultants. In fact, Willie's article was so good, one workshop consultant asked for Willie's permission to have the article published locally in Savannah. Willie agreed, but has recreated the article for The Voice. (See Editorial Page)

Guest speaker for the Institute's Awards Luncheon was Dr. Lee Thorton, CBS News' White House Correspondent and frequent anchorwoman for the CBS Saturday Evening News. Dr. Thorton received the Seventh Annual Robert S. Abbott Award, sponsored by the R.S. Abbott Publishing Company.

Other award recipients were Mr. Charles O'Malley, Executive Director of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and Mr. Robert L. Joiner, News Correspondent for the St. Louis Post Dispatch. Mr. O'Malley was awarded for Meritorious Service in Journalism and Mr. Joiner received the First Annual Wilton C. Scott Award for Outstanding Service to Scholastic Journalism.

The theme of this year's Institute was "The Role of the Advisor in Modern Scholastic Publications."

The March will begin at 11 a.m. at the Old Courthouse on Gillespie Street and proceed down the Homecoming route to the Athletic Field on the FSU campus. For additional information, contact the Rudolph Jones Student Center at 486-1166 between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A benefit concert is also planned for that day. Anyone interested in contributing their time and talent may contact Bobby Mahadi at 488-3316 or Angela Kirby at 864-5317. The public is invited and urged to show support for this worthy effort.

New Column Introduced

The Voice is proud to have on its staff Mr. Willie Smith. Willie is currently our Sports Editor and this issue will begin a new regular column by Willie, to be known as "Willie Speaks".

Willie is a junior majoring in Business Administration. He is also a member of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity and a peer counselor. He is a talented and versatile young man whose column should interest, educate and entertain us all. So relax and listen as "WILLIE SPEAKS". (See Page 3)

V.I.T.A. Program Successful

The F.S.U. Accounting Club sponsored a V.I.T.A. (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) program during the last week of Feb. The program was to help interested students familiarize themselves with the details of filing income taxes, and to help people to fill out their taxes.

The program was successful, because students came together to accomplish a goal and learn. Some of the students who participated in the program were: Ronald Spicer, president of F.S.U. Accounting Club; Maynard Smith, who helped with the marketing; Ruby Brooks, Naomi Simmons, Betty Parker, Joe Files, Jerry Malloy, Rudolph Frazier, and Charences McNeill. A special thanks from the Accounting Club goes to Becky Pruett, who devoted her time entirely to the program and to our advisors, Mr. Paul Smith and Mr. Israel Rwejuna.

The V.I.T.A. program will remain an annual project of the Accounting Club, as it endeavors to find ways to acquaint students to the Accounting profession.
